TOY MISSION MAKES LAST GIFT APPEAL

Hundreds of Boys and Girls to Be Made Happy by Charitable People on Christmas Day

The burdens of war have been felt by the great big, blue-eyed dollies, the merry jumping jacks and all the other members of the toy world, no less than by their living mistresses and masters whose fathers answered their countries' call. Industrial paralysis has closed many a toy shop. Ask the toy men of Harrisburg, and they will tell you stocks were hard to secure. It matters not, however, what conditions prevail to make the heart of the adult world heavy—the heart of childhood should be free of care, and that is the policy that makes the Harrisburg Toy Mission a real charity with a throbbing heart and a breathing soul.

Need Quick Action. "But if any good is to come of donations," said Mrs. William Jennings to-day, "they should be made at once. These gifts should be toys, dolls, skates, sleighs—any of the thousand and one articles so dear to the hearts of little folks. Or if one desires to contribute cash the donation will be used for the purchase of articles most in demand. Contributions should be sent to the Toy Mission, 119 South Front street, and the Toy Mission is open all day long." Considerable rivalry is being manifested in the city. The State Health department challenged the Highway department to attempt to contribute as many toys and as much money as the Health Department. The Highway folks accepted the challenge. Several city school buildings are doing something of the same sort. Sunday schools next Sunday will contribute toys. The Kiwanis Club members Thursday will take toys to their weekly luncheon. The Rotary Club to-morrow may surprise the Toy Mission backers. The Elks and other fraternal organizations are interested.

And in the meantime 119 South Front street, is looking more and more like Santa Claus' shop. Hundreds of boys and girls are going to be made happy.

Nationwide Appeal to Be Made by Railway Heads For Return of Roads

New York, Dec. 15.—Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, announced that the fundamental facts of the railroad situation would be presented to the country by means of national advertising. The opening statement, to appear in the daily newspapers during the next few days, is signed by nearly a hundred executives of the principal railroads. It will be followed by a series of advertisements in the daily and weekly newspapers and in other publications.

"The unmistakable verdict of public opinion," said Mr. Cuyler, in making the announcement of the plan of the railroad companies, "is that this great national industry shall continue to be conducted by private companies under strict public regulation. Modern railroad companies, of course, are not private affairs. Their capital is subscribed by a vast number of individual investors, as well as by institutions, such as savings banks and life insurance companies, holding the savings of millions of people, and they are subject to the most minute regulation by the public authorities. In Europe such corporations are called public companies, and this name more accurately describes them."

Boy Bandit Shoots Man, Robs Him and Wounds a Detective

Washington, Dec. 15.—Entering an automobile tire repair shop here yesterday, John McHenry, who gave St. Louis as his home and nineteen as his age, shot and killed William W. Mulcare, the proprietor, robbed Mulcare of a small sum of money, and later before detectives in the Union station could arrest him, shot and probably fatally wounded James E. Armstrong, a city detective.

On entering the repair shop McHenry, according to James Sheldon, a witness, demanded the contents of the cash register. Mulcare under pretext of delivering the money, fired at the youthful bandit, who dodged behind a showcase and then shot Mulcare through the heart.

When cornered in the Union station by the police, McHenry fired three shots, one of which struck Detective Armstrong in the stomach.

Look to London For Some Definite Action

By Associated Press. Washington, Dec. 15.—Leaders of both major factions of the Senate are hopeful that from the London conferences of the British and French Premiers may come, possibly in a few days, some responsible action toward acceptance of Senate reservations which might lead to the Treaty's ratification.

There appeared lessened hope, however, that a solution might be reached with the Knox resolution as a basis. The agreement of Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, to support the Knox resolution, gave rise to this hope. The view was expressed last night, however, that opposition of Senator Borah and probably others of the "irreconcilables" to a compromise ratification, taken together with the President's statement, had reduced materially any prospect for such ratification.

Effect of the President's statement on the Democratic leadership contest between Senators Hitchcock and Underwood also was a subject of much Senatorial speculation last night.

Legion Chiefs to Tell of Pennsylvania's Need

Washington, Dec. 15.—Two representatives of the American Legion of Pennsylvania are in Washington to present the needs of Pennsylvanians assembled there for a needed readjustment of Governmental agencies and legislation affecting the former service men and women. This conference will consist of the state officers of the American Legion from every state in the nation headed by National Commander Franklin D'Olier, who arrived in Washington on Friday.

William G. Murdock, department adjutant of Pennsylvania, and Thomas Meehan, who is chairman of the State Committee of Employment, are the Keystone State representatives at the conference between Legionnaires and Federal officials, and it is intended thus to get into the hands of those administering the affairs of the nation the needs and desires of the former service men and women, first handed. The conference was arranged by Director Cholmondeley-Jones, of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

George F. Tyler, commander of the department of Pennsylvania of the American Legion, will go to Pittsburgh to-day to participate in the "Get Together Week" program.

Sir Robert Borden May Quit as Premier

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—The report that Sir Robert Borden is about to retire as Canadian premier, is strengthened with the announcement that after a conference of doctors last week Sir Robert was given medical orders to give up public life. A meeting of Unionist leaders has been called to consider the question of his successor. The report of Premier Borden's pending retirement was simultaneous with a rumor that he had been asked to accept the post of British ambassador to Washington. The premier was asked to say about the truth of this rumor and replied: "I have nothing to say about the matter."

German Banker Urges an International Loan

Hamburg, Dec. 15.—An international loan to be guaranteed by all nations is suggested by Max Warburg, a German banker, who was invited to attend the International Economic Conference at London, but was unable to be present. Herr Warburg was one of the German financial delegates to the Peace Conference. Mr. Warburg points to the necessity of establishing German credit, in a report he has made to the Congress of the Council for Alleviating Hunger.

He states that the world war can be healed in a financial respect only by the whole world for it would be impossible to conceive an interchange of goods throughout the whole world

In the same manner as before the war.

The League of Nations, Herr Warburg said, could promote this plan "if it were a real league," but it would have to be altered so that all countries should be included. Since time is precious, he said, there should be created an international loan whereby debts which have been made and debts which are likely to be incurred can be regulated.

Clean Bread... Cleanliness is next to Godliness. Do you realize that unwrapped bread is handled, between the bakery and your table, by four or five persons, including wagon drivers, and that in the store and wagon it is exposed to dust? Only bread wrapped and sealed at the bakery reaches your home in a thoroughly sanitary condition. Added to HOLSUM'S sanitary wrapper is the fact that it is made practically without contact of hands in a sunny and spotlessly clean modern bakery. Better bread isn't baked than HOLSUM.
