Shimmell Entertainment Is a Great Success

The pupils and teachers of the Shimmell school building gave a fine entertainment in their auditorium last evening to a crowded house. The program opened with a chorus of a hundred children singing Christmas carols. The children wore white, each waving a sprig of holly. The chorus was directed by Prof. William Harclerode, supervisor of music. Prof. Harclerode was highly complimented for the splendid way that the children responded to his directions. A number of piano solos and duets were given by Dorothy Spatz, Thella Richmond, John McLean and Mrs. Packer. Norman Witt played a solo on the mandolin. Jean Speakman and Clair Bachmoyer recited. The Misses Sara, Hess and Anita Wilson danced a Dutch dance in costume with Mary Lewis at the piano. Mrs. Anna Hamilton Wood, of the Street Sellers League, held the keen attention of the audience while she told them of the "Vain Gingerbread Man." Five reels of motion pictures were shown and the entertainment closed with the chorus again singing carols.

Smith-Savage Wedding in Reformed Parsonage

The marriage of Miss Anna Marie Savage and Harry Walter Smith, both of this city, took place last evening in the parsonage of the Reformed Salem Church, with the Rev. Dr. Ellis N. Kremer officiating. The bride, who wore a handsome traveling costume with hat to match, was attended by Miss Anna Reitzel as maid of honor and Elwood Smith as best man for his brother. Other attendants were Samuel Rubin, Mr. Morris and Arthur Kopolovitz. Mr. Smith has been connected with the firm of Wilmer & Vincent for the past seven years at the Colonial theater and is one of the most efficient motion picture operators in Central Pennsylvania. He was a sergeant with engineers located in Pittsburgh during the war. Mr. Smith is president of Local 215, I. A. T. U. M. P. O. and active in labor circles. They will reside at 712 North Sixth street.

Fine Christmas Program Tomorrow in Silk Mill

The Christmas program arranged by Mrs. J. B. Carruthers, of the Industrial Committee of the W. C. T. U. for the Harrisburg Silk Mill at noon tomorrow, will be given by pupils of the John W. Phillips studio. Carols will be sung in the men's department at 12:15 o'clock and in the lunch room at 12:30.

Leave to Spend Holidays at Newport Naval School

Jack Jessup, Ted Faxon, D. Riley Brandt, Jr., Charles Fox and Robert Smith left today to spend the holidays at the Naval Training School, Newport, R. I., as the guests of Douglas E. Visiting the Shops with Adele

ONLY one more day before Christmas in which to shop. An almost breath-taking thought, I will admit. And because there is so little time we can't afford to waste a minute of it. For that reason we must plan to visit the shops where we are sure to find suitable, reliable gift articles. One of the number to be seriously considered, if for the desired gift is for a man, is the Army and Navy Shoe Store, in Court street. You would be surprised at the number of gift suggestions found in this superior store. There are bedroom slippers, gloves, articles and hosiery of all sorts. No better quality of silk hosiery can be found anywhere and the woolen variety is a winner. He would be sure to like either kind.

Do be careful! Only a few hours remain before Christmas, it's true; but that does not mean you must rush with your shopping. No! If you choose the proper store in the first place, you can select your remaining gifts with the minimum amount of strain on your nervous system. Let me suggest such a store if your quest is for men's Christmas gifts. Go first to McFall's and you need not go farther. McFall's goods need no introduction to the people of Harrisburg; I know; but I can't resist saying that they are good, better, best. I venture to say that nowhere else will you find ties of such quality and design for the price found there. The same thing holds true of bathrobes and shirts, or any of their stock.

PERHAPS one of the most fascinating bits of art's a well-done miniature. Surely, it is for a man, is the Army and Navy Shoe Store, in Court street. You would be surprised at the number of gift suggestions found in this superior store. There are bedroom slippers, gloves, articles and hosiery of all sorts. No better quality of silk hosiery can be found anywhere and the woolen variety is a winner. He would be sure to like either kind.

ONE more present to buy and you don't know what it shall be. The time is short and oh, well, you have a big notion to just select the first thing that you see. Don't! Visit the Dauphin Electrical Supplies Company, 434 Market street, first. You will be amazed to discover how many interesting gifts a visit there will suggest. Santa Claus just delights in sticking them into his pack. Some are too large, of course; but he delivers them just the same, knowing how much joy they will bring on Christmas morning. A few of the many are stand lamps, toasters, grills, electric irons, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, curling irons and percolators.

STORES, like homes, have an atmosphere all their own. Some are continually topsy-turvy and wildly confused, with Bedlam reigning supreme. To merely enter them is to unconsciously set your nerves on edge. The clerk seems to take no interest in you and your wants, rushing the sale with all possible speed. Then, there are the stores where an atmosphere of quiet refinement prevails. The salespeople are thoroughly competent and decidedly eager to assist you in every possible way. The treatment is courteous and you are made to feel that your individual needs are paramount. Such a shop is the Cloos Shop—the home of beautiful garments. To visit it once is to frequently repeat the pleasant experience.

TRIANGLE CLUB IN FORMAL DANCE

Invitations Being Issued This Week; Famous Detroit Orchestra to Play

Invitations for the Triangle Dance to be held in Winterdale Hall, New Year's eve, are being issued this week. One of the most interesting features of this big holiday event will be the music played by the famous Bernard Jazz Orchestra of Detroit, Michigan, which will appear here for the first time in a dance program of the latest hits. Dancing will continue through the close of the Old Year into the New, lasting until two o'clock.

This is the first formal event to be held by the club in a number of years. During the war the members all served in some branch of the Army and since their return to this city have given nothing but informal dances. These events, however, have been among the most delightful of the last few social seasons, and the dance New Year's eve will undoubtedly exceed any of the former ones given by the club.

The committee comprises Charles Barnes, Mottor Fletcher, Joseph Claster, Harry McFadden, Paul Rice, Reed Shuey, Joseph Smith, Paul Rowler and Clarence Wissler.
