The same group was responsible for the dance in the Civic Club at Halloween, and the same factors that distinguished that dance from the other activities of that time will be emphasized at the Christmas afternoon tea and dance. Tea will be poured by a coterie of young women whose presence at previous dances has assured their success.

Dancing will be from 2:30 until 5:30, arranged to provide a social afternoon on an occasion when good fellowship prevails everywhere. This tea-dance is designed to answer the question of what to do Christmas afternoon. Friends of the committee members will receive their invitations within a few days and on acceptance will be provided with cards for admission.

TO WINTER IN FLORIDA
 Dr. and Mrs. Henry C. Orth and their daughters, the Misses Anna Shipley Dixon and Robert M. Orth, of 206 Pine street, have gone to Florida to remain for the winter in St. Augustine. Their relatives the Misses Martha and Miss Sue Selzer will occupy their home during their absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lloyd Thomas and son "Junior" have returned to this city after an absence of several years and are residing in apartments at Second and Boaz streets.

Harold M. Peeser, of Trenton, N. J., is stopping for a day or two among old friends in the West End.

(Other Social News on Page 8.)

On this subject Mr. Glass urged Congress to deny "every appropriation for expenditure in new fields." He said the same policy should obtain until the Government had its sinking fund well under way and repayment of the war debt "satisfactorily begun."

Mr. Glass charged that excessive Government expenditures were "the most vital factors" in increasing the cost of living and argued that it was urgently necessary to keep down public expenses for this reason as well as because of the drain on the taxpayers.

Laws Need Revision.
 The present revenue laws need revisiting to meet new conditions, he said. He referred particularly to the excess profits tax laws which he described as being "objectionable even as a wartime expedient." It would be still more objectionable in peacetime, he added. "Less harmful forms" of deriving funds for the Government should be employed, the secretary said, adding that the excess profits tax had been responsible for much of the increase in living costs because it had been passed on to the consumer.

"It encourages the Government expenditures, puts a premium on overcapitalization and a penalty on brains," the secretary continued. "It discourages new ventures and new enterprises and establishes red ventures in their monopolies. In many instances, it acts as a consumption tax, is added to the cost of production and is a factor in the increased cost of living."

In this connection, Mr. Glass also urged redrafting of the revenue laws to prevent the evasion of federal taxes through the investment of wealth in the obligations of states municipalities. He said laws should be enacted which would compel the reporting of such incomes, although they are wholly tax exempt, and that that sum with other income of an individual should be computed as the basis for assessing federal taxes on the amount derived from taxable sources.

Europe Needs Help.
 Relations between conditions in Europe and those in the United States were discussed also by Mr. Glass. He said that steadily there was a very great need in Europe for financial assistance, but that the situation had been much exaggerated.

"We must all feel deep sympathy for Europe to-day," he said, "but we must not allow our sympathy to warp our judgment and, by exaggerating European financial needs, make them more difficult to fill."

The problem of financing Europe belongs largely to the exporter because industries cannot be reopened without raw stocks. Government financial assistance in the past and talk of future government or banking aid to finance exports have apparently led our industrial concerns to the erroneous expectation that their war profits, based largely on exports, will continue indefinitely without any risk on their part. To them will fall the profits of exports and upon them will fall the consequences of failure to make the exports.

The Treasury will continue its policy, in effect since the armistice, to restore private initiative and remove governmental control and interference with respect to the nation's foreign trade," Mr. Glass said.

Estimated Needs.
 Returning to the estimated Government expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, Mr. Glass said the military establishment would require appropriations aggregating $989,578,657. Of this sum, $597,392,020 would be required, he said, for maintenance of the army proper while $35,408,000 would be required for the military academy. The Military Academy would receive $6,778,637.

For the navy, the appropriation of $542,031,804, including $185,248,000 for a building program is to be asked.

An aggregate of $194,578,000 will be sought for public works. In this is included funds for rivers and harbors' improvement totaling $23,659,265. Fortifications, arsenals and military posts will require about $129,000,000.

The legislative establishment will need $9,025,297, it was estimated, while the executive branches of the Government combined will seek a total of $149,111,463. Chief among the latter department expenditures is an estimate of $73,405,191 for the Treasury Department. This sum which is much larger than in former years indicates the added expense to be borne in the enforcement of prohibition. Included in this also is the appropriation of $37,528,102 to be asked by the Department of Agriculture for carrying on its field activities.

The judiciary will ask for $1,634,190. For foreign intercourse, appropriations totalling $11,243,250 will be sought. Appropriations for the Department of State, exclusive of the funds for use in foreign work will be $1,571,350, and for the other executive departments, appropriations to be sought will be as follows: War Department, proper, $6,615,248; Navy Department, proper, $2,097,870; Interior Department, $6,287,185; Post Office Department, $9,928,870; Department of Commerce, $12,778,237; Department of Justice, $704,540; and Department of Labor, $1,700,430.

Approximately $80,000,000 will be sought by the various executive branches also to be used in public works. This latter includes $31,000,000 to be asked by the Navy Department for work in navy yards, docks, etc., and $22,000,000 for the Interior Department's reclamation service.

The Shipping Board has estimated its needs at $447,755,061 to be used in operation of the merchant marine and completing its building program.
