

CHILDREN HEAR CHRISTMAS TALES

Story Tellers League Holds Three Matinees on Saturday

Over one thousand children attended the story matinee held Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock by the Story Tellers' League. Three story hours were arranged in order to accommodate the crowds of kiddies anxious to hear the delightful Christmas tales, the first at Camp Curtin Junior High, under the direction of Mrs. Charles J. Wood, Jr., the second in Technical High Auditorium, supervised by Mrs. Harry G. Keffer, and the third at Edison Junior High, directed by Mrs. David J. Reese, president of the Story Tellers' League.

The matinees were most successful, the children enthusiastically greeting the stories told by members of the league. Interesting musical programs were also given. The following people assisted in making the event a success through their cooperation: Clarence H. Zorger, co-operation of the department of special activities for the school board Mrs. Samuel F. Dunkle, Miss Mildred Conkling, musical director at Camp Curtin Junior High school Miss Ella Ryan, musical director at Edison Junior High School, and Mrs. Florence Ackley Ley.

dered to be kept isolated and the house was cordoned. A short time after she escaped and within a block of the place was arrested by the city police and sent to the Dauphin county prison on the charge of breaking quarantine, and the cell in which she is confined has been isolated.

Photographs of the quarantine card in place were made by the local health department to-day and will be sent to Washington. "This is a purely health measure," said Dr. Raunick to-day. "The quarantine and following arrest were made in conformity with state law, which provides that such infectious diseases may be quarantined the same as smallpox, diphtheria and the like. We are going to clean up Harrisburg. This campaign is in full accord with the program of Col. Martin, of the State Health Department, to make Harrisburg a model city from the standpoint of health and sanitation, and the quarantine and arrest were made with the knowledge of the State, but entirely upon local initiative."

Reports to the local health officials indicated the River street house as the source of infection and Dr. Raunick felt it his duty to go deeply into the case in conformity with the law. The patient will be kept isolated until entirely recovered. The cell in the jail has been placarded.

The quarantine is regarded by State health officials as of the utmost most importance and is regarded as the first of hundreds that will occur in Pennsylvania, which is a leader in this movement before the State is cleaned up. Control of social disease to a very large extent is deemed possible by this means.

Offers to Play Santa Claus to Two Children

Santa Clause is going to be represented by at least one kindly ambassador. Donald S. Heagy, 1737 Market street, has written a letter to the Telegraph, in which he says that he will play Santa Clause to two youngsters of the city who would otherwise not be enjoying the holiday season.

Mr. Heagy's letter follows: "Kindly be advised that I will take great pleasure and find much happiness in playing Santa Claus for two fatherless kiddies, preferably a boy and a girl, between the ages of five and eight years. "I will appreciate any courtesy and effort on your part by submitting the names of two such kids or by informing any society or charitable institution of my offer. "I guarantee to make some one happy and enjoy the Christmas spirit more by bringing a kiddie's dream of 'Old Santa' to real life."
