

English Poet and Novelist 80 Years Old
 Dorchester, Eng., Dec. 3.—Thos. Hardy, the English poet and novelist, has celebrated his 80th birthday.
 An address, drawn up by the Poet Laureate, Robert Bridges, and a handsomely bound volume of the manuscript of some verses written by 43 poets, and novelists, were presented to Mr. Hardy.

PLENTY OF MEN FOR NEW GUARD
 General Beary Speaks Highly of Spirit of Young Men For Upholding Law and Order

No lack of men for the organization of the units of the new Pennsylvania National Guard is indicated in the reports coming to the Adjutant General's Office from the regimental commanders, and in the number are many with overseas service records. Such rapid progress has been made in securing men to form companies in Northeastern Pennsylvania that some commands will soon be ready for the Federal inspector. In other sections men have started preliminary drills at armories which will be placed at the disposal of the new units.
 One report showed that 250 men had offered to join a single unit, while one whole organization of the Reserve Militia expressed a willingness to go into the new guard. Adjutant General Frank D. Beary said that he had been impressed with the interest which was being taken not only by men with military experience but by those just reaching manhood. "We have, of course, many men who served in the Keystone and other Pennsylvania divisions formed of men from other states and in the regular army and Marine Corps who desire to join the new guard, and I am proud of the way the Reserve Militia has come forward. Best of all is the number of applications made by young men about 19 or 20 who want to become members of the new guard and their hearty declarations for the upholding of law and order," said the General, who expects the new guard, which will be organized on a basis of about 15,000 men, to be ready early next year.

Numerous requests have come from men who served in special services, air, tank, signal and other lines, who wish to continue in such branches of the State service. These units and the machine gun troops will be formed as Federal legislation permits and authority comes from the War Department.

Governor Sprout is taking a good rest and declining to get drawn into discussions of National or State matters at Hot Springs. He will not start home until the middle of next week.

Further conferences on safety methods in Pennsylvania industries will follow the meeting held here yesterday by Commissioner of Labor and Industry C. B. Connelley and Chairman C. B. Mackey, of the State Compensation Board, with the safety engineers of several of the big steel companies. It is the plan to compile war experiences and to present recommendations for changes at further meetings. The safety men approved the plan for the rehabilitation system which was explained by S. S. Riddle, the new chief.

Fourteen of the big bituminous coal companies in Pennsylvania have united with the State Department of Forestry in reforestation plans and arranged to plant many thousands of trees on their lands next year. The Department of Forestry to-day announced that in the last few years coal companies had planted over 450,000 trees and that many had been requisitioned for the next year. The Pittsburgh and Penn-Mary Coal Companies planted the most the last three years.

Public Service Commissioner John W. Reed has dismissed the complaint of residents of the vicinity of Grove City against the discontinuance of service of the Union Heat and Light Company, operating in Mercer and other counties in Western Pennsylvania. It is held that the company's statements show that it must conserve its supply.

The season for all special fishing devices which are used under the licenses granted under the new fishing law of 1919 has expired except on burr hooks and snare and loop arrangements, and the State Department of Fisheries is warning persons who worked under such licenses that they must file reports with the State Commission. These reports will summarize the catches made and determine whether the use of such devices is disposing of too many fish in certain localities. They will be the first of the kind ever compiled. The season on the two devices mentioned will run until the end of the year.

Reports received from the first farmers' institutes of this season are declared by State agricultural officials to be very gratifying in regard to attendance and interest shown. The plan of assigning speakers to the localities who are familiar with the lines of agricultural activity that prevails is said to have been generally approved. The idea is now to continue institutes until well into March if the funds available will permit.

Auditor General Charles A. Snyder, who has been at Atlantic City, has been suffering from a severe cold.

Numerous inquiries are already being made about the road contracts to be let this month. The bids will be opened December 16.

State officials to-day declared that regulation of fuel was a Federal matter and that the Commonwealth contemplated no steps at present. Chief of Mines Seward E. Button, who has been visiting a number of the fields, says that his department is taking steps to see that where mines are idle the safety appliances and organization are not allowed to run down, but to be ready when work is resumed.

The State Compensation Board announced that it would meet at Pittsburgh, December 10, 11 and 12.

James T. Corteson, who was mentioned as a possible head of the State Police Department and then as chief of the Philadelphia detectives, is now being written about as a possible director of public safety in Philadelphia.

Only mild interest was registered at the Capitol to-day over the action of B. F. Ruth, of Reading, in announcing his candidacy as a Leonard Wood delegate from Pennsylvania. Ruth was a Roosevelt delegate and has never gotten over it.

John W. Butterworth, elected president of the Chester school board, was the choice of the Republican League, in which Governor William C. Sprout has taken a prominent part. The McClure faction lost because its men were not not on time.

State Fishery authorities caused the arrest and fining of several men in Chester county for polluting streams with dye stuffs. The men did not contest the charge and it seems to have been a plain case of taking a chance.

Dauphin county litany cases are to come before the Public Service Commission to-morrow, those of John Lafferty and E. E. Lerew, Hummelstown, being on the list.

More organizations are taking steps to bring about the removal of James H. Maurer as a member of the State Old Age Pension Commission. They will send resolutions to the Governor.

Considerable interest has been aroused here by the action of Schuylkill county people in getting organized to fight ballot frauds. There has been a union effected by a number of Pottsville organizations composed of influential people.

Senator Penrose is showing marked improvement, say his physicians. According to word from Scranton the Lackawanna county commissioners have decided to add $5,000,000 to the valuation of the coal companies and to tax coal which has not been mined before.

Charles D. Wolfe, assistant State fire marshal, has been elected head of the Young Men's Republican Club of Williamsport.

A boom for George W. Coles, head of the Town Meeting organization in Philadelphia and a former Dauphin countyman, for director of public safety in the Moore cabinet has not gotten very far. The new mayor has declined to smile upon it and the Town Meeting men will have a dinner to talk it over. J. S. W. Holton has been offered the place of director of wharves, docks and ferries and General W. W. Atterbury director of transit which he will not accept.

Final argument was heard yesterday before the board on Property on the Zeller claim to a part of Hot Island. This ends litigation extending over many months.

"The Live Store"

Wearpledge Clothes For Boys

They have created quite a stir around Harrisburg and nearby territory. They are the "original" guaranteed clothes for boys that are backed by an insurance policy, together with the usual Doutrich guarantee. You've never seen clothes that would give more satisfaction or better wear than "Wearpledge" clothes, and you can't buy them in any other store in Harrisburg but Doutrichs.

"Be Sure of Your Store"

You can forget all the worry you had in the past when you bought "Boys' Clothes" for that's no longer necessary. The problem has been solved—how to produce Boys' Clothes that will stand the test and give reasonable wear. Boys are not used to sitting down and waiting until they outgrow their new clothes; they put them through the "third degree" from the very start, and if they are not made well, the buttons sewn firmly, or the fabrics are not woven substantially, a boy's clothes are soon worn through and look shabby; you run no risk or take no chances if you come Here for "Wearpledge" Boys' Clothes, for they stand hard usage.

Buy Him a 'Wearpledge' Suit For Christmas

They are not expensive, not for clothes that will give the service you can exact from "Wearpledge" Clothes—Our Boys' Department has been a busy place this Fall, but December is the big month for boys' wear. "Old Santa" buys most of his useful gifts at Doutrichs, and you can scarcely think of anything more pleasing than a suit or overcoat. You can get a good one for
