RED CLOUD'S LODGE SUCCESS

Scouts Have Good Opportunity to Study Nature and Small Game

A troop of Boy Scouts come hiking along the road above Marysville, the air is cold and raw and they are moving rather fast to, keep warm.

When they get above Marysville a short distance they leave the road and strike in toward the mountain and cross over into the valley and after a short hike along the mountain they come to a large, snug, roomy cabin; there is a mad scramble to be the first one in and before long there is a fire roaring merrily and "chow" is cooking, then eats.

After everything is cleaned up and put away they all get around the fire and Sparrow tells the tale of the Indians that used to roam these mountains, and then, after an hour of story-telling they begin dropping off to the bunks and by the time the scout leader taps the bunks is sleeping merrily.

This is Red Cloud's Lodge, the overnight hike headquarters of Troop 26, of Stevens Memorial Baptist Church, located in the valley between the two mountains above Marysville. It is a large, roomy two-story building, equipped with bunks and an ideal spot for an overnight hike. The spot is surrounded by large hemlock trees and has a spring of clear, cold water close by.

This is an excellent location for the study and practice of woodcraft, for one comes in contact with all varieties of trees and flowers and nearly all species of small game roam the mountains.

The lodge has been named in honor of our very good friend, Red Cloud, and will only require a trip from him to make it a success.

Troop 13

Our inspection last week was a success with the exception of uniforms. The majority of the fellows were not in uniform, and of course that is on that point. Troop 13 had some good games this week. On Wednesday they played Troop 2, and on Thursday evening they played Troop 18 and the Troop 13 team of the Triangle Club. If it rains the overnight hike to Lamb's Gap will not be taken, and a meeting will be held in Boyd Memorial instead.

Scoutmaster John German, Ben Witmer, an honorary member of the troop and several officers of the patrol took an overnight hike to the McCormick Lodge at Lamb's Gap last Friday, returning home Saturday. On account of this hike no scout meeting was held on Friday night. The boys who took the trip were Patrol Leader Charles Alexander, Assistant Patrol Leader Bill German, Assistant Patrol Leader John Thompson, Color Bearer Thomas Webster.

We left town at 1 o'clock and took the Enola car, getting off at Enola where the road leads out to Lamb's Gap. The crowd was well equipped with blankets and provisions for two meals. Bill German was the only one who did not have eats for two meals, but he had eats for five meals and he ate all he had and then some. We walked along the road and some to a place where some people were butchering. They must have imagined we were the first division marching by, for they surely did look us over. After going about three miles we came to a little country store, where we stopped to get a rest and something to eat. We then continued and in a short time came to Mr. Miller's place. Mr. Miller is the caretaker of the lodge. We then took up the hardest part of our trip which was the hike up the mountain. After arriving at the lodge we unloaded our packs and searched around for wood with which to make a fire. Then we went down to the other house to bring up our coats and some extra blankets which we found. In a short time supper was prepared and we were all very hungry. Alexander volunteered to stay up and watch the fire, but about the middle of the night he crawled into bed with Webster and the fire died down. However, Charles got up bright and early next morning and started to chop wood for the fire. It was mighty cold and he shivered and shook, much to our delight. He said he was doing the "chimney dance." About 7 o'clock we all crawled out and had breakfast after which we cleaned up the place and were soon ready to leave.

We will soon have another of these overnight hikes, so be prepared for a good time. They are the real thing.

Troop 4

Troop 4 met Monday evening at 7 o'clock. We had with us Scout Executive Virgin. Mr. Virgin told the troop to be sure to attend the Scout rally at Zion Lutheran Church on Monday. You fellows that were absent on Monday should be at Troop 4's headquarters at 6.50 p. m., sharp. Troop 4 has a very interesting part at the rally that will appeal to all Troop 22 Once more Troop 22 at Shiloh Lutheran Church, Riverside, is decided on the map. It all came about because of the kindness and brotherly feeling that all good scouts show on the part of Scoutmaster Roy J. Sheik, of Troop 15 in releasing one of his assistants, Lawrence Miller, for the position of Scoutmaster of Troop 22.

Three meetings have been held since the reorganization and every time a larger number of scouts have returned to renew their allegiance to the troop. Last Tuesday night twenty-three scouts turned up, and the meeting was a hummer. This meeting was held in the old fire company's headquarters which has been donated to the scouts for their exclusive use. The place was cleaned, attractive posters put on the walls, and is now furnished and one of the most attractive scout headquarters in the city.

A number of tenderfoot scouts are preparing for second class examination, and the second class scouts are pledging themselves to reach first class rank early in January.

Last Monday evening Boy Scout Commissioner German inspected Troop 8. It was an inspection of both the rooms and the troop.

Big Scout Rally at Zion Lutheran

By far the largest and most elaborate rally yet given in Harrisburg will be held to-night at Zion Lutheran Church at 8 o'clock. Under the direction of John F. O'Neill, deputy commissioner, Troop 1, Reformed Salem, and Troop 14, Zion Lutheran, will act as hosts of the evening.

There will be addresses by Dr. John Fager, deputy commissioner, and friend of all boys; and by Scout Commissioner W. H. German. A complete program from reveille to taps around a campfire will be put on, which will include signalling, first aid, knot tying, use of compass, fire making, and every other department of scoutcraft. Troops participating will be: Troop 17, Penbrook; Troop 2, Chisak Emina; Troop 11, Market Square Presbyterian; Troop 14, Zion Lutheran; Troop 13, Pine Street Presbyterian; Troop 8, Christ Lutheran; Troop 9, Capital Street Presbyterian; Troop 15, Sixth Street United Brethren; Troop 26, Stevens Memorial; Troop 16, Boyd Memorial Lutheran; Troop 4, Immanuel Presbyterian.

A number of guests have been invited, and a cordial invitation is extended to those who are interested in boys and boys' work, to be present.

Scouts, so be sure to be on time and you won't regret it.

We had a hike on Friday, but due to a very important engineering feat in the vicinity of Shrewsbury several fellows failed to participate.

Several new clauses have been added to the revised constitution. The treasurer collected dues for December at the last meeting, and the "poor box" was opened, and the money counted. This money goes to buy articles for the poor of the city, and this has been a custom of Troop 4 for a number of years.

CAMP CURTIN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

With the assistance of instructors, the Misses Frances Hamilton and Marie Einton, domestic science students, filled a bag with salted peanuts to be sold during the acts of the fairy operetta, "Cinderella."

Messrs. Harlacher, chairman, and Weinartner and Paiffer met the members of the lunch hour committee Wednesday during the home room activities period to discuss plans for complete organization. Prof. Brehm has praised the work of these faithful students, appointed to keep the lunchrooms tidy and to control the behavior of the students in the auditorium preceding the afternoon session.

The students forming the committee are: Elsie Lowmy, Mildred Wickersham, Edna Ebert, Mary Laman, Ruth Lasse, Margaret Kaufman, Grace Stoner, Gladys Fox, Helen Constantine, Dorothy Kennedy, Doris Fair, Frances Blumenstein, Mildred McCurdy, Bertha Freedman, Evelyn Arthur, Florence Bruner, Ruth Seitz, Edith Katz, Marie Kerson, Paul Yaverbaum, Paul Swab, William Tyson, Edward Polder, Elsie Westling, Austin Brunner, Richard Johnson, Frederick Morgenthaler, Oliver Eveler, Carl Schultz, George Armstrong, Stuart Osman, Fred Stroh, Norman Ergle, Raymond Balsbaugh, William Hogenogler, Charles Richwine, Edwin Kautz, William Martin, John Diefenderfer, Ralph Yontz and James Bachman.

Students of Miss Mildred Conkling are expressing appreciation for her talks to them concerning her recent trip to Seranton for the purpose of hearing the Vatican choir, which, ac-ording to James Slevin, director is "a choir of notable singers from the world-famous Sistina Chapel. St. Peter's Basilica, St. John Lateran and the Pontifical School of Higher Sacred Music, under the direction of the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Maestro Don Raffaele Casimire."

Through a suggestion of Rebecca Pelen, Section 9B7, Miss Katherine Amuller, instructor, each home room section will select a motto to live up to.

The executive committee of 9B7 selected Samuel Yoffe, who, with the consent of the principal, visited all the home rooms yesterday and presented the idea, making an effective, patriotic appeal to the students. The students of each home room, according to the plan suggested by Yoffe, will hand mottoes to their respective home room executive committees. These groups will select the best mottoes suggested and present them to their own sections for one final selection. The students are earnestly interested in making the best mottoes possible.

The Camp Curtin Athletic Association met Wednesday at 3.30 and elected the following officers: Robert Greenawalt, manager; Russell Asper, assistant manager of the boys' basketball team.
