Altoona Girl Sends Sweets and Note to Soldier, Who Woos by Mail

Altoona, Pa., Nov. 28.—As the culmination of a rather unusual romance, Miss Mary Elizabeth Speacht, last evening became the bride of Frank J. Hildebrand, recently a soldier in the United States Regular Army, whose home is at Lake Village, Ind.

The ceremony was performed at the bride's home by the Rev. A. F. Heltman. The bridegroom is employed as a car inspector in the Altoona yards.

The couple did not meet in person until September 25 of this year, but they had been corresponding for five years.

Five years ago this month while stationed at New London, Conn., Miss Speacht prepared several boxes of candy which she gave Frank Price and he took them back to the Army barracks, one of which he gave to Hildebrand.

FARMER TOLL COLLECTOR

A Kansas farmer tugged at a stubby growth of chin whiskers as he entered the office of James P. Aylward, an attorney, to-day. The farmer desired advice. Here is what he said: "I happened to see you early to-day as he walked south on Main street toward the Union Station."

CALLING A SPADE A SPADE

The American Weekly, with its slogan of "One Hundred Percent Americanism," has an editorial in its latest issue requesting that we in the United States teach our own language to the immigrant. Its comment is as follows, under the caption "The American Language":

"When the United States starts its Americanization school for foreigners why not inform these aliens that they are about to be taught the American language? Why not drop stale tradition, throw polemics overboard, refute the straight-laced tickler for grammatical precedent and announce to the world that there is a new language?"

IRPLANE TO SPOT MOSQUITOES

The Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has discovered a new use for the airplane. The entomological branch is investigating the mosquito in the lower Fraser valley in British Columbia. By using the airplane the country can be surveyed in order to map out the swamp areas and other breeding places that are readily located in photographs taken from overhead, according to a statement by Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion entomologist, that appears in the Agricultural Gazette.

MALE COMMENT

"I don't want to criticize women. I know they're all right." "Well?" "But you'll never see a man buy a wire frame for a hat."—Kansas City Journal.

Paper Maker Takes Tyrone Girl For Bride

Tyrone, Pa., Nov. 28.—At the home of the bride in North Pennsylvania avenue, Tyrone, the Rev. E. G. Sawyer united in marriage William Daniel Korman and Miss Verna Margaret Cassidy, using the ring ceremony. Miss Esther Gault was bridesmaid and James Woomer was best man. There were about seventy-five guests present from Altoona, Juniata, State College, Oak Hill, Gatesburg and Tyrone.

NO FATHER TO LOOK AFTER HIM

An old man stepped up to the cigar stand in a downtown hotel and said: "Let me have a cigar." The clerk had heard of him and also had an idea of what he was worth, so he just put out a box of 25-cent cigars. The old man picked up one, and as he bit off the end he placed a dime on the showcase.

Wounded Soldiers Join in Thanksgiving Jollity

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 28.—A field day by wounded men at the United States Government Hospital here, many of them unable to leave their wheel chairs, was a feature of Thanksgiving Day observance in Carlisle. A special dinner was served at the institution with the events in the afternoon, including such sports as the wounded men could take on. There was also a football game between hospital teams.

SON BRINGS AID TO MOTHER IN DISTRESS

Less than a month ago Mrs. M. J. Staley, 2613 N. 18th St., Phila., had such poor blood circulation that her fingers became numb and useless. To-day, after taking Tanlac, she can use her hands freely, her nerves are much stronger and she feels years younger. She says: "I'm certainly glad I took Tanlac, which my son brought me, as my appetite increased, my food digests right and I haven't felt so vigorous in years. Tanlac is really marvelous."

Four Boys Confess They Caused $10,000 York Fire

York, Pa., Nov. 28.—Four boys admit that they caused the fire that destroyed the storage building of the York Carriage Works, resulting in a loss of about $10,000, following an investigation by city officials. Arthur Ray, Edward and Joseph Diefenderfer, brothers, ranging in age from eight to ten years, and Edward L. Stahl, aged eleven, were brought to police headquarters, where they admitted that they had been playing in the shed, when one of them fell into a hole. The building being dark one of the youngsters lit a match to see how deep the hole was, when another of the boys knocked the match out of his hand and it fell in a pile of excelsior that ignited.

"Center Shots at Bolshevism"

Two sermons delivered by Dr. Charles R. Bowers, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Sunbury, Pa., entitled, "Sunbury's Reign of Terror" and "Our Nation's Deadliest Perils," have been published in pamphlet form and are now ready for delivery. These messages contain a scathing denunciation of the "Ex-Corset Fitter" of Berwick, Pa., and Jim Maurer, president of the State Federation of Labor. These are messages straight from the shoulder and hitting hard the diabolical paid labor agitator and anarchistic adherents of the red flag.

A Message of News-

Modern advertising is a tremendous power, working—working—working—to the interest of both the man who pays the advertising bills and the man who buys the merchandise so advertised.

Advertising is NEWS, just as much as the columns of the front-page of this newspaper, for advertising brings to you the day's news of the shopping centers.

And that is the object of this advertisement—to direct your attention to the live store news of the various furniture dealers of Harrisburg.

They've a timely message for you in helping you make this Christmas a season for the giving of practical gifts—like furniture for instance. Read the Furniture ads, then—

Developing the Business of Harrisburg's Newest Bakery

- Winding up three weeks with the business still growing at a very steady speed. It certainly does our hearts good to look back over the past three weeks, since we opened our new bakery, on Monday January 6, and have our judgment confirmed by the volume of patronage accorded us. You have often heard business men say that if you give the public a good article at the right price and tell all the facts about that article in a clear, candid way you are bound to succeed. Well, that's the case with our business. That's what we did in Lancaster years ago—and up to this very minute we are doing it. And that's what we are doing here—giving the people the best bread possible to make—and the people like it. Have YOU tried Gunzenhauser's Bread?

The Gunzenhauser Bakery Eighteenth and Mulberry Streets

We had good reason to be pleased with the business done the first three weeks in Harrisburg. We have good reason to be pleased with the business of the year. But that does not satisfy us entirely. We shall always want to please you by giving you uniform high quality bread and we have the means with which to do that. Take particular notice of Gunzenhauser's bread every day for a week or a month and be convinced. We are confident that your inspection will prove to you that we are maintaining a high level of perfection in bread baking.

Give the Public a Good Article---

That's all you have to do to achieve success—provided it is accompanied by service. And there is a way of giving the public a good article. Know how to make it and then have the courage to keep up the quality—and the common sense to realize that the public knows and is a judge. It is nearly a year since we opened our bakery in this city. We have had some difficulties to overcome. We have them overcome. Today we are master of the situation. Our superintendent, who is an expert in baking, knows how to keep the high quality of our bread uniform. So you can expect and will get uniform bread.
