train crew became suspicious of the ad and telephoned the officer to be on hand. The colored boy, who gives his name as "Kid" Mitchell, he had in his possession 30 pieces of jewelry, but refused to tell where he got them.

The officer also learned that he had shipped a dress suitcase supposed to contain more jewelry to a woman in Cumberland, Md. The young man has been photographed, as well as his booty, and the pictures are being sent to the police in towns and cities of the east.

In the collection are the following:
Gold heart locket with red hair inside, gold bead necklace, gold oval locket with man's picture inside, flat gold ring, wedding ring, moon stone and amethyst rings, fancy band ring, cuff links, ear rings, horse-shaped brooch, silver Swiss watch and a set of fancy ear rings with sapphire stones. It is estimated the entire collection is worth at least $250.
