Annual Report of Work Done in Year

A total number of 8,955 visits for 1918-1919 by the visiting nurses is the record reported by the association through its superintendent, Miss Mary W. Miller. From the headquarters at 116 Locust street the work of the Red Cross, Child Welfare, the Pure Milk Society, the Sunshine Society, the Social Hygiene Clinic, and the Girls' Aid Society has been announced.

Dr. Edward Martin, State health commissioner, appointed Dr. Dorothy Child in June to take charge of the child welfare work and since that time Dr. Child has succeeded in establishing three health centers and made house-to-house surveys with the result of better living conditions. In August, at the request of Mrs. Lyman Gilbert, the association was asked to furnish a child welfare nurse for one year. Accordingly Miss Margaret Williamson went on duty at the health center at 1213 North Eleventh street November 1. Since her work has begun there, the results have been evidenced in cleaner, happier homes. Through the affiliation with the Pure Milk Society it was discovered that the association could do much in the instruction to mothers on the diet of their children. The Sunshine Society in its work among the crippled has done a great amount of good and helped many to be self supporting. The Girls' Aid Society has been active in supplying the increased demands for garments, drugs, surgical appliances and old linen.

AGED MOTHER SETS EXAMPLE FOR SON

"Knowing what Tanlac did for my 80-year-old mother, I immediately decided to try it when catarrh and indigestion began to get the best of me," said W. L. Farnsworth, 1200 W. Montgomery ave., Philadelphia. "I had lost 34 pounds in Lincoln soon drove the catarrh out of my system and righted my stomach. I'm gaining weight and feeling fine now." Catarrh is the most frequent cause of dyspepsia, Bright's disease, deafness and often serious lung troubles. Thousands have testified to Tanlac's powers over this dreaded disease. People suffering from droppings in the throat, headaches, coughing up of mucus, fullness of the head, gastritis, frequent sneezing and watery eyes should immediately take Tanlac, which is sold here by all leading druggists.

Former Service Men to Attend Legion Smoker
on Thursday Evening

Chestnut Street Auditorium will be packed to capacity on Thursday evening of this week, when all the Harrisburg men and nurses who answered the call to the colors in this and previous wars gather together for several hours of entertainment. The show will be free and free "smokes" will be on hand a-plenty, and it will be more or less an informal party, with not a dull moment during the evening.

The feature, of course, will be an hour or so of moving pictures, taken by the U. S. Signal Corps on the western front, but there will also be three or four vaudeville specialties, with "ex-K. P." Sam Jones, mace sgt. Lou Cohen, Sgt. Ed. Meck, and an unknown terpsichorean artist said to be a former member of the Sultan's harem, as headliners. Manager Hopkins, of the Majestic, says he has a girl act, too, that will motor over from his theater for a turn. A band and jazz orchestra will alternate with popular acts, and A. W. Hartman, of the deep bass voice, has promised to help raise the roof with the aid of the audience. Corporal Boyer is on the program, and Frank D'Oiler, newly-elected National head of the American Legion has accepted an invitation to be present. Ex-service men are advised that their uniform or discharge button, or any other mark that shows them to have been in the service, will admit them to the auditorium. Owing to the large attendance expected, families and friends of the soldiers and sailors will have to be excluded on this occasion.

CHRISTMAS SEALS GO ON SALE TODAY

Tuberculosis Can Be Eliminated in Pennsylvania in Ten Years if Public Support State, Says Chairman E. J. Stackpole; Disease Is Greater Foe to Humanity Than the Hun

PROCEEDS TO STAY AT HOME

Sale of Christmas Red Cross Seals and Health Bonds Begins Today. Christmas Seals sell for one cent each. Bonds sell in denominations from $5 to $100. Proceeds are used to fight tuberculosis and improve the public health. Health community retains 77 1/2 per cent of the money raised for carrying on an educational and preventative campaign, establishing the Mother's Health Crusade in schools, making tuberculosis surveys, looking after tuberculosis soldiers, showing value of open air schools and co-operating with the State Department of Health.

Pennsylvania can be freed from the menace of tuberculosis in the next ten years if the public will only co-operate with the State authorities and the private agencies doing tuberculosis work, says State Chairman E. J. Stackpole, in an appeal to the public to make the seal sale starting to-day a success.

The tragedy of tuberculosis, with its annual death toll of 10,000 persons in this State, says Mr. Stackpole, is that it is a preventable disease. Wipe out insanitary housing conditions, guard against malnutrition, provide for prompt treatment at the first sign of the disease and tuberculosis will be conquered. Mr. Stackpole calls attention to the fact that the members of the American Legion are among those who are most active in the fight against tuberculosis, because they have had directly home to them.

"With the demobilization of the American Army," says Mr. Stackpole, "there has come a prompt mobilization of returned soldiers to humanity than the Hun. Sixty-nine thousand men who were the victims of tuberculosis without the knowledge of the health authorities, were rejected by local draft boards in the United States. Upon reaching camp 23,000 more were rejected for the same cause. Of this 4,000 at least were Pennsylvanians.

Pennsylvania is organizing for a campaign against tuberculosis that is to include every county. The battle is to continue until the white plague is beaten. The Christmas Seal is the insignia of those who have entered the contest. The seal sale is under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, which finds its chief work in educational propaganda. Three-fourths of the money each community devotes to seals and Health Bonds remains there to better health conditions.

"The Christmas Seal Campaign is not only of particular interest to the children, but it is essentially a campaign launched in their behalf. The Christmas Seal shows Santa Claus printed in red with white fringe on his outfit and a white beard, standing with a full pack at the top of a chimney. The children know what it means when Santa Claus comes down the chimney, and the seal is a link in the work of training them toward better health habits.

"Tuberculosis is a preventable disease. The scourge of centuries could be conquered in a generation if the public were intelligently enlisted in the fight.

"The Christmas Seal sale has been endorsed by Governor Sprout and by Col. Edward Martin, his Commissioner of Health. The Granges are supporting the movement. The members of the American Legion are active in the battle. The volunteer firemen are also interested in it. In addition practically every fraternal organization in the State has pledged its co-operation.

"There can be no armistice in the war upon tuberculosis. The battle can end only when the white plague is conquered. All can help win the victory. The larger the army the sooner the victory.

"All can fight in their home counties by helping the sale of Christmas Seals. The word that comes from every section of the State is profoundly encouraging. Pennsylvania will put over a record sale of the Christmas Seal. The battle lines are drawn. The word to every one is 'Enlist in the fight.' Help the seal sale."

Revival Opens at Riverside M. E. Church
The Rev. George Klepfer, pastor of the Riverside Methodist Church, inaugurated yesterday a series of revival meetings which will be carried on all this week. On Saturday evening Mr. Kurakowa, a Japanese student, preparing for mission work in Hawaii, addressed a meeting, and yesterday repeated his talk. A team of seven young men and women from Dickinson College assisted Dr. Klepfer yesterday. Special music featured the services and will be included in the services each evening this week at 7.30 o'clock.

Prizes to be awarded to schools for the sale of the most Red Cross Christmas Seals were announced today by D. D. Hammebaugh, chairman of the seal committee of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society of Dauphin County. In addition to awarding prizes to the various buildings to each public, private and parochial school selling from 5,000 to 10,000 Christmas Seals, a framed picture, valued at $2.50, will be given to each school selling from 10,000 to 20,000 seals a framed picture, valued at $5, will be awarded, and to each building selling more than 20,000 seals, a framed picture valued at $7.50 will be given. These are the same prizes as were awarded in the seal campaign of 1917, with the same requirements for winning them.

The State seal campaign opened to-day, the campaign in the city, county and West Shore begins next Monday, when Cho-Cho, the famous New York health clown, will come to Harrisburg to aid in the seal sale and to conduct public health meetings. Large posters announcing the opening of the Christmas Seal campaign have been distributed by Boy Scouts and are on display in downtown business places, some of the merchants placing them in their large show windows. The Boy Scouts also distributed hundreds of anti-tuberculosis work in the nation. These are on display also in many of the windows.

A number of downtown stores are using seals now on mail which is always sent out during the holiday season. Other merchants and business men can secure a supply of seals for this purpose from Donald McCormick, at the Dauphin Deposit Trust Company. Persons desiring to contribute from $5 to $100 to the seal fund, but who do not wish to purchase thousands of the little "health stamps," can purchase Health Bonds, showing that they are supporting the movement to improve public health.

TO BUY XMAS SEALS
Pleasant View Steam Fire Engine Company, No. 15, has voted to purchase 1,000 Christmas seals. The president of the company is John H. Frantz.

GUN'S DISCHARGE

Millerstown, Pa., Dec. 1.—Arthur Yetter, 22 years old, of Millerstown, was instantly killed Saturday by his own gun in the first hunting fatality in Perry county for several years. His death was the third within three days from hunting wounds in the Juniata Valley. Yetter received the wounds which resulted in his death about four miles from Millerstown, just as he was descending from an automobile to enter a stretch of woods, preparatory to starting to hunt. The hammer of the gun is believed to have caught on the side of the automobile.
