

Adalbert K. Fischer, Held as Enemy Alien,
Is Released on Parole

By Associated Press
Philadelphia, Dec. 23.—Adalbert K. Fischer, former general manager of the Schutte & Koerting Co., who was interned by the United States Government at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., on the charge of being a dangerous-enemy alien, has been paroled.

He reported at the office of United States Attorney Kane yesterday to make arrangements for complying with the orders on which he was paroled, but Mr. Kane was out. He must report once a month to the district attorney.

Fischer was released from Fort Oglethorpe. He was interned on February 9, 1918. His arrest and subsequent internment were sensational incidents during the war. The company of which Fischer was the head had a contract to manufacture various parts of war craft used by the United States.

Fischer was first arrested in connection with the smuggling of a dozen chronometers from one of the German ships which had been interned at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Federal agents asserted at the time that Fischer was planning to cripple the entire shipping program of the United States.

McKenty Declines Support of Clergy

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 23.—Robert J. McKenty, warden of the Eastern Penitentiary, attacked by a group who describe conditions there as "frightful" objects to the Baptist Ministerial Union voting on a motion expressing confidence in his management and he demanded a strict probe of the prison life.

"The deeper they dig the better I like it," he declared to the ministers meeting in the First Church, Seventeenth and Sansom streets. "I don't want sympathy. I want a thorough investigation. A man only squeals when he is hurt, and I haven't squealed. Let me have this fight, gentlemen."
