

UNION COUNTY STAR & LEWISBURG CHRONICLE--JULY 15, 1859.

Lewisburg, Pa.

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 15, 1859.

A few days ago we received from the State of New Jersey a copy of their "Advertiser," which contains a number of advertisements, all of which are of interest to us.

See New Advertisements.

Next hand--in today's "Star & Chronicle," may be found new advertisements of lands for sale in Illinois, and in New Jersey--the two moderate extremes East and West. For our part--"conservative" and "national" as we notoriously are--we conceive that a "moral cause is the best," and Lewisburg and Union County about the best town and country in the world. For those disposed to migrate, however, Stephenson county is doubtless a good place, a fair access to bountiful markets, New Jersey--half between the great cities New York and Philadelphia--is the best state in the Union. See advertisements under Real Estate head.

The "Danville Herald" has an article on the power of the press, and its general advantages to national enterprises especially. From these two considerations, it argues that "advertisers are fully entitled to the courtesy of a free nation on railroad." There is much truth in the position assuming yet the claim is far too extensive. Lastly, it may often be only just. But we prefer to pursue our way, and when we do any special work for a railway company, we want clear pay-off. That is much that we expect to do for the public well-governed. We have sometimes had five guineas, which we never used, and should much prefer that each party should pay directly for every favor received. But in all others we must neglect their business, and can neither have, by this very facility of riding "They ride upon the back of the government," like men trying to step up a garrison ticket. We thank such who have been ruined by just such "façons." Every editor should feel perfectly independent when riding, and fear--for his sake and the public's sake--to judgment, as, say, upon railroads, engineers, "magnificent conductors," &c., without even so much as the hue of a "freelance." Hence we propose, also, that such as we will now pay for may have no right to neglect the interests of the public, or to offer any manner of mere "magnificent compensation," in "rewards," &c., &c. As you see, all will write what they please in the pockets of others. This saves friction, and is content with no better warning, to let play the old adage.

On Saturday, June 15, we received with a copy of our new sailing, and "Domestic News & Program," in which we see signs of union and firm-looking lands of a country very sparingly.

We see that they have more straighforward action than their former present--more and more denials of the right of secession of the present rulers from the spirit of liberty. The Dr. is most bold, in showing that "National Democracy" is founded upon slavery, as nearly all of his Scripture references are to the supposed creation of the Hebrews and other servants in past ages, when polygamy was permitted because of the hardness of their hearts. We rejoice to see the Dr. looking so well, and hope he may return safely from his anticipated trip to Florida.

We can see no public benefit in spreading before the public the names and unbridled qualities of leaders of the quill in any live news, when they happen to call on each other. Those who crave that sort of notoriety, are generally too vain already, and quite willing to pay back, with compound interest, any windy nothing of that sort. But many of our readers, at home and abroad, will reply to see the name of Mr. D. Gerrish, who served him thus with Genl. Frick, and printed a paper in Lehighsburg in 1839--3. He spent the 4th in his native land--looks as if his present home, (Stark county, Ohio,) agreed with him in mind and body--and reports Mr. M. Swartz, a fellow apprentice, flourishing in Illinois. A good old age to the retired Typist!

Mrs. Van Vars and Smith--for a long time in the establishment--have purchased the interest of John A. Walls in the firm of J. & J. Walls, which is consequently dissolved, after doing a large business for twenty years, of which fifteen years was in this place. If the new firm can equal the good will of as large a pile of customers as the old, we think they will be satisfied.

One of the most laughable exhibitions of the "immortal 4th," was that at Freeport, Ill., where a procession of "Pike's Peak gold diggers" came into town, dressed in a costume suitable to the sad condition of the victims of that humbug. Some of the actors were real returned emigrants, but the one that represented himself as Horace Greeley, was, we suspect, an impostor.

Two of our Lancaster county exchanges guess at the number of bushels of Wheat raised in that county this year. The Union says Four Millions, and the Herald says Two Millions. There is a good margin for an honest difference of opinion.

Levi Kline, Esq., of Lebanon, is appointed Chairman of the Opposition State Committee, and B. Bush Petrik, Esq., of Lock Haven, Member for this Terrestrial Empire.

The Catalogue of the Lewisburg Female Institute, for 1859, is just issued. It comprises the names of 5 persons wholly and 2 partially employed as Teachers--and of 82 pupils.

The late Catalogue of the other departments of the University embraces 7 full instructors and 129 pupils--which, with the Institute, give a sum total of 14 Instructors and 211 Students in the University at Lewisburg.

Simply an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that the Trustees of Union Seminary, New Berlin, have resolved to take an advanced grade in their educational facilities. Rev. F. Headrick (most competent Instructor) is elected to the chief charge of the literary department. Mrs. Owings retaining his position as business manager and President of the Corporation.

We have received the First Catalogue of the Missionary Institute at Sunnyside. It gives the names of seven persons more or less engaged in the department of instruction--Rev. Dr. Kutz, President of the Theological Department, and Theophilus Weaver, A. M., Principal of the Collegiate department. There are 26 pupils in the theological course, $0 in the interior, and $4 in the latter school--119 different names, in all. Of these, more than half are from the immediate vicinity of the Institute--most of whom, in all probability, would not have undertaken an advanced course of study, but for the establishment of the enterprise in their midst. It is thus that the energies of learning develop dormant energies, whenever they are located, and thereby tend to elevate the condition of any people. The fine building erected, and that under process (the exhalation walls) have been built through the liberality of the citizens of Sunnyside and vicinity--a debt to their enterprise and their good-will for a meritorious cause.

Bob Tyler's Democratic Address is about as long as the Address that were when he and a few others were trying to form a "Tyler party." Whether the "Bob" party will be as large as Tyler's was, after he leaves the White House mountain. Whether the Friends of Douglass and Parker, in Pennsylvania, will fight Douglass here as Douglass did in Illinois, Douglass' party would be found as small as Tyler's was.

The first Address of the State Central Committee, after a deal of special pleading, concluded with the regular Southern, every thing, that under the Constitution, and the Dred Scott decision--Terminates on a proslavery or abolition Slave.

A. M. Mertz's pamphlet on the subject of the Agricultural Society will be the address of some others, given on Saturday, June 18, at 1 P.M.

The Pamphlet Laws for 1859 are received and ready for distribution to those interested in Constitutional rights to them.

The Harvest has been cut and gathered, and our Northern farmers are very much disappointed as to the result, for they had expected a good crop, but all are disappointed because it is much heavier than the most sanguine dared to hope for, going along with much less grain, and a great deal of fine straw wheat to the hundred bushels. This is certainly an agreeable surprise--it is such an one as you may find in Gentry Marsh's cheap book and shoe store, where you can't help but be attracted by the title of the price, or by the large and well selected crop of books and speeches.

Between these conflicting Democratic & Bob's, the question, once propounded in the U. S. Senate by Col. Beck, arises: "Which is the genuine Dr. John Townsend's original Scraps?"
