SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING PLANS

Executive Committee of Sabbath School Association Plan Session

A meeting of Sunday school teachers, officers and Sunday school workers of the borough churches will be held in St. John's Lutheran Church on January 18, according to plans announced to-day by J. A. Finley, president of the Steelton district.

Plans for the meeting were outlined at a meeting of the executive committee in Centenary United Brethren Church. The local district known as No. 6 of the Dauphin County Sabbath School Association is composed of members from twelve schools in the borough. The executive committee members who serve as officers of the local organization are: President, J. A. Finley; vice-president, Russell Rupp; second vice-president, Charles Howard; secretary, Fred Connor; Harry Saunders, head of the adult Bible class division; Mrs. W. F. Maginnis, head of the young folks department; Miss Helm, teacher training; John T. Hulbert, missionary; Charles W. McCoy, rural work and John Cooper, treasurer.

The meeting next month which will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon will be addressed by one of the State workers. After the address a meeting of the superintendents and teachers of the various schools will be held.

A feature of the program will be selections of an augmented choir composed of persons selected from the choirs of the churches. Russell Rupp, chorister of St. John's Lutheran Church choir, will direct the choir.

CEMETERY ROAD IN POOR SHAPE

Steelton Residents Complaining About Miserable Condition of Thoroughfare

Residents of the borough are complaining about the miserable condition of a stretch of road between the borough limits and the Baldwin cemetery. This road is the only one leading to the cemetery and is used mostly by automobiles, almost exclusively for funerals.

It is understood that the road is under the jurisdiction of the supervisors of Swatara township and that no repairs have been made on this stretch of highway for some time. It is a section of a "back road" to Oberlin which has not been used for some years, residents say, because it is in such poor shape that it is not passable. Local residents are not concerned about the road beyond the cemetery entrance but feel that some action should be taken by authorities to make repairs to the road leading into the cemetery. It is about a mile long and is considered almost impassable. Residents say they are compelled to use it when a funeral is held. The road is in such a wretchedly wet condition that automobile drivers using the road when a funeral is held declare it was almost impossible to keep their machines in the road and furthermore, the thoroughfare was practically impassable. Local lo-day declared their intentions to see that the road is put into good condition and will use every means available to accomplish their ends.

Many Attend the Funeral of Prof. L. E. McGinnis

The funeral of Prof. L. E. McGinnis, superintendent of the borough schools and known throughout the State through his connections with the State educational societies for years, held in the First Presbyterian Church this afternoon. The Rev. C. B. Segelken, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church officiated. A large number of local residents as well as a large number of local residents attended. The funeral was a beautiful floral robe presented by school children and teachers was among the scores of remembrances.

Civic Club Making Plans For Community Xmas Tree

Similar activities to those of previous years in observing the Christmas holidays will be held by the Civic Club according to plans outlined by officers of the club. The program includes the Christmas treat for the children and the community tree. The children will be given in the Trinity parish house, Pine street, the day before Christmas at 3 o'clock. The community Christmas tree, which was planted in the high school campus last year in fine condition, and will be decorated with lights which will be illuminated every evening until after New Year's Day. A community singing festival will likely be held under the tree on New Year's eve.

RAILROADS SHOW ACTIVITY; COAL TRAINS ARE MANY

Freight activity on railroads is again in evidence, and if the motive power holds out, officials look for record-breaking shipments between now and January 1. On the Pennsylvania yesterday it was almost continuous run of soft coal trains east. The Reading picked up, having been holding to about 500 cars a day. Now it looks like twice as many each day. Considering the cold weather engines have been holding their own. If the temperature does not get down below zero, and good coal is furnished for all engines, engineers and firemen say there will be good results. The restoration of the trains that had been annulled because of the coal shortage as well as that of the parlor car service, was hailed with delight to-day by the patrons of the Pennsylvania railroad. As each of the restored trains left the station during the day there were many people availing themselves of the service. The demand for parlor car accommodations is extraordinary, as the traffic grows heavier with the approach of the holiday season. During the present week many of the schools over the country will close down for the holidays and this will have a tendency to crowd the trains in all directions. Firemen for 201, 209, 219, 241, 250 and 252. Conductors for 225, 255. Flagmen for none. Brakemen for (2)204, 243, (2)247, 227, 242, 213, 2. I was there to make a sketch of children's hour like a feast. For the her. Luncheon was just over, and she was talking to a little knot of women. The first words I heard, and I said quietly into a near neighbor, "National Biscuit," recalling pleasantly my own tasty Uneeda Lunches of Fig Newtons and, rarest of all, I liked her, and settled comfortably as usual. "Between the dark and daylight," she was quoting, "there's always a bit of pause when all the children are waiting and wondering what I've done. Then, to top it all off, they must feed babies. I've often thought, 'I wonder what they would think if they saw me now. They'd say, 'You're just like a national biscuit.'" I started up happily, and it made me sure they must feed babies.
