

Happenings of a Day in Central Pennsylvania

DEER INCREASE IN LYKENS ZONE

Young Ones and Big Bucks Seen in Surrounding Mountains Far From Preserve

Millersburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—The herd of deer placed on the preserve near Lykens is multiplying, young deer being seen in the surrounding mountains, many miles from the preserve. Several weeks ago no hardly more than a fawn was seen in a cornfield near Fishersville. Only 10 days ago a large buck was seen on Berry's mountain, five miles east of Millersburg. However, there are too many dogs about for the animals to tarry long in this section.

The rabbit hunting in this vicinity was good the first few days of the season, hundreds having been bagged, but now it takes a lot of rough tramping to stir one up. Many hunters think the 10 rabbits per day limit is too many for him. One hunter can lawfully shoot in a day should be reduced to five or even three.

West Fairview Native Home From Overseas War

West Fairview, Pa., Nov. 14.—Captain Porter C. Pennington of Findlay, O., formerly West Fairview boy, who left here a number of years ago, has just returned from France and is visiting George Mann and family, of this place, and Mrs. John Adams, of Enola.

Captain Pennington served with the 148th Ambulance Corps of the 3th Division as a doctor doing duty in Vosges Mountains, the Meuse Argonne and St. Mihiel. Old friends here failed to recognize him. His father was Ephraim Pennington who resided in this place for many years, being well known by the older residents. Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Adams are Captain Pennington's aunts.

Names Post in Honor of Soldier Who Fell

Gettysburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—The Gettysburg Post of the American Legion has decided to name the post the Albert Lentz Post. Lentz, a Gettysburg boy, was the first Adams county soldier to meet death on the battlefield in France, being killed in action while fighting valiantly with the 118th Infantry on April 27, 1918. The post also went on record as being opposed to the law to be presented in Congress asking the Government to give to each soldier, sailor or marine a bonus of $500.

Returned Soldier Takes Bride at New Cumberland

New Cumberland, Pa., Nov. 14.—On Tuesday evening at Trinity United Brethren parsonage, the Rev. A. R. Ayres united in marriage John K. Dugan and Miss Florentina Wilt. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dugan left for a trip to Philadelphia. On their return they will reside in New Cumberland. The groom spent over a year in France during the late World War. He is a son of Mrs. Ida Dugan. The bride was employed with Herman and Company.

RUNAWAY CAR HITS RAILROAD STATION

Janitor Caught in Wreckage and Has Fractured Skull; Youthful Slavish Bystander Buried Under Pile of Bricks; Train Dashes Through Village

Tyrone, Pa., Nov. 14.—One car of a runaway freight train on the Tyrone division of the Pennsylvania railroad left the rails and crashed into the express baggage office at Osceola Mills yesterday. The building was demolished. The train had the speed of 70 miles an hour when the crash occurred. James Gonder was seriously injured and a small Slavish boy had a narrow escape from death. The train made up of forty-two cars, had stopped at Sandy Ridge to do some shifting. While the work was being done the rear of the train, about twenty-five cars, starting moving down the grade. They gained speed rapidly and at a curve at Osceola Mills seven cars left the rails. A box car loaded with brick went over the bank and landed in the public road.

Another also loaded with brick left the track in front of the station, tore up the track for some distance and then crashed into and demolished the baggage and express office and the house.

Gonder, who was employed as janitor and general helper about the station, was eating his lunch in the tool house at the time. He was caught in the wreckage of the building and sustained a fracture of the skull and several ribs besides other injuries.

The Slavish boy was standing at the station and he was buried under a pile of brick, but when extricated it was found that he had escaped with a few bruises.

The remainder of the train continued on its way down the grade, rattling through Philipsburg at the rate of sixty miles an hour, narrowly missing colliding with another train and finally came to a stop eight miles further down the line, at Graham station.

OFFICERS RAID ILLICIT STILL

Polander Held For Hearing and Much White Whisky Confiscated at Altoona

Altoona, Pa., Nov. 14.—Setting up still in his house at 1215 Sixteenth avenue, rear, Vaso Milicovic, a Polander, and a woman presumed to be his wife have been engaged in the manufacture of what is known as white whisky. The place was raided yesterday morning by local police officers, armed by a warrant issued by United States Commissioner Samuel I. Stoner, and a large quantity of liquor, the "makings" and equipment confiscated.

Many jugs of the finished product of raisin mash, seven barrels of fermenting raisins and 62 boxes of raisins along with his distilling equipment were confiscated. United States Commissioner Stoner committed the Polander for a hearing.

Long Level Hunter Gets 15 Wild Ducks in River

Wrightsville, Pa., Nov. 14.—Wild ducks flying for the past few days are more plentiful than in many years. Large flocks have been seen on the river to-day at Goldsboro, York Haven, New Holland and Wrightsville. At Long Level many hundreds were on the water, while flocks estimated at about 1,400 passed down the river without stopping. A few gunners were out and succeeded in bringing down some fine specimens. E. F. Helder, Long Level, shot 15, one canvas back, three redheads, three bluebills, three golden-eyed whistlers, one mallard and four sprig tails.

Tries to Tame Gray Fox at Millersburg

Millersburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—Daniel Pisel, of this place, has a handsome grey fox he is trying to tame. He takes the shy animal with him on the street to get him accustomed to human beings. The fox was caught in a stone pile south of Elizabethtown and is a fine specimen.

TOWN TO UNVEIL SOLDIER TABLET

Perry County Borough Arranges Welcome Home Celebration

Millerstown, Pa., Nov. 14.—Millerstown's welcome home celebration will take place on Saturday, November 22, the committee decided this week. Preparations are being made for the event, which will be in honor of 86 men and women of the borough who were in the service.

The contract already has been let by a Millerstown committee for a bronze tablet, in memory of the service men and women. It is planned to unveil this at the celebration. Names of each of the veterans will stand out on the tablet in raised letters.

Although one of the smallest communities in the county, Millerstown has made arrangements to present a bronze medal to each of its veterans. On the face of the medal will be the following: "United States Forces, 1917-18. The reverse will show 'Presented by the people of Millerstown, Pa. to _____ in grateful recognition of patriotic services during the World War.'"

COURT REFUSES TO REMIT STRIKE FINE

Judge Gillan Says It Is Not Within His Power to Forego Coets and That Leniency Was Shown in Passing Sentence on Waynesboro Men

Chambersburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—Judge Gillan late yesterday afternoon handed down an opinion refusing to remit the fines and costs imposed on the 50 odd Waynesboro strikers who were sent to jail and are now serving their sentences in connection with rioting at Waynesboro and GreenCastle.

Judge Gillan holds that it is not within the power of the court to remit the costs and to withdraw the fines would be to reconsider the sentences. If the court had erred in pronouncing sentence it was on the side of leniency, the opinion holds.

A petition signed by more than 1,000 of this place and Waynesboro asking that fines and costs be remitted was handed to the court in chambers a few days ago by William J. Gettal, representing the strikers. Unless the fines and costs which total $2,461.84, are paid, the convicted men will be obliged to remain in prison until they serve the number of days demanded by law. It will not avail any one man to pay separately. They were sentenced in groups of five and the bulk fines must be turned in at the office of Clerk of the Courts Turner.

CAT JOINS HUNT AND GETS BUNNY

Brings It Home Still Warm and Rabbit Graces Supper Table at Henry Drayer's

New Cumberland, Pa., Nov. 14.—It isn't every family that has a rabbit-hunting cat, but Henry Drayer, living at Eleventh and Market streets, this place, has one. His name is Tom and he is big and broad. During the early hours of yesterday the feline betook himself to the grass not far from home.

There he came upon a half-grown rabbit and with all the craftiness of his species forthwith fell upon the bunny, slew it and then like a dutiful boarder brought it to the porch and lay down for a snooze. When Mrs. Drayer opened the door before breakfast there was the rabbit, still warm, with the cat blinking and satisfied nearby.

There was rabbit on the family board at the Drayers last evening and Tom got his share.
