

TYPHUS SWEEPS GALICIA, DECLARE LATE REPORTS

Hundreds of People Stricken and Died Without Medical Attention

Lemberg, Nov. 15.—Galicia has been swept a few weeks by a new wave of typhus which reached greater proportions than ever before at this time of the year, say Red Cross reports. Hundreds of people have been stricken and died without medical attention in villages that could not be reached by doctors.

After more than five years of continued warring, the country is almost without the element hospital necessities. It has been the battleground of one army after another and the zone for changing forces of occupation. Large areas are burned away. The best equipped hospitals have been completely ruined and pillaged.

According to Lieutenant Colonel Haibian, the military authorities of the Polish government for the Galician front, the typhus situation eclipses anything ever known in this land where typhus has always been more or less epidemic. With an unprecedented beginning in the summer months, it is feared the winter will see it increase with even greater fury. The vermin which cause typhus incubate and multiply in the cold season.

The American Red Cross has established headquarters here, in response to the appeals of the military and government authorities. Intense activity is already in progress for coping with the distressing conditions.

Requests for hospital supplies come into the temporary headquarters from all sides. Centers have been selected for vital need hospitals, but there is such an utter lack of material for equipping them that all efforts to hasten the immediate relief have failed. The military and government authorities are lending every possible aid in an attempt to check the disease before it gains too much headway.

Coalition Ministry Formed in Hungary, Headed by Wlaszczyk

Berlin, Nov. 15.—The formation of a coalition ministry in Hungary headed by Count Julius Wlaszczyk, and including former Premier Friedrich and with Count Czaky, as foreign minister, is reported in a wireless dispatch received here from Budapest.

The ministry requires the sanction of the Entente to be effective.

Yamburg Is Taken by the Bolsheviks, Says Moscow Report

London, Nov. 15.—The Bolsheviks captured Yamburg, 68 miles southwest of Petrograd, yesterday afternoon, according to a wireless dispatch received here from Moscow.

Labor Journal Attacks Maurer as a "Red"

Pittsburgh, Nov. 15.—The National Labor Journal, official organ of the Central Labor Union of Pittsburgh, is engaged in a bitter controversy to wrest control of the labor body here from the radicals. In a leading editorial to-day it attacks the record of James H. Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, who presided at the convention of the State body here November 1 and 2, at which a resolution was adopted authorizing the executive council to call a State-wide strike when in its judgment it is necessary to compel respect for law and the restoration of liberty as guaranteed by the State of Pennsylvania.

The editorial recites the history of Maurer's activities during the last two years and accuses him of assisting to finance the I. W. W. and of participating in several councils and meetings during the war which were for their principal purpose the opposing of America's participation in the war and military service in general.

The Wonderful Stories of "OZ" The King of Ev.

By L. Frank Baum

The Scarecrow had fairly thrown himself upon the bosom of his old comrade, the Tin Woodman, so surprised and delighted was he to see him again, and Tiktok squeezed the Tin Woodman's hand so earnestly that he dented some of his fingers. Then they had to make way for Ozma and the army caught sight of him and set up a cheer, and everybody was delighted and happy.

For the Tin Woodman was a great favorite with all who knew him, and his sudden recovery after they had thought he was lost to them forever was indeed a pleasant surprise.

Before long the cavalcade arrived at the royal palace, where a great crowd had gathered to welcome their Queen and her ten children. There was much shouting and cheering, and the people threw flowers in their path, and every face wore a happy smile.

They found the Princess Langwider in her mirrored chambers, where she was admiring one of her handsomest heads—one with rich chestnut hair, dreamy walnut eyes, and a shapely hickorynut nose. She was very glad to be relieved of her duties to the people of Ev, and the Queen graciously permitted her to retain her rooms and her cabinet of heads as long as she lived.

Then the Queen took her eldest son out upon a balcony that overlooked the crowd of subjects gathered below, and said to them:

"Here is your future ruler, King Evarado Fifteenth. He is fifteen years of age, has fifteen silver buckles on his jacket and is the fifteenth Evarado to rule the land of Ev."

The people shouted their approval fifteen times, and even the Wheelers, some of whom were presently loudly promised to obey the new King.

So the Queen placed a big crown of gold, set with rubies, upon Evarado's head, and threw an emerald robe over his shoulders and proclaimed him King and he bowed gratefully to all his subjects and then went away to see if he could find any cake in the royal pantry.

Ozma of Oz and her people, as well as Dorothy, Tiktok and Billina, were splendidly entertained by a beautiful Queen mother, who owed all the happiness to their kind offices; and that evening the yellow hen was publicly presented with a beautiful necklace of pearls and sapphires, as a token of esteem from the new King.

Dorothy decided to accept Ozma's invitation to return with her to the Land of Oz. There was no greater chance of her getting home from Ev than from Oz, and the little girl was anxious to see once more the country where she had encountered such wonderful adventures. By this time Uncle Henry would have reached Australia in his ship, and had probably given her up for lost; so he couldn't worry any more than he did if she stayed away from him a while longer. So she would go to Oz.

They bade good-bye to the people of Ev, and the King promised Ozma that he would ever be grateful to her and render the Land of Oz as far as possible to the liking of his power.

And then they approached the edge of the dangerous desert, and Ozma threw down the magic carpet, which at once unrolled far enough for all of them to walk upon it without being crowded.

Tiktok, claiming to be Dorothy's faithful follower because he belonged to her, had been permitted to join the party and before they started the girl wound up his machinery as far as possible and the copper man stepped off as briskly as any one of them.

Ozma invited Billina to visit the Land of Oz, and the yellow hen was glad enough to go where new sights and scenes awaited her.

They began the trip across the desert early in the morning, and as they stopped only long enough for Billina to lay her daily egg, before sunset they espied the green slopes and wooded hills of the beautiful Land of Oz. They entered it in the Munchkin territory, and the King of the Quaddings and the King of the Gillikins just as those Kings ruled their own people; and this supreme ruler of the Land of Oz lived in a great town of her own, herd," one of the best anthems ever written, is to be sung by the choir of the Reformed Salem Church at tomorrow evening's service. In the morning Mrs. C. W. Myers, soprano, and Mrs. William H. Kelsey, contralto, are to sing the duet, "I Remember the Hymn of Praise."

Mrs. James G. Sanders, contralto soloist of Pine Street Presbyterian Church, will sing at to-morrow morning's service the ever-beautiful and impressive aria, "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own," from the oratorio, "St. Paul."

One seldom hears Dudley Buck's "Come, My Soul, Thou Must Be Waking," an anthem of unusual beauty, but the choir of Zion Lutheran Church, under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Decever, will sing the number at to-morrow morning's service.

William Zimmerman, tenor and a former member of St. Stephen's church choir, will sing the choir of Calvary Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Frank Green, soprano soloist of the organization, will resume her place to-morrow after a brief vacation.

Miss Belle P. Middaugh, whose splendid voice has been heard all too seldom in musical events of Harrisburg, will sing as a solo at Market Square Presbyterian Church, to-morrow morning, Dvorak's "Sing Ye a Joyful Song."

The musical program at Chestnut Street Auditorium to-morrow evening, at which the combined Lutheran choirs of the city will sing, is to be of an unusual order. Mrs. William K. Bumbaugh, director of Bethlehem Lutheran choir, will give McDermid's setting of the Ninety-first Psalm, and the Zion Lutheran solo choir will sing Decever's "O Come Let Us Sing Unto the Lord a New Song."

The matter of enlarging the fine organ at Pine Street Presbyterian Church is being considered and it may be decided to snake the instrument four manuals, adding an antiphonal organ.

Messiah Lutheran Church choir, which is so ably directed by Abner W. Hartman, has in rehearsal a Christmas cantata by Manney, which is to be given next month.

One of the anthems to be sung at Stevens Memorial Church to-morrow under the direction of John W. Phillips, is Woodward's splendid "The Sun Shall Be No More Thy Light by Day."

Smart's, "The Lord is My Shepherd,"

The Wonderful Stories of "OZ" The King of Ev.

By L. Frank Baum

The Scarecrow had fairly thrown himself upon the bosom of his old comrade, the Tin Woodman, so surprised and delighted was he to see him again, and Tiktok squeezed the Tin Woodman's hand so earnestly that he dented some of his fingers. Then they had to make way for Ozma and the army caught sight of him and set up a cheer, and everybody was delighted and happy.

For the Tin Woodman was a great favorite with all who knew him, and his sudden recovery after they had thought he was lost to them forever was indeed a pleasant surprise.

Before long the cavalcade arrived at the royal palace, where a great crowd had gathered to welcome their Queen and her ten children. There was much shouting and cheering, and the people threw flowers in their path, and every face wore a happy smile.

They found the Princess Langwider in her mirrored chambers, where she was admiring one of her handsomest heads—one with rich chestnut hair, dreamy walnut eyes, and a shapely hickorynut nose. She was very glad to be relieved of her duties to the people of Ev, and the Queen graciously permitted her to retain her rooms and her cabinet of heads as long as she lived.

Then the Queen took her eldest son out upon a balcony that overlooked the crowd of subjects gathered below, and said to them:

"Here is your future ruler, King Evarado Fifteenth. He is fifteen years of age, has fifteen silver buckles on his jacket and is the fifteenth Evarado to rule the land of Ev."

The people shouted their approval fifteen times, and even the Wheelers, some of whom were presently loudly promised to obey the new King.

So the Queen placed a big crown of gold, set with rubies, upon Evarado's head, and threw an emerald robe over his shoulders and proclaimed him King and he bowed gratefully to all his subjects and then went away to see if he could find any cake in the royal pantry.

Ozma of Oz and her people, as well as Dorothy, Tiktok and Billina, were splendidly entertained by a beautiful Queen mother, who owed all the happiness to their kind offices; and that evening the yellow hen was publicly presented with a beautiful necklace of pearls and sapphires, as a token of esteem from the new King.

Dorothy decided to accept Ozma's invitation to return with her to the Land of Oz. There was no greater chance of her getting home from Ev than from Oz, and the little girl was anxious to see once more the country where she had encountered such wonderful adventures. By this time Uncle Henry would have reached Australia in his ship, and had probably given her up for lost; so he couldn't worry any more than he did if she stayed away from him a while longer. So she would go to Oz.

They bade good-bye to the people of Ev, and the King promised Ozma that he would ever be grateful to her and render the Land of Oz as far as possible to the liking of his power.

And then they approached the edge of the dangerous desert, and Ozma threw down the magic carpet, which at once unrolled far enough for all of them to walk upon it without being crowded.

Tiktok, claiming to be Dorothy's faithful follower because he belonged to her, had been permitted to join the party and before they started the girl wound up his machinery as far as possible and the copper man stepped off as briskly as any one of them.

Ozma invited Billina to visit the Land of Oz, and the yellow hen was glad enough to go where new sights and scenes awaited her.

They began the trip across the desert early in the morning, and as they stopped only long enough for Billina to lay her daily egg, before sunset they espied the green slopes and wooded hills of the beautiful Land of Oz. They entered it in the Munchkin territory, and the King of the Quaddings and the King of the Gillikins just as those Kings ruled their own people; and this supreme ruler of the Land of Oz lived in a great town of her own, herd," one of the best anthems ever written, is to be sung by the choir of the Reformed Salem Church at tomorrow evening's service. In the morning Mrs. C. W. Myers, soprano, and Mrs. William H. Kelsey, contralto, are to sing the duet, "I Remember the Hymn of Praise."

Mrs. James G. Sanders, contralto soloist of Pine Street Presbyterian Church, will sing at to-morrow morning's service the ever-beautiful and impressive aria, "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own," from the oratorio, "St. Paul."

One seldom hears Dudley Buck's "Come, My Soul, Thou Must Be Waking," an anthem of unusual beauty, but the choir of Zion Lutheran Church, under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Decever, will sing the number at to-morrow morning's service.

William Zimmerman, tenor and a former member of St. Stephen's church choir, will sing the choir of Calvary Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Frank Green, soprano soloist of the organization, will resume her place to-morrow after a brief vacation.

Miss Belle P. Middaugh, whose splendid voice has been heard all too seldom in musical events of Harrisburg, will sing as a solo at Market Square Presbyterian Church, to-morrow morning, Dvorak's "Sing Ye a Joyful Song."

The musical program at Chestnut Street Auditorium to-morrow evening, at which the combined Lutheran choirs of the city will sing, is to be of an unusual order. Mrs. William K. Bumbaugh, director of Bethlehem Lutheran choir, will give McDermid's setting of the Ninety-first Psalm, and the Zion Lutheran solo choir will sing Decever's "O Come Let Us Sing Unto the Lord a New Song."

The matter of enlarging the fine organ at Pine Street Presbyterian Church is being considered and it may be decided to snake the instrument four manuals, adding an antiphonal organ.

Messiah Lutheran Church choir, which is so ably directed by Abner W. Hartman, has in rehearsal a Christmas cantata by Manney, which is to be given next month.

One of the anthems to be sung at Stevens Memorial Church to-morrow under the direction of John W. Phillips, is Woodward's splendid "The Sun Shall Be No More Thy Light by Day."

Smart's, "The Lord is My Shepherd,"

The Wonderful Stories of "OZ" The King of Ev.

By L. Frank Baum

The Scarecrow had fairly thrown himself upon the bosom of his old comrade, the Tin Woodman, so surprised and delighted was he to see him again, and Tiktok squeezed the Tin Woodman's hand so earnestly that he dented some of his fingers. Then they had to make way for Ozma and the army caught sight of him and set up a cheer, and everybody was delighted and happy.

For the Tin Woodman was a great favorite with all who knew him, and his sudden recovery after they had thought he was lost to them forever was indeed a pleasant surprise.

Before long the cavalcade arrived at the royal palace, where a great crowd had gathered to welcome their Queen and her ten children. There was much shouting and cheering, and the people threw flowers in their path, and every face wore a happy smile.

They found the Princess Langwider in her mirrored chambers, where she was admiring one of her handsomest heads—one with rich chestnut hair, dreamy walnut eyes, and a shapely hickorynut nose. She was very glad to be relieved of her duties to the people of Ev, and the Queen graciously permitted her to retain her rooms and her cabinet of heads as long as she lived.

Then the Queen took her eldest son out upon a balcony that overlooked the crowd of subjects gathered below, and said to them:

"Here is your future ruler, King Evarado Fifteenth. He is fifteen years of age, has fifteen silver buckles on his jacket and is the fifteenth Evarado to rule the land of Ev."

The people shouted their approval fifteen times, and even the Wheelers, some of whom were presently loudly promised to obey the new King.

So the Queen placed a big crown of gold, set with rubies, upon Evarado's head, and threw an emerald robe over his shoulders and proclaimed him King and he bowed gratefully to all his subjects and then went away to see if he could find any cake in the royal pantry.

Ozma of Oz and her people, as well as Dorothy, Tiktok and Billina, were splendidly entertained by a beautiful Queen mother, who owed all the happiness to their kind offices; and that evening the yellow hen was publicly presented with a beautiful necklace of pearls and sapphires, as a token of esteem from the new King.

Dorothy decided to accept Ozma's invitation to return with her to the Land of Oz. There was no greater chance of her getting home from Ev than from Oz, and the little girl was anxious to see once more the country where she had encountered such wonderful adventures. By this time Uncle Henry would have reached Australia in his ship, and had probably given her up for lost; so he couldn't worry any more than he did if she stayed away from him a while longer. So she would go to Oz.

They bade good-bye to the people of Ev, and the King promised Ozma that he would ever be grateful to her and render the Land of Oz as far as possible to the liking of his power.

And then they approached the edge of the dangerous desert, and Ozma threw down the magic carpet, which at once unrolled far enough for all of them to walk upon it without being crowded.

Tiktok, claiming to be Dorothy's faithful follower because he belonged to her, had been permitted to join the party and before they started the girl wound up his machinery as far as possible and the copper man stepped off as briskly as any one of them.

Ozma invited Billina to visit the Land of Oz, and the yellow hen was glad enough to go where new sights and scenes awaited her.

They began the trip across the desert early in the morning, and as they stopped only long enough for Billina to lay her daily egg, before sunset they espied the green slopes and wooded hills of the beautiful Land of Oz. They entered it in the Munchkin territory, and the King of the Quaddings and the King of the Gillikins just as those Kings ruled their own people; and this supreme ruler of the Land of Oz lived in a great town of her own, herd," one of the best anthems ever written, is to be sung by the choir of the Reformed Salem Church at tomorrow evening's service. In the morning Mrs. C. W. Myers, soprano, and Mrs. William H. Kelsey, contralto, are to sing the duet, "I Remember the Hymn of Praise."

Mrs. James G. Sanders, contralto soloist of Pine Street Presbyterian Church, will sing at to-morrow morning's service the ever-beautiful and impressive aria, "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own," from the oratorio, "St. Paul."

One seldom hears Dudley Buck's "Come, My Soul, Thou Must Be Waking," an anthem of unusual beauty, but the choir of Zion Lutheran Church, under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Decever, will sing the number at to-morrow morning's service.

William Zimmerman, tenor and a former member of St. Stephen's church choir, will sing the choir of Calvary Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Frank Green, soprano soloist of the organization, will resume her place to-morrow after a brief vacation.

Miss Belle P. Middaugh, whose splendid voice has been heard all too seldom in musical events of Harrisburg, will sing as a solo at Market Square Presbyterian Church, to-morrow morning, Dvorak's "Sing Ye a Joyful Song."

The musical program at Chestnut Street Auditorium to-morrow evening, at which the combined Lutheran choirs of the city will sing, is to be of an unusual order. Mrs. William K. Bumbaugh, director of Bethlehem Lutheran choir, will give McDermid's setting of the Ninety-first Psalm, and the Zion Lutheran solo choir will sing Decever's "O Come Let Us Sing Unto the Lord a New Song."

The matter of enlarging the fine organ at Pine Street Presbyterian Church is being considered and it may be decided to snake the instrument four manuals, adding an antiphonal organ.

Messiah Lutheran Church choir, which is so ably directed by Abner W. Hartman, has in rehearsal a Christmas cantata by Manney, which is to be given next month.

One of the anthems to be sung at Stevens Memorial Church to-morrow under the direction of John W. Phillips, is Woodward's splendid "The Sun Shall Be No More Thy Light by Day."

Smart's, "The Lord is My Shepherd,"

The Wonderful Stories of "OZ" The King of Ev.

By L. Frank Baum

The Scarecrow had fairly thrown himself upon the bosom of his old comrade, the Tin Woodman, so surprised and delighted was he to see him again, and Tiktok squeezed the Tin Woodman's hand so earnestly that he dented some of his fingers. Then they had to make way for Ozma and the army caught sight of him and set up a cheer, and everybody was delighted and happy.

For the Tin Woodman was a great favorite with all who knew him, and his sudden recovery after they had thought he was lost to them forever was indeed a pleasant surprise.

Before long the cavalcade arrived at the royal palace, where a great crowd had gathered to welcome their Queen and her ten children. There was much shouting and cheering, and the people threw flowers in their path, and every face wore a happy smile.

They found the Princess Langwider in her mirrored chambers, where she was admiring one of her handsomest heads—one with rich chestnut hair, dreamy walnut eyes, and a shapely hickorynut nose. She was very glad to be relieved of her duties to the people of Ev, and the Queen graciously permitted her to retain her rooms and her cabinet of heads as long as she lived.

Then the Queen took her eldest son out upon a balcony that overlooked the crowd of subjects gathered below, and said to them:

"Here is your future ruler, King Evarado Fifteenth. He is fifteen years of age, has fifteen silver buckles on his jacket and is the fifteenth Evarado to rule the land of Ev."

The people shouted their approval fifteen times, and even the Wheelers, some of whom were presently loudly promised to obey the new King.

So the Queen placed a big crown of gold, set with rubies, upon Evarado's head, and threw an emerald robe over his shoulders and proclaimed him King and he bowed gratefully to all his subjects and then went away to see if he could find any cake in the royal pantry.

Ozma of Oz and her people, as well as Dorothy, Tiktok and Billina, were splendidly entertained by a beautiful Queen mother, who owed all the happiness to their kind offices; and that evening the yellow hen was publicly presented with a beautiful necklace of pearls and sapphires, as a token of esteem from the new King.

Dorothy decided to accept Ozma's invitation to return with her to the Land of Oz. There was no greater chance of her getting home from Ev than from Oz, and the little girl was anxious to see once more the country where she had encountered such wonderful adventures. By this time Uncle Henry would have reached Australia in his ship, and had probably given her up for lost; so he couldn't worry any more than he did if she stayed away from him a while longer. So she would go to Oz.

They bade good-bye to the people of Ev, and the King promised Ozma that he would ever be grateful to her and render the Land of Oz as far as possible to the liking of his power.

And then they approached the edge of the dangerous desert, and Ozma threw down the magic carpet, which at once unrolled far enough for all of them to walk upon it without being crowded.

Tiktok, claiming to be Dorothy's faithful follower because he belonged to her, had been permitted to join the party and before they started the girl wound up his machinery as far as possible and the copper man stepped off as briskly as any one of them.

Ozma invited Billina to visit the Land of Oz, and the yellow hen was glad enough to go where new sights and scenes awaited her.

They began the trip across the desert early in the morning, and as they stopped only long enough for Billina to lay her daily egg, before sunset they espied the green slopes and wooded hills of the beautiful Land of Oz. They entered it in the Munchkin territory, and the King of the Quaddings and the King of the Gillikins just as those Kings ruled their own people; and this supreme ruler of the Land of Oz lived in a great town of her own, herd," one of the best anthems ever written, is to be sung by the choir of the Reformed Salem Church at tomorrow evening's service. In the morning Mrs. C. W. Myers, soprano, and Mrs. William H. Kelsey, contralto, are to sing the duet, "I Remember the Hymn of Praise."

Mrs. James G. Sanders, contralto soloist of Pine Street Presbyterian Church, will sing at to-morrow morning's service the ever-beautiful and impressive aria, "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own," from the oratorio, "St. Paul."

One seldom hears Dudley Buck's "Come, My Soul, Thou Must Be Waking," an anthem of unusual beauty, but the choir of Zion Lutheran Church, under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Decever, will sing the number at to-morrow morning's service.

William Zimmerman, tenor and a former member of St. Stephen's church choir, will sing the choir of Calvary Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Frank Green, soprano soloist of the organization, will resume her place to-morrow after a brief vacation.

Miss Belle P. Middaugh, whose splendid voice has been heard all too seldom in musical events of Harrisburg, will sing as a solo at Market Square Presbyterian Church, to-morrow morning, Dvorak's "Sing Ye a Joyful Song."

The musical program at Chestnut Street Auditorium to-morrow evening, at which the combined Lutheran choirs of the city will sing, is to be of an unusual order. Mrs. William K. Bumbaugh, director of Bethlehem Lutheran choir, will give McDermid's setting of the Ninety-first Psalm, and the Zion Lutheran solo choir will sing Decever's "O Come Let Us Sing Unto the Lord a New Song."

The matter of enlarging the fine organ at Pine Street Presbyterian Church is being considered and it may be decided to snake the instrument four manuals, adding an antiphonal organ.

Messiah Lutheran Church choir, which is so ably directed by Abner W. Hartman, has in rehearsal a Christmas cantata by Manney, which is to be given next month.

One of the anthems to be sung at Stevens Memorial Church to-morrow under the direction of John W. Phillips, is Woodward's splendid "The Sun Shall Be No More Thy Light by Day."

Smart's, "The Lord is My Shepherd,"

The Wonderful Stories of "OZ" The King of Ev.

By L. Frank Baum

The Scarecrow had fairly thrown himself upon the bosom of his old comrade, the Tin Woodman, so surprised and delighted was he to see him again, and Tiktok squeezed the Tin Woodman's hand so earnestly that he dented some of his fingers. Then they had to make way for Ozma and the army caught sight of him and set up a cheer, and everybody was delighted and happy.

For the Tin Woodman was a great favorite with all who knew him, and his sudden recovery after they had thought he was lost to them forever was indeed a pleasant surprise.

Before long the cavalcade arrived at the royal palace, where a great crowd had gathered to welcome their Queen and her ten children. There was much shouting and cheering, and the people threw flowers in their path, and every face wore a happy smile.

They found the Princess Langwider in her mirrored chambers, where she was admiring one of her handsomest heads—one with rich chestnut hair, dreamy walnut eyes, and a shapely hickorynut nose. She was very glad to be relieved of her duties to the people of Ev, and the Queen graciously permitted her to retain her rooms and her cabinet of heads as long as she lived.

Then the Queen took her eldest son out upon a balcony that overlooked the crowd of subjects gathered below, and said to them:

"Here is your future ruler, King Evarado Fifteenth. He is fifteen years of age, has fifteen silver buckles on his jacket and is the fifteenth Evarado to rule the land of Ev."

The people shouted their approval fifteen times, and even the Wheelers, some of whom were presently loudly promised to obey the new King.

So the Queen placed a big crown of gold, set with rubies, upon Evarado's head, and threw an emerald robe over his shoulders and proclaimed him King and he bowed gratefully to all his subjects and then went away to see if he could find any cake in the royal pantry.

Ozma of Oz and her people, as well as Dorothy, Tiktok and Billina, were splendidly entertained by a beautiful Queen mother, who owed all the happiness to their kind offices; and that evening the yellow hen was publicly presented with a beautiful necklace of pearls and sapphires, as a token of esteem from the new King.

Dorothy decided to accept Ozma's invitation to return with her to the Land of Oz. There was no greater chance of her getting home from Ev than from Oz, and the little girl was anxious to see once more the country where she had encountered such wonderful adventures. By this time Uncle Henry would have reached Australia in his ship, and had probably given her up for lost; so he couldn't worry any more than he did if she stayed away from him a while longer. So she would go to Oz.

They bade good-bye to the people of Ev, and the King promised Ozma that he would ever be grateful to her and render the Land of Oz as far as possible to the liking of his power.

And then they approached the edge of the dangerous desert, and Ozma threw down the magic carpet, which at once unrolled far enough for all of them to walk upon it without being crowded.

Tiktok, claiming to be Dorothy's faithful follower because he belonged to her, had been permitted to join the party and before they started the girl wound up his machinery as far as possible and the copper man stepped off as briskly as any one of them.

Ozma invited Billina to visit the Land of Oz, and the yellow hen was glad enough to go where new sights and scenes awaited her.

They began the trip across the desert early in the morning, and as they stopped only long enough for Billina to lay her daily egg, before sunset they espied the green slopes and wooded hills of the beautiful Land of Oz. They entered it in the Munchkin territory, and the King of the Quaddings and the King of the Gillikins just as those Kings ruled their own people; and this supreme ruler of the Land of Oz lived in a great town of her own, herd," one of the best anthems ever written, is to be sung by the choir of the Reformed Salem Church at tomorrow evening's service. In the morning Mrs. C. W. Myers, soprano, and Mrs. William H. Kelsey, contralto, are to sing the duet, "I Remember the Hymn of Praise."

Mrs. James G. Sanders, contralto soloist of Pine Street Presbyterian Church, will sing at to-morrow morning's service the ever-beautiful and impressive aria, "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own," from the oratorio, "St. Paul."

One seldom hears Dudley Buck's "Come, My Soul, Thou Must Be Waking," an anthem of unusual beauty, but the choir of Zion Lutheran Church, under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Decever, will sing the number at to-morrow morning's service.

William Zimmerman, tenor and a former member of St. Stephen's church choir, will sing the choir of Calvary Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Frank Green, soprano soloist of the organization, will resume her place to-morrow after a brief vacation.

&lt;