THREE JUMP FOR THEIR LIVES AT GRADE CROSSING

Freight Train Strikes Large Truck on Way to River at New Cumberland

New Cumberland, Pa., Oct. 31.—A wreck occurred here last evening in which three men narrowly escaped losing their lives.

Daniel Sullivan, Lloyd Molton and John Spielman had been to New Cumberland on a large truck belonging to Sherman Hull, of Steelton. A local freight train, bound southward, struck the truck as it was crossing at Fifth street on its way to the steamboat to cross to Steelton. The men jumped and escaped injury. The truck was dragged more than 200 feet by the engine before the train was stopped.

It took several hours for the wrecking crew to remove the truck from the tracks and start traffic on the westbound track. The owner of the truck is proprietor of the Steelton Ferry company, and of a coal and sand fleet.

MINISTER IS STRICKEN

Chambersburg, Pa., Oct. 31.—The Rev. W. S. Brendle, pastor of the Lutheran United Brethren church, was suddenly taken ill at the home of the Rev. B. F. Blubaugh in this place. The Rev. Mr. Brendle had just returned from a visit to Baltimore, when stricken. He was taken to the Merklein Hospital, where his illness was diagnosed as ptomaine poisoning.

What we say it is—it IS

Fifty Times Greater

Our business today is fifty times greater than it was our first year in business twenty years ago.

It isn't our intention to tell you these figures for the purpose of bragging about the amount of business we do.

We simply want to show you that our policy of treating the public in the right way has been appreciated by our patrons to the extent that our business today is fifty times as great as it was our first year in business.

And through all these twenty years we have stuck to one motto, "What we say it is—it IS."

We cannot impress upon you too strongly the fact that our entire business policy is wrapped up in this slogan.

That is one assurance that whatever you buy here must be satisfactory to you.

Do your Christmas shopping now. Our complete Christmas stocks are ready.

Fresh Baked Loaves Every Hour

There's a fascination in seeing things made, especially—

BREAD

Remember how, when you were a little slaver, you used to "stick around" on baking day? And now you are equally interested as you linger in front of our bakery to watch those big golden-crust loaves drawn from the oven.

BREAD IS YOUR BEST FOOD

Certainly you know that. And you will want to eat more and more of it when you get a whiff of the fragrant goodness that floats out to you from the home of

PURITY BAKED FOOD

No, we don't deliver. But you'll find it a pleasure to carry home a loaf or two of this tempting BREAD baked the Purity way—right out in the sunlight and fresh air.

Waynesboro Will Give Banquet to Soldier Boys

Waynesboro, Pa., Oct. 31.—A reception and banquet are being planned by citizens under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., for the ex-service boys of this city and district, to be held here on Armistice Day. The War Chest Fund committee donated $250 towards the event. A prominent speaker will be secured and the presentation of the Italian War Cross made to Harold Kumberger, Corporal Joe Stickle Post, No. 1, American Legion. The post held a benefit masquerade ball in the Arcade dance hall last evening for which 300 tickets were sold. The proceeds will go to a fund being raised to fit up a post headquarters.

Real Estate Sales of Week in Duncannon

Duncannon, Pa., Oct. 31.—The sales of local real estate the past several months have beaten all local records. The following properties changed owners the past week: Charles F. Geibaugh sold his property in High street to Lewis M. Smith, of this place; Mrs. Margaret Young, a property at the foot of Coopers Hill, along the Bloomfield road, to Gladys A. Leckes, of this place; Mrs. Ida M. Barringer, a property on Lincoln street to C. P. Sands, of Halifax, Pa.; A. R. White, of Rye township, has purchased the property of the late Moses Hess, situated in Market street.

HOLD FAIR IN BARN

Huntingdon, Pa., Oct. 31.—A unique agricultural exhibition is being held by the Huntingdon County Agricultural Society at Alexandria in the large barn on the Wolferton estate. It will continue three days under the management of County Farm Agent Clark. There are fine exhibits of stock and other farm products, while the schools have large exhibits. That of the McConnellstown schools is especially creditable.

VICTIMS OF WAR ARE REMEMBERED

Seven Who Fell in Battle Against Huns Not Forgotten at Celebration

Mechanicsburg, Pa., Oct. 31.—Although the weather was threatening, the welcome home celebration for the soldiers held here yesterday, under the direction of the Washington Fire Company, was a big success. The boys who made the supreme sacrifice were not forgotten.

They were Alvin Meredith, killed in action; Elwood Belatine, killed in action; Philip Lucas, killed in action; William McCreeary, killed in action; a splendid showing of disease; John Conrad, died of disease; Raymond Short, died of disease.

The chief feature of the day was the parade, which was in two divisions—the first led by the Sluiger Band and the second by the New Cumberland Band. A special attraction was the large float, made of green foliage and liberally dotted with huge yellow chrysanthemums and pretty girls in white, depicting peace, by the D. Wilcox Manufacturing Company, which was followed by the employees in natty, white felt hats, each carrying a flag and wearing a yellow chrysanthemum. There was a splendid showing of soldiers, sailors and members of the G. A. R. The women employed at the Snellbaker Shirtwaist Factory wore the blue shirtwaist factory products, with white skirts and red neckties and made a fine appearance. Very attractive also were the trucks of S. Harper Myers and the old horse carriage of the Washington Fire Company. After the parade there was a splendid program in Franklin Hall. The dinner served by the Washington Fire Company was enjoyed by a large number of soldiers and sailors.

The closing feature of the day's celebration was the dance in Franklin Hall, with orchestra music, attended by many young people in masquerade costumes.

Mother Receives Letter Telling of Soldier's Death

Waynesboro, Pa., Oct. 31.—From far away Siberia, Mrs. Ida Sheffer, of this place, received a letter from Red Cross workers telling her of the circumstances surrounding the death of her son, Charles Peter Sheffer, which took place at Romanovka, September 19 of this year. The soldier died of smallpox. The body was placed in a sealed casket and sent under guard to Vladivostok to be sent home.

Seeks Police Protection From Husband of Few Days

Chambersburg, Pa., Oct. 31.—A young woman rushed into police headquarters here last night and between sobs told Chief of Police Byers her husband had threatened to kill her. Investigation revealed that the husband was Martin Wagner, of this place, who, in spite of his tautonic sounding name, is an Italian. She ran away from her home in New York and married Wagner last Thursday. Since that time they have been living here and the course of domestic life has not been smooth. Through officers a reconciliation was effected and the newly-married couple mutually agreed to resume partnership.

LAYMEN TO HELP SYNOD'S CLERGY

Winchester, Va., Has Been Chosen as the Meeting Place in 1920

Hanover, Pa., Oct. 31.—Winchester, Va., was chosen as the place for the 1920 sessions of the Potomac Synod of the Reformed Church by the organization in Trinity Church, this place.

At a separate session of the laymen yesterday morning an elders' co-operative committee was formed, which is to relieve the ministers of some of the burden of commercial matters, to fill vacant charges, look and adjust salaries. The committee is to meet each year at the same time and place of the synod sessions. It will be composed of two representatives from each class.

The reports of the synod realization committee, the superintendent of the Central Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League and the committee on education were made, the latter by the Rev. J. R. Berg. He stated that Franklin and Marshall College this year will have an excess over expense of $14,288.80, which will be expended according to the recommendations for the enlargement of the gymnasium, a new athletic field, a memorial to the men of the college who served in the war and the employment of an executive secretary for the president.

He stated that the theological seminary at Lancaster had received a bequest during the year of $10,800. Masanuttet College, at Woodstock, Va., he reported, has been started with an original investment of $3,500. The plant is now capitalized at $60,000, with an enrollment of 151 students. Catawba College, Catawba, N. C., opened its term this year with 175 students. Hood College, Frederick, Md., has the largest enrollment in its history. Brodbeck Hall, at the latter college, will be completed next summer. The board of education, he said, has promised to aid 26 students for the ministry this year.

Enola United Brethren Give Pastor Reception

Enola, Pa., Oct. 31.—On Tuesday evening the members of the Enola United Brethren Church gave a reception to their pastor and wife, the Rev. and Mrs. J. Stewart Glen, returned here by the conference which met recently at Hanover.

The members of the congregation met at a home near the parsonage and came in a body, completely surprising the pastor and his wife. The evening was very enjoyably spent in singing and the playing of interesting games. The pastor made an address of appreciation and also gave a brief outline of the plans for the coming year. Refreshments were served by members of the Sewing Circle. Numerous practical gifts of provisions, which were brought will cause the occasion long to be remembered.

Little Folks Guests at Hallowe'en Party

Mechanicsburg, Pa., Oct. 31.—Little Miss Gladys Ulrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Ulrich, was hostess at a Hallowe'en party on Wednesday evening at her home in West Main street. MAN WHO STEALS LIQUOR IS HELD

State Police Believe They Have Caught Bootlegger Near Annullville

Annullville, Pa., Oct. 31.—With the arrest by the State police of Harry Risser, living near Annullville, on the charge of stealing and disposing of whisky, the police authorities believe they have solved the "bootlegging" going on in this locality for a month or more. It is alleged Risser stole upwards of 75 quarts of liquor from a resident of Hershey, who already has identified several of the empty cases. It is said Risser admits the guilt. Some of the stolen whisky is held as evidence by Sergeant Oke Campbell, head of the State police in Lewisburg. The seal shows that it is bonded whisky, more than 100 proof, and of the best brands known to the drinking fraternity. Risser will be given a hearing before Alderman Miller to-morrow afternoon.
