MANY CHRISTIANS FLEEING MOSLEMS

Fear of Further Massacres Causing Members to Abandon Homes

Diarbekir, Turkey, Dec. 20.—Fear of the further massacres is causing numbers of Christians in this region to abandon their homes and seek safety in the territory occupied by the British, whose nearest post is at Ourfa.

For days there has been a steady procession of carriages, containing families with all their possessions, on the road to the southward. Many of the carriages are headed for Aleppo, which means a hot, dusty journey of several hundred miles across the plain.

The immediate cause of this exodus of Christians is the attitude of their Moslem neighbors, coupled with the notorious reputation that Diarbekir won for itself in the massacres and deportations a few years ago, but back of it is a feeling of restlessness because of the fact that months have passed since the armistice and as yet nothing has been done to guarantee the security of the non-Moslem population.

Take No Heed of Promises The Near East relief, the American organization which is distributing aid to the survivors of the massacres through a station in Diarbekir, has succeeded in obtaining assurance from the authorities that the Christians are only to consider that if disorders begin, they will not, at least, be at the open instigation of the government. It does not entirely promise protection and therefore the Christians, afraid that the Moslems may turn against them at any moment, are electing to seek safety in flight.

Faking of German Soldiers in Berlin Is Trailed by Police

Berlin, Dec. 20.—All the organizations for alleviating the lot of the war wounded have joined with the Ministry of Labor to put an end finally to the begging by the pretended wounded soldiers who clutter the principal streets of Berlin. On all sides one sees men whose arms have been "severed" (by strapping them to their bodies), or who feign to be suffering from shellshock and shake pitifully, after learning in a Berlin school the approved methods of shaking. Investigation has shown that these people collect up to 200 marks daily from their faking.
