The meeting was presided over by Galen L. Tait, of Maryland, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Chairman Hays, of the National Committee, made an address of welcome.

Harmony was reported as a feature of the meeting. Together with reports from the states and decisions upon ways and means for campaigns in the states, more than passing notice was paid to the probable issues, national as well-as local.

Efforts by the opposition to make out a case of Republicans sidestepping on the League of Nations question were met by with square statements in informal discussion following the lead of earlier statements by Chairman Hays, who announced that answers to his broadcast queries had not touched to any great extent on the League.

The substance of expressions of the State Committeemen was that they were for a League of Nations that would not result in the surrender of any portion of American sovereignty.

"The general trend of the gathering," said one last night, "Seemed to be that the Republican partly would be satisfied to have an 'Americanized' League of Nations. There was no official action taken, but that was the sense of the meeting. nevertheless.

Stories were told of the place of Houser and Lockman, on the southeast corner of Market Square, adjoining the then noted hostelry of Wells Coverly. Ephraim M. Pollock's bookstore and a number of other places in and about the Square were the congregating place of Rawn and friends at that time, he told.

He recalled visits of Kossuth as well as Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, to Washington Tavern. Kossuth visited here on January 14, 1852, and set the fashion for slouch hats, himself wearing one decorated with a feather during his visit.

Short sketches, too, were drawn of some of the well-known Harrisburg people of the time.

Just now when everyone faces the problem of high costs, how sensible it would be if we all turned "Spugs" and selected gifts that would be useful and bring joy as well.

was received here yesterday or the death from pneumonia in a New York hospital of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Stone, wife of former Governor William A. Stone. of Pennsylvania, now prothonotary of the Supreme Court in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Stone was a daughter of the late Judge Robert Gray White, of Wellsboro.

War Profits Doubled Estate

Pittsburgh, Dec. 12.— Henry Clay Frick, late steel magnate, art collector and multimillionaire, made his will, disposing of some $143,000,000 worth of property, in the early part of 1915,
it was learned here to-day.

With the benefit of four years' war profits, his properties have probably enhanced in value twice as much as when the will was made.

Four or five months must elapse before the final inventory of the will is completed. Charles A. Snyder, auditor general, said to-day.

The Federal tax, which is to be collected from the bequests, was found to be 25 per cent. which, by the terms of the will, must be deducted from the residuary estate. It is almost an assured fact now the bequests will be reduced at least 50 per cent, although the tax is to be collected only from the net estate, that part of the estate not bequeathed to charity or to

from the net estate, that part of the estate not bequeathed to charity or to the public.

Pennsylvania's tax wiN amount to approximately $5,000,000 it is said today, while the Federal tax, according to a conservative estimate will be $15,000,000.
