Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the operators' scale committee, refused to discuss the proceedings, but the compromise-offer made by the operators was outlined more fully by his associates.

The proposed wage advances are the absolute maximum to be offered, W. T. Guthrie, member of the operators' wage scale committees representing Western Pennsylvania, and George B. Harrington, of Illinois, spokesmen for the operators, said.
Fallure on the part of the miners to accept the proposition would mean mediation by the government, Guthrie said.

They estimated that the price of coal at the time it leaves the mines would be increased from 35 to 40 cents per ton a5 a result of the offered advance, but declined to speculate as to how much might be added by middlemen before the coal reaches the consumer.

The position taken by the operators' representatives was that their offer was strictly in line with the statements of Secretary of Labor Wilson and Fuel Administrator Garfield. Dr. Garfield's data, submitted to the wage scale committees on Wednesday, they said, showed there

Outlying operators who have been following the negotiations confidently predicted that the agreement in the central field, if reached, would serve as a basis for wage scale contracts affecting them. F. W. Lukins, president of the Interstate Coal Operators' Association, their spokesman, said the central field offer was a very liberal one, and expressed hope for its acceptance.
