olive and cottonseed oils for cooking and for salad dressing. Even after the oil has been pressed out the residue of the seeds is found to be of value as a fertilizer for plants.

"In the grape-juice industry," he says, "the grapes are pressed in an ordinary cider press to obtain the juice. The skins, seeds and pulp remain behind in the cloth."

"A method has been worked out and operated in the laboratory on a semicommercial scale whereby grape seed can be separated from wet grape pomace without recourse to drying."

Because of the shortness of the grape-juice pressing season which lasts from September to November, this well-known agricultural chemist has estimated on a plant only large enough to dry the maximum amount of seeds and then press it in winter months.

Dr. Shrader believes that the efficiency of these plants could be increased by also extracting the oil from the seeds of tomatoes, as a great many such seeds are rejected in the making of catsup and in canning.

This chemistry is seeking constantly new ways in which to increase the supply of oils from vegetable sources as substitutes for expensive animal fats, and thereby help in the ultimate reduction of the cost of living.

Actress Tells Secret

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture.

Joice Williams the well-known actress, who was recently playing at the Imperial Theater in St. Louis, made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."
