Poor, Shriveled, Shrunken Gums---

The dreadful brand of Pyorrhoea!!

THOSE spongy, inflamed, bleeding gums — what moments of agony they have caused! Only a person whose mouth has taken on the look of hoary age, whose gums have receded and whose teeth have dropped from the mouth fully realizes the horror of Pyorrhoea. And yet this destructive disease is preventable!

Pyrodento

is a delicately flavored, though powerful germicide, which forestalls Pyorrhoea germs and overcomes other mouth infections.

PYRODENTO has a smooth pure Olive Oil base (not a soapy base that washes away quickly), which is insoluble in the mouth juices, thereby holding the germ-destroying properties on the gum tissues long enough to be thoroughly effective. The Olive Oil nourishes the gums and keeps them firm and healthy.

Another exclusive feature of its formula is the introduction of pure Albumen, which is also present in the normal blood but absent in times of gum infection. PYRODENTO immediately supplies an excess of Albumen, which overcomes any deficiency and aids nature in healing.

It is a safe, pleasant, effective and economical dentifrice for everyone to use.

FAMOUS TREES WILL BE LISTED

American Forestry Association Will Establish a New "Hall of Fame"

Washington, Nov. 25.—A "Hall of Fame for Trees" has been inaugurated by the American Forestry Association for the recognition of famous trees and the location of the largest shade tree in the United States.

An elm at Huntington, Indiana, long has been regarded as the largest shade tree in the country. This claim of course excludes the Redwoods of California. Now comes Dumont Kennedy, of Crawfordsville, Indiana, with a picture of a tree on his property and the suggestion that it is larger than the tree at Huntington. This tree has a spread of 99 feet while the Huntington Elm has spread of only 75 feet. A tree at Farmington, Mass., also claims to be the largest.

Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry Association, says: "We want a complete list of famous trees now. There is the Liberty Tree at the campus of St. John's College at Annapolis under which a treaty with the Indians was signed in 1652. The experts tell us this tree is close to 300 years old. We all know of the William Penn Treaty Tree beneath which Washington took command of the Continental Army. At Oberlin, Ohio, is the elm on the corner of the campus under which was the first log house in which Oberlin College was founded. The American Forestry Association has listed many famous trees but it wants the list complete. If there is a famous tree in your town the association wants to know about it."

Democrats to Meet January 8 to 15

Washington, Nov. 25.—The Democratic National Committee and the Woman's Associate Committee were called by National Chairman Cummings to meet here January 8 to 15 to fix a time and place for the national convention next year.

David J. Smyth Is Named by Moore as New City Solicitor

Philadelphia, Nov. 25.—Mayor-elect J. Hampton Moore has announced that he had selected David J. Smyth to be city solicitor in the new administration which goes into office in January. Mr. Smyth was a member of the Legislature in 1901, served as an assistant city solicitor under Mayor Weaver. He resigned the latter position during the gas lease fight in 1905 since which time he had been out of politics.

WOMAN, IN IRON SOUP POT, BROUGHT TO RED CROSS FOR THE TREATMENT OF FEVER

American Physicians Doing Relief Work in Montenegro Tell of Curious Methods Employed by Inhabitants of That Country

Njegosch, Montenegro, Nov. 25.—American physicians doing relief work in Montenegro tell of some curious methods of treatment employed by the inhabitants of this little mountain country. When a Montenegro is wounded the first thing he does is to apply a sovereign remedy for burns. To stop bleeding sores or wounds, cobwebs are used. When a person is bitten by a dog, the favorite remedy is to pull off the animal's ear and rub the wound with it.

The patron saint of Montenegro is Saint Vassila, whose shrine is situated on the summit of a mountain between Podgoritz and Niksic. Every week thousands of devout Montenegrins come to the mountain shrine seeking cure for their ills.

But since the arrival of the American physicians the pilgrimages to the ancient shrine have been so numerous. For the natives have found that their ills can be cured much nearer home and with greater certainty at any of the numerous Red Cross dispensaries and clinics. The inhabitants come from the remotest mountain regions. They are carried in all sorts of conveyances, whether on horseback, carts, buffalo wagons, or on horseback. In one case, an old woman suffering with scarlet fever, was brought to the Red Cross hospital at Njegosch, which is notable as the birthplace of King Nicholas, in an iron soup pot. It required four days to get her over the many mountain ranges.

In another instance a farmer carried his typhus-afflicted wife on his back a distance of 65 miles and at the end of the journey fell exhausted on the steps of the Red Cross hospital. He was rewarded for his labors, however, four weeks later by the complete recovery of his wife.

In numerous instances persons suffering from total blindness have been led over tedious mountain roads to the Red Cross hospitals by sympathetic friends or sorrowing relatives, only to find that nothing can be done for them. There is a great prevalence of cataract in the country, caused by chronic malaria and other diseases.

DECLARES MOVIES STIMULATES VICE

London, Nov. 25.—A protest against "stimulation of vice" was delivered by Miss J. E. Higson, of the archbishop's central advisory council, at a meeting of a purity association here.

"How can you expect young people to retain their ideals when, at moving picture shows and at plays, they have stories, not of pure, faithful and true, but of unfaithful wives and unmarried mothers?" she asked.

Canon Frewer, of Brighton, said, "This is the day of England's moral crisis."

Hate Propaganda Must Be Abolished, Says British Leader

London, Nov. 25.—Propaganda of hatred should not be permitted to interfere with the reconciliation of nations now that the war is over, declared Sir Ian Hamilton in a war memorial at Chislehurst the other day. As the war had progressed, he said, it had been necessary to harden the hearts of the soldiers for the job.

"If you wish for peace, away with hate propaganda," said Sir Ian. "When, under the cloak of propaganda, professional lying takes place, then good-bye for ever to peace on earth and good will towards men."

Jesse Kohler Is Pardoned by Wilson

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 25.—A pardon signed by President Wilson for Jesse Kohler, a Federal prisoner, has been received. When officials went to present it to Kohler at the county hospital where he had been taken because of illness, they learned he had died 18 days ago.

Kohler was convicted in 1918 on a charge of using the mails to defraud and was sentenced to 18 months in a Federal penitentiary. He had advertised for men to accompany him to Mexico to remove a treasure secreted by Villa and was charged with having diverted to personal use expense funds advanced by them. He maintained there had been no criminal intent in his act.

Burleson Approves to Cut Rates on the First-Class Postage

Washington, Nov. 25.—Postmaster General Burleson has approved pending bills to reduce the rate of the first-class postage to a penny an ounce. A letter for delivery within the postal limits of the office in which it is mailed would take a one-cent stamp instead of a two-cent stamp.

Mr. Burleson has advised Congressmen that the present two-cent charge on that class of mail exceeds the cost of handling and that he recommends the reduction because he believes the postal service should not be conducted for profit. The reduction of last July whereby letters went back to the normal rate of two cents and postal cards to one cent, the Postmaster General says, resulted in a large increase in that class of mail and he believes one-cent local letter delivery would not reduce the total postal revenue more than $14,000,000 a year.

See Cash Dividends in Grasshoppers

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 25.—Grasshoppers are beginning to pay big cash dividends in North Dakota through the medium of poultry, especially in turkeys and guinea fowl. The experiment has been successfully tried at the State Agricultural College and numerous farmers have taken the cue.

Wherever there are green fields, there are grasshoppers and other insects. G. R. Greaves of the Agricultural College who has conducted the experiments, says: "It seems the inexorable law of nature that wherever there is something good to eat, there is something that man's existence is a continual struggle for supremacy over the creatures that are determined to consume the food he requires."

During past years in North Dakota, prairie chickens, sage hens and grouse held the grasshoppers in check, and their plumpness and delicious quality of their meat attested to the superiority of their food.

Now the prairie chickens especially are going the way of the buffalo, and Mr. Greaves was assigned to find a substitute that would keep down the insect pests with a minimum of trouble and expense to the farmer. The answer is turkeys and guinea fowl.

Mr. Greaves declares that flocks of turkeys and guinea fowl consume millions of grasshoppers and other insect pests, and naturally do their own foraging. Early in the season the experimental flocks at the Agricultural College have grown fat and strong on the young insects.

Later in the season they have received the abundant exercise necessary for their proper market conditioning by chasing the elusive hoppers, have saved the field crops and provided a new, big source of income.

"Three old turkeys kept through one winter," says Mr. Greaves, "produced a flock of young turkeys the following season which kept the fields near their house clear of grasshoppers, and fulfilled their destiny by grazing Thanksgiving tables."

Myron Captain Rescued From Ship's Pilot House

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 25.—After floating for 24 hours in the pilot house of the steamer Myron, which foundered off Whitefish Point, Captain W. R. Neal, commander of the lost vessel, was rescued in an exhausted condition by the steamer W. C. Franz which arrived here yesterday. Captain Neal, who is in a serious condition from exposure, declared that another steamer named the McIntosh had passed close to him before the Franz appeared and had refused to pick him up, replying to his appeal for help with a promise to send a tug.

Captain Neal was rescued off Parliarian Island, 20 miles from the scene of the foundering of the Myron. Captain Jordan, commander of the Franz, at first believed the castaway to be dead as he was unconscious, but noticing a movement of his hand sent a boat to investigate. Captain Neal could give no information as to the fate of the members of his crew.

Deplores Separation of Church and State by the German Government

Munich, Nov. 25.—Archibald Faulhaber declared at a meeting of Bavarian Catholics that the German government, by separating church and state, was undermining all state authority. He said amid great applause that every believer had the right to refuse to take the tax oath, since by taking it believers were being maled of their last cent while nonbelievers were not taking the oath.

Italian Parliament Is Delayed by Tangles in Election Results

Rome, Nov. 25.—The reopening of the Chamber of Deputies has been postponed for a few days. This has been made necessary by delays connected with the election formalities. The work of ascertaining the official results of the elections is so complicated that it is feared it will not be finished before December 1.

DUBLIN BANK STRIKE ORDERED

Dublin, Nov. 25.—More than 3,000 bank employees here have decided to strike for recognition of their union and increased salaries. It is announced. Nine of the city's principal banks are affected. Directors of the banks have refused the employees' demands.

Society Ladies Adopt New Hair Curling Method

Since the introduction of liquid silmerine in this country, it has become quite "the proper thing" among society women, who have readily adopted it in place of the destructive curling iron. The waves and curls acquired by the new method are far more natural in appearance and the hair is of course glossier and prettier than could be if the hair were cooked out of it.

The liquid is pleasant to use, being neither greasy nor sticky. It is a simple thing to apply with a clean tooth brush at night when the hair is down. The lovely wavy effect in evidence in the morning is all that one could wish for. It costs little to use liquid silmerine, as a few ounces from the drugist will keep the hair in curl for weeks.

Shop Atmosphere

The Atmosphere of any shop is made up of many little influences.

Shop Atmosphere is not tangible. It has neither size, weight or color—and yet, it is that indefinable little "something" which either attracts or repels the clientele.

The elements that go to make up the always pleasant Atmosphere of the Cloos Shop are:—

The attitude of the salespeople, who serve in a spirit of willingness, not servility; striving to please—not to sell.

Shop Atmosphere is in the arrangement of the shop itself; the manner in which the wares are displayed.

But most of all, it is in the feeling that you are being fairly dealt with—that you are being told the exact truth; that the wares you buy are actually worth what you pay.

The high type of clientele of the Cloos Shop is such that we could not possibly do otherwise than live up to the Atmosphere of exclusiveness and true worth.
