

UNION COUNTY STAR & LEWISBURG CHRONICLE--JUNE 10, 1859.

Curiosity Gratified and Satisfied.
(Some New-Porters are renowned for their prying curiosity. Their peculiarity is pointedly hit by the following, which says the Newport Daily News, is "named at somebody's.")

Duncan Poll, Esq., has just commenced the erection of a new fence in front of his mansion, on Mary street, in this city. One of the posts is the following in manuscript:

"The proposed fence is to be 60 feet long, 3½ feet rails over coping; to be finished this week. Mr. Eaton, the carpenter, and Mr. Fiddler the mason. The work is to be done by the day."

"Terms cash."

"Messrs. Finch & Engs furnish the lumber."

"I hope this will be satisfactory to the public." DUNCAN POLL.

"April 25, 1859."

(Conclusion of the sleeve-thitting legend.)

It was on the first night of the dry month of May, '59—the month of flowers and balmy zephyrs, passionate attraction, green peas and other affinities, that Duncan Poll lay buried in the arms of slumber.

A loud and terrible rapping aroused him. It was continued. Rap—rap, rap! Starting from sleep, Duncan looked forth into the moonlight. A dark form was pounding away at the door. As Poll looked from the window, the form cried aloud:

"Say—yea—Mister Poll!—be you a gain to have this ore fence white or yellow washed?"

THE FARMER'S SONG.

Awake and sing the song,
The farmer loves so well;

Awake, the strain prolonging.

With full and hearty swell,

In Eden's soft soil weegan,

And God the tool has blessed to man.

Ye tribes of farmers, hail!

The Kestrel's pride and boast—

From every hill and vale,

Far inland, and the coast.

Ye hearty throng of farmers strong

With heart and voice lead off the song.

Join, all ye farmers' wives,

And take the tribe parts,

Ye blessings of our lives;

And captors of our hearts;

Ye lovely throng of mothers dear,

Join in the song with hearty cheer.

Ye daughters of the land,

The farmer's pride and joy,

A choice and blooming band,

So modest, fair and gay;

Of country girls, ye heastens thine,

With smiles and carols join in the song.

Ye farmer's sons, arise—

The future good and great,

The learned and the wise,

The future pillars of the State;

Ye ardent throng of farmer's young,

Join in the song with heart and tongue;

Hark! how the rural choir

Their joyful anthems raise,

While faith and hope inspire.

The harvest hymn of praise;

The happy throng of farmers strong

In concert raise the choral song.

RATHER TOO GOOD TO BE LOST.—Late-ly, a countryman from Franklin county wandered to the Gaiety Theatre, to witness the tragedy of "Othello." Mr. Crisp personated the Moor on the occasion, and we must say looked the character to perfection. The delegate from Franklin appeared highly satisfied until the scene in the Duke's palace, where black Othello is arraigned for marrying the fair and beautiful Desdemona. Here he knit his brows, and looked daggers at the sooty General; but when Desdemona herself entered and joined in the defence of her husband, he turned and threw his arm gently about her waist, thelegate went off in a towering passion, swearing it was "a d—d Black Republican play, not to be tolerated by the Southern people," and walked out of the house.—Nashville (Tenn.) Patriot.

An Austrian police officer lately pointed on a volume of Plato (Greek) in the trunk of an American traveler: "There may be something improper here," said the official Dogberry.

"Impossible!" replied the traveler. "It is the work of an ancient philosopher."

"What of that?" exclaimed the ass; "how do I know he didn't write against the Austrian government?"

"Yes," said a kind mother of one of our city churches, helping her little son learn his Sunday school lesson, "Cain was a fugitive and vagabond in the earth; he was so bad that he thought every man would kill him. Where could wicked Cain go?"

"Why, mother," replied thoughtful Johny, "Cain could have gone to New York."

Two editors "Down South" are quarrelling about the distinction between James Buchanan and a "Black Republican," and a third editor interposes and advises them to keep quiet, as neither Buchanan or the "Black Republicans" have enough friends in the neighborhood to make the fight interesting.

The following is said to be the Devil's analysis of the soul of a "Doughface":

"There," said the Devil, holding it up, "do you call that thing a soul?"

A correspondent of the Lumpkin (Ga.) Jallodium recommends a person by the name of Richard A. Turnipseed of the South Carolinian stock of politicians as a suitable candidate for Congress in the 2d District. The Alabama Citizen seems anxious to know whether the proposed candidate is a "Rutabaga" or a "Flat Top."

Somebody goeth it thus: "A married man should let his wife have the management of the Home Department, and give her as Secretary the whole control of the different bureaus. Don't let her have anything to do with the War Department."
