MANY HERE TO TAKE UP WORK

Reformed Church Representatives Attend All-Day Conference at Salem Church

The All-Day conference of the Reformed Churches of Harrisburg, began this morning with the session held in the Reformed Salem Church, Chestnut and Third streets, at 10.30 o'clock.

The purpose of this movement is denominational, but in the last analysis it resolves itself into congregational movements. The conference is to be in the nature of a training school for workers from the various congregations.

Following a short devotional service, which preceded each meeting, the morning session opened with an address by Dr. C. E. Creitz, of Rintons, on "The Challenge of Our Times." There has been no time in the past when the church has been so challenged.

The Rev. William F. DeLong, of Harrisburg, spoke on "The Response of the Reformed Church," saying that the church was eager and ready to assume its new and heavier responsibilities, and that it was going ahead with renewed energy in its fight against the enemies of the church.

After a short discussion by the conference of the aims of the denomination, Dr. C. E. Creitz spoke on the enlargement of the missionary activities of the Reformed Church, quoting some statistics of the work.

The morning session closed with an address by Dr. C. H. Ranck, of Harrisburg, on the better support and conservation of the ministry. Dr. Ranck told of the lack of support that was being accorded pastor of churches throughout the country, and the little encouragement that was offered young men to enter the ministry as a profession.

This afternoon the conference was opened at 1.45 with a discussion of the congregational program in the "Forward Movement." The Rev. Dr. F. A. Ruple, of York, followed with an address on "The Quickening and Deepening of the Spiritual Life." Adequate support of the pastor and the assumption of a share of the budget as outlined in the survey were topics discussed by the Rev. W. S. Cramer, of Lancaster.

Dr. Kremer Talks Dr. Ellis N. Kremer, pastor of the Reformed Salem Church, where all the meetings are being held, closed the session of the afternoon with an address on "Strength for the Task." Dr. Kremer, who is well known to all of the Reformed Churches in the eastern part of the country, made one of the best talks of the day, and told the conference that without proper faith and trust in the Divine Being they could not hope to progress and build for their church.

This evening will be in the form of a mass meeting when Dr. George W. Richards, professor of Church History in the Theological Seminary at Lancaster, will speak. Dr. Richards has chosen as his subject, "The Church and the New Age." Famous as professor of church history, Dr. Richards is sure of a wonderful reception and it is rather doubtful if the auditorium of the Reformed Salem Church will be able to hold all the people who will wish to hear him.

Volunteer Workers For Loans Are Thanked For Helping in Campaign

The following card of thanks to the members of the Rotary Club and co-operating organizations which sent volunteers to the polls yesterday to work for the improvement loans: "The Rotary Club, through its president and the chairman of the loan campaign committee, desires hereby to thank the Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club, for their hearty co-operation in helping to put the improvement loans properly before the voters yesterday.

The statement was issued over the names of the President, C. M. Steinmetz, and the chairman of the loan committee, George G. McFarland. A movement to boost the loan was undertaken by the club upon the suggestion of Rudolph K. Spier, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the Rotary Club, who was instrumental in bringing Warren H. Manning to Harrisburg to address a joint meeting of the club, the Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis Club, both of which organizations voted to co-operate in the support of the loans.

HARVESTER CO. HAS BIG GROWTH

Truck Department Here Has Grown to Million Dollars a Year, Rotarians Hear

Harrisburg Rotarians, as guests of Charles J. Stevens, manager of the truck department of the International Harvester Company, with headquarters in Walnut street, learned that the business of this department of the corporation in Harrisburg has increased under Mr. Stevens' direction from $100,000 in 1911, when he took charge, to a million dollars a year at this time.

Mr. Stevens, after a brief address outlining the local end of the harvester business, introduced Preston Hopkins, one of the sales forces, who spoke in a most interesting manner on the widespread and varied interests of the company throughout the world.

The International has fourteen manufacturing plants in the United States, he said, and ten elsewhere. It has its own ore mines capable of producing a million and a half tons of ore a year, coal mines with a capacity of 1,000,000 tons of coal and a half million tons of coke, blast furnaces, steel mills and great manufacturing plants in South Chicago, with a production of 250,000 tons a year, 50,000 acres of timberland and numerous other enterprises and property, not to mention a surplus of $68,000,000. The speaker went into details with respect to the truck department with which he is connected. The Rotarians gave Mr. Stevens a vote of thanks and after a business meeting of routine character partook of refreshments provided by the host.

The property, which for many years was the home and business place of the late Theodore Scheffer, fronts in Second street and extends to a depth of about 150 feet. There is a large storeroom fronting in Second street, and the first floor in the rear of the store was used as a printing establishment for many years. It is Mr. Fairlamb's intention to make extensive improvements. He will build apartments on the second and third floors. In the rear will be a candy factory.
