The directors of the Harrisburg Hotel Company, owners of the Penn-Harris, held a meeting this afternoon, and it is understood the matter of an enlargement of the big hotel was considered. The first year of operation has established the necessity for at least 150 more rooms and there seems little doubt that these will be provided during the coming year.

Cameron street, from one end to the other, is rapidly becoming a wholesale and manufacturing district. When the Paxton creek menace was eliminated through the construction of the control dam a few years ago, the results were immediately apparent in the important changes along that street. So long as the Paxton creek was a rampaging stream, overflowing and flooding the valley from Wildwood park to the river at frequent intervals, the whole section was held back in its development.

It is believed among conservative real estate men that the overcoming of the present housing conditions here will mean a tremendous step forward in the expansion of manufacturing and industrial plants. Harrisburg has taken its proper place as a great distributing center.

Fire Burns Resort Hotel at Loss of $100,000

By Associated Press
Sea Girt, N. J., Dec. 16.—Fire destroyed the Bigget's Park Hotel here today causing an estimated loss of $100,000. Charles A. Schroeder, of Jersey City, sportsman, aviator, and automobile racer, was seriously hurt in jumping from a second-story window, sustaining a broken foot, severe lacerations of the left leg and possible internal injuries. He was removed to the Squan House, at Manasquan.

Albert Craig, the hotel manager, and eight other men escaped, several of them leaping from second story windows.

The fire originated in the kitchen of the hotel, which was owned by John A. Bigget, of Jersey City. The hotel, a two-story frame structure, was erected on the site of that destroyed by fire in October, 1918.

GYM MEMBERS ATTEND BANQUET

Give Their Instructor Testimonial Watch and Chain; Hear Health Talks

The gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. was filled to overflowing last evening, when ninety per cent. of the membership of the businessmen's gym classes held their annual dinner there. The members presented C. W. Miller, the physical instructor, with a handsome gold watch and chain as a testimonial of their esteem, and then screen pictures and other features of an entertaining nature followed.

Arthur D. Bacon, in the absence of Al. K. Thomas, chairman of the physical work division, who was ill, acted as toastmaster. The principal speaker of the evening was Colonel Edward Martin, State Health Commissioner, who talked on physical fitness, the advantages of gym work and the necessity of fresh air, proper food and daily exercise. He paid a high compliment to the work of the "Y" during the war. Another speaker was Robert B. Reeves, general secretary, who told of the growth of the association in recent years and said that the way to get the new building or an enlargement of the present structure is literally to "push the walls out" by increasing the membership. He paid a high compliment to his fellow workers, "short" Miller, assistant physical instructor and one of the most popular members of the staff, also spoke.

During the evening the guests sang popular songs and enjoyed a series of gym cartoons thrown on the screen, showing Dr. Frank Kann, George G. McFarland and other volleyball celebrities in characteristic poses. Arrangements were made also for the organization of a volleyball league.

The program was proceeding pleasantly enough, when John S. Musser threw a scare into the audience by arising in his place and declaring "Doc" Miller untrustworthy for "always starting his classes late" and being generally unsystematic in his conduct of affairs of the gym, and "Dick" Jobe added fuel to the fire by saying that Musser had not gone far enough; that Miller never observed his schedules and was always behind time. Captain George F. Lumb arose to the defense of the physical instructor and denounced the complainants, at the same time producing the gold watch and chain, with which, he said, Miller henceforth would be able to keep the best of time. The big crowd cheered itself hoarse and "Doc" had to respond with a speech of acceptance.

The dinner was the largest and most enthusiastic of its kind in the history of the gym.

Y. M. C. A. to Entertain on New Year's Day

The social committee of the Y. M. C. A. at yesterday's meeting concluded plans for their annual open house to be held at the Central "Y" January 1. Plans for the open house include an unusual entertainment to be held at Fahnestock Hall in the evening for the members and their friends.

The poor children of Harrisburg are coming in for their share of the fun on New Year's Day, too, for the entertainment committee has decided that each child will be given a little gift, and an afternoon's entertainment will be provided in Fahnestock Hall for the children alone.

The complete program for the day will be announced shortly.

Tech High School Boys Hear Recruiting Talk

A visit was made to Technical High school this morning by Captain John McL. Smith, in the interest of the recruiting work of the Eighth Regiment. Captain Smith addressed the High school boys during the assembly period. He was introduced by "Buddie" Lingle, chairman of the assembly for the morning.

Captain Smith announced that a vigorous campaign is now being started to recruit Company D, Headquarters and Supply Companies in the Harrisburg district. A request for a show of hands as to how many boys were 18 or over resulted in a very satisfactory showing, indicating a wealth of recruitable material at Tech.

The proposition of joining up with the local companies was then gone over as thoroughly as the space of time would permit. The drill requirements, the issuing of equipment, the rate of pay, and the plans for the summer camp at Mt. Gretna were touched on. Special attention was paid to the work of the supply company, in which Captain Smith is interested.

The talk was closed with an appeal for support of this proposition, with special emphasis laid upon the privilege of wearing the Red Key-stone, which will be the official insignia of the reorganized Twenty-Eighth Division.
