

SANTA COMING IN AIRPLANE

Will Be Here Saturday Afternoon; Headquarters at Bowman and Company

Drifted roads will have no terror for old Santa Claus this year, and even if one of the reindeer team does develop a case of spavin or an attack of epizootic, or something of the sort, the old gentleman is going to arrive in Harrisburg on scheduled time.

Turkeys and Poultry FOR SALE

Carload of Virginia and nearby birds. All weights. Also fancy dressed poultry.

H. M. STEES
134 SOUTH CAMERON, ST. CITY

Word reached the store of Bowman and Company yesterday that Santa has decided to make the journey from his North Pole home to the big Market street department store by airplane.

The "ad" man at Bowman's saw a big chance for publicity and he grabbed it right off the bat, just like a New York Giant catcher taking a foul tip.

He sent a wireless right away to the good old saint to make Bowman's headquarters while in the city, and Santa messaged back: "Glad to pay you a visit. My airplane will sail over your store sometime between 2 and 3 o'clock, when I will drop my big red sack on your roof or just in front of the building. If you can find a place for me I will meet the boys and girls and maybe stay over for a few days as nearly all my year's work is done, the packages wrapped and only a little more scouting to do just before Christmas Eve."

"All right," replied Santa, "watch for me Saturday afternoon."

HOLIDAY PAGEANT TO BE PRESENTED BY A BIG CAST

Sheep to Be Taken From the Nearby Farms For Christmas Entertainment

Real sheep, gathered in from the hillsides and farms of Dauphin county, will participate prominently in the "Pageant of the Nativity," which will be staged on the Capitol Plaza Christmas night, at 7 o'clock, as Harrisburg's community observance of Christmas. It was announced at the offices of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce to-day, The Community Service Bureau of the Chamber, in co-operation with a number of civic bodies of Harrisburg, is staging the ambitious pageant.

These sheep will be guarded by ten shepherds, who will be characterized by well-known Harrisburgers. They will be seen in the distance, as the star of Bethlehem is represented shining over the manger in which Joseph and Mary will be personified. This manger will be on the stage in front of the Capitol entrance.

Three Harrisburgers, whose names will be announced within a day or so, will take the parts of the Three Wise Men of the East. These three storied Men of Old will be seen wending their way through the snow to the manger, while their progress is pointed out and illuminated by a shaft of light from a spotlight.

Among the organizations which will participate are the Boy and Girl Scouts of Harrisburg. The Girl Scouts will sing the carol "Good King Wenceslas." Other musical accompaniment, both instrumental and vocal, will be furnished by the Municipal Band, the city choir and the juvenile chorus, all of whom have contributed their services free of charge.

It is promised that the lighting effects which will enhance the tableaux will be one feature of the program worth seeing. Trained electricians and their helpers will erect lights designed to make a striking effect when they are turned on the evening of the pageant.

Among the co-operating organizations are the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, Civic Club, Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Ministerial Association, Harrisburg Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, Central Labor Union, Red Cross, Daughters of the American Revolution, the Wednesday Club and the Boy and Girl Scouts.

Packers, in ex parte hearings in Washington and other cities which were sensational in their revelations of financial manipulation by means of dummy directors, bearer warrants and other devices to conceal the persons involved.

Agreement Binding
An injunction decree, to which the packers have assented, will be entered in the Federal courts to make the agreement binding. Under its terms, the big five—Swift, Armour, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy—have agreed.

To sell under supervision of the United States District Court, preferably to the livestock producers and all their holdings in public stock yards.

To sell, under the same supervision, and in like manner all their interests in stock yard railroads and terminals.

To sell, under the same supervision, and in like manner all their interests in market newspapers.

To forever disassociate themselves with the retail meat business.

Give Up "Sidelines"
To forever disassociate themselves with all "unrelated lines," including wholesale groceries, fresh, canned, dried or salted fish, dried or canned vegetables, fresh, crushed, dried, evaporated or canned fruits, confectioneries, syrups, soda water, molasses, etc.

To forever abandon the use of the branch houses, route cars and automobile trucks, comprising their distribution system, for any other than their own meat and dairy products.

To perpetually submit to the jurisdiction of the United States District Courts under an injunction prohibiting the defendants from directly or indirectly maintaining any combination, or conspiracy with each other or any other person or persons, or monopolizing or attempting to monopolize, any food products in the United States, or indulging in any unfair and unlawful practice.

The decree further provides the jurisdiction is perpetually retained by the courts for the purpose of taking such other action, or adding to the force of the decree such other relief, if any, that may become necessary or appropriate for the carrying out and enforcement of the decrees or for the purpose of entertaining at any time hereafter in the application which the parties may make with respect to this decree.

Two Years to Comply
Two years are given to comply with the decree, which affects eighty-seven corporations and forty-nine individuals.

"In general," said Attorney General Palmer's official announcement last night, "this decree prevents the defendants from exercising any further control over the marketing of livestock. It forces them to get out from any control over the retailing of meat products. It eliminates them from the field of meat substitutes, such as fresh, dried, butter, poultry and cheese, which are left for future consideration and appropriate action; and, therefore, the price of meat is within the control of the people themselves. It places the conduct of these great aggregations of capital immediately under the eye of a Federal Court with reference to their business practices."

"But greater than all, it establishes the principle that no group of men, no matter how powerful, may ever attempt to control the food table of the American people, or any one of the necessities or component parts of it."

"The Department of Justice, having in mind the necessities and interests of the whole American people in this critical reconstruction period, feels that by insisting upon this surrender on the part of packing interests it has accomplished more for the American people than could have been hoped for as the result of a long drawn out legal battle."

Packers Face Huge Task in Disposal of Their Diversified Activities

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Segregation or disposal of commercial lines not directly allied with the meat and provision business of the five great packing companies, as agreed upon between them and the United States Attorney General, will involve reorganization of a huge industry with assets of more than $1,000,000,000.

The agreement was regarded by the packers as marking an epoch in industry in that for the first time big business has to be run on a public opinion, recognizing it as one of the basic supports of commerce.

The packers say that heretofore they have conducted their business upon economics and legality. They have been sure of their economic and equally certain of the legality of their business methods, they say, and now they have taken account of the good will of the public.

Many New Companies
In diverting their lines not directly connected with the meat and provision business, many organizations with separate identities involving millions of capital, are expected to come into being. Some of them already had begun the segregation process.

In the reorganization the firm name of Armour & Company, Swift & Company, Morris Companies, Wilson and Company and the Cudahy Packing Company are expected to be absent from the controlling boards of the corporations.

The five packing companies will be restricted to meats and provisions including butter, eggs, poultry and cheese. While the meat and provision agreement under the stockyard agreement terminals and other interests not directly related to meat and provisions, were not separated from ownership of refrigerator car lines, but the use of these was restricted to handling their meat business.

To Retain By-Products
According to packers' representatives, soap, glue, cleansing powder and fertilizer manufacturing is directly connected with meat business and will be retained.

Groceries, canned fruits and vegetables, cereals and leather were among the most expected to be dropped by the packing companies to other concerns.

Brard, French Pianist at Technical High Dec. 26

The child pianist of France who created such a furor by her rendition of Saint-Saens G Minor concerto as soloist with the New York Symphony Orchestra in this city last November, is to be heard here again when Mlle. Madeleine Brard appears in Technical High school on Friday evening, December 26. Mlle. Brard will be assisted by Frederick Gunster, American tenor.

Many interesting stories are told of Mlle. Brard, who comes to this country as the special representative of the French government.

When "La Petite Mademoiselle" as Madeleine Brard is often called, came out onto the great Metropolitan Opera House stage, one late afternoon last January, to rehearse a Saint-Saens concerto, the following evening a surprise was in store.

The men were tired, after another rehearsal and shifted themselves restlessly in their chairs when they saw this little 15-year-old girl in a knee-length frock and black tights, kneeling back onto the platform.

Mlle. Brard seated herself at the piano with all the calmness and self-assurance of a mature artist. She played through the long concerto with great brilliancy without a hitch or correction, extracting from it all the beauty of tone and color it contained. These old and well-acquainted musicians were amazed and delighted, and as soon as she had finished every man stood up and applauded this little lady of France until she was embarrassed for the first time.

Membership in New Frat Is Based on Merit

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 19.—An honor fraternity, to be known as the Delta Phi Alpha, has been organized in the school of life insurance salesmanship of the Carnegie Institute of Technology here, the first of its kind in the country.

Membership in the fraternity is based on merit, the organization holding the same relative position to the "insurance profession," the students say, as the other honor professional fraternities have held to the legal, medical and teaching professions.
