THE CHAFF AND THE WHEAT.

Both were lying at my feet—
Plenteous chaff and scattered wheat;
I could choose which I thought meet.

Though the grain like jewels lay
At my feet, I, day by day,
Only bore the chaff away;

And all my regrets are vain,
That I often let remain
On the ground the shining grain!

If the treasure I would find
I must bend—and I, so blind,
Therefore left the wheat behind!

But the chaff was light to bear,
Gathered without toil or care:
So I called it good and fair!

Some, more patient to descry,
And more prudent far than I,
Gathered grain and passed me by.

And their strength seemed never spent:
While I, growing penitent,
Watched them as they onward went.

Never can my heart forget
All its earnest, deep regret
For the losses I have met;

How my judgment went astray,
That I gathered not each day
Some good fruit upon the way!

To bewail the past is vain—
Let me look for shining grain,
And, by striving, ease my pain;

While I earnestly repeat
To each pilgrim that I meet,
"Leave the chaff and take the wheat."

Georgia Court.

After a well known Georgia Solicitor General had administered the usual oath to the grand and petit juries and bailiffs, he turned to the Presiding Judge, and remarked:

Sol.—May it please your Honor, I do not remember any form of an oath administered to the lobby bailies, but, by your permission, I think I can frame one that will be satisfactory to the Court.

Judge.—Proceed, Mr. Solicitor.

Sol.—Put your hand on the Book, Mr. Bailiff.

Thereupon a tall, lean, vingar-faced son of Anak stepped up and promptly grabbed the Book.

Sol.—You do solemnly swear, in the presence of this Court, and us lawyers, that you will take your position in the lobby and there remain with your eyes skinned during the entire session of this Court. That you will not suffer any one to speak above a whisper, and if any one should dare to do so in presence of your royal highness, you will vociferously exclaim, "Silence in the lobby!" and if order is not immediately restored, you further swear that you will, by one blow of your tenderous fist, planted between the [illegible] of the offender, knock him down. [illegible] you will do, to the best of your [illegible] owledge, so help you God.

[illegible] took the position assigned him, and immediately after the Court was organized, Tom Diggers, who looked as green as a young gourd, walked into the room wearing brogans No. 11, and his hands thrust deep into his pockets, and inquired:

"Hello, fellows, where in the thunder is Jim Snellins?"

"Silence in the lobby!" roared the enraged official.

Brogans.—You must be an all-fired tarnal fool, and if ye jist open that bread-trap of yourn again your mamma won't know you.

Jim Jarvis, the Bailiff, let fly the dogs of war, and greeny fell flat on his back with his heels at an angle of forty degrees in the air. He grabbed the greeny by the seat of the trowsers and dragged him wrong end foremost into the presence of the Presiding Judge, and said:

"Mr. Judge, here's that infernal John Diggers, that wasn't never in a Court House afore, and he tried to run over this chicken, but, according to my oath, I fetched the critter up standing, by giving him a jerk between the eyes, 'cording to law, and now, say the word, and I'll maul the dogwood juice out of him afore you can wink twice."

Judge.—Turn him loose, Mr. Bailiff, and accept the thanks of the Court for the prompt discharge of your official duty.

Exit Greeny, with eyes as large as saucers.

CURE FOR DIVORCE.—Michelet, in his interesting and remarkable book, "L'Amour," mentions a method of curing the disposition in married people to become separated, which might, perhaps be advantageously adopted in some sections of our country. It appears that in Zurich, in olden time, when a quarrelsome couple applied for a divorce, the magistrate never listened to them. Before deciding upon the case, he locked them up for three days in the same room, with one bed, one table, and one tumbler. Their food was passed them by attendants, who neither saw nor spock to them. When they came out, at the end of three days, neither of them wanted to be divorced.

An Examination Committee about to test the capacity of an individual for school teaching, put the following question to him:

"At what time did France produce her greatest general?"

"At what period?" pausing and scratching his head; "at what—ah? you've got me there."

"Well, was it before or after Christ?"

"B[illegible] or after Christ—before or after [illegible] old hosses, you've got me ag[illegible]

[illegible]he takers of the School Census in [illegible] in his perambulations through the city recently went into a domicil, where he found a lady, who said she was one hundred and three years old. On being asked whether she had any children about the house, she replied that she had but one boy, who was at work in the other room, and was eighty-one years of age.

Hickok's Patent Portable
KEYSTONE CIDER & WINE MILL.

PLEASE take particular notice that this is an entirely new Mill. No expense has been spared in its manufacture; the materials are the very best, and are used unsparingly. The cylinders are almost twice the length of the former, and all (including the top cylinder) made of iron. The screw is two inches in diameter, with a heavy ½ V thread cut on it. The beam of the press is cast iron instead of wood—is made very heavy, and the thread of the nut cut for four inches through it. The power of the press is very much increased, and can not be broken by any fair means. The arrangement of the Tub, and other parts of the press, is very perfect. The hopper and hopper are all constructed together; the journals run in long bearings; and, lastly, the workmanship shall not be excelled by any machine of the kind whatever—perfection being the aim, both in the arrangement and mechanical department.

Improvements for 1859.—The following are some of the improvements added this year: The frames are put together with joint bolts. A fly-wheel 22 inches diameter, instead of 16 as before, has been added. The form of the teeth have been changed, so as to make them grind easier and freer. Entirely new gearing has been constructed, and the upper cylinder has been geared down, so that in connection with the teeth or cylinder it shall grind much easier. With all these improvements, it is believed that there is no mill in the market that will grind as fast or with so little power, nor is there any one that is made in a better or more perfect manner.

All persons who have been obliged to use the old-fashioned nut mill, are aware how inconvenient it is, and especially those who have not large quantities of apples. By having this mill on your plantation or farm, you can, at any time, in a few minutes, make a few gallons of sweet cider for present use; or you can very expeditiously make up a few barrels. The Machine, well worked, is capable of making 6 to 12 barrels of cider a day, with ease. It is made to run by horse, steam or hand-power, and when the apples are ground, a boy of fourteen years of age can press the pomace with all ease.

The following may be adduced as the decided advantages of this Mill:

First.—It will make more cider than any other press, with a given quantity of apples in a given time, and with much less labor and expense.

Second.—It will make cleaner and sweeter cider than any old style mill.

Third.—You can make the cider as you want it, and when you want it; and in quantities from one gallon to barrels.

Fourth.—With it you can press your Currants, Cherries, Berries, Cheese, Butter, Lard, and Tallow.

Fifth.—With its use you can at all times have fresh and sweet cider.

With all the advantages resulting from the possession and use of such a Machine—at a price so low that it is within the reach of all—can it be that any intelligent Farmer would do without it?

The annexed RECOMMENDATION is a specimen of the many scores received:

During the past winter, I had several boat loads of apples to make into cider, and procured one of "Hickok's Portable Cider Mills," and found that, with two hands, I could taste right and nine barrels of cider added—the mill only working by daylight in the short days of winter. The mill not only performed in the most perfect and satisfactory manner, but worked with remarkable ease and with a small amount of power. I tried other portable mills, but none that worked with half the ease or speed of "Hickok's Keystone Cider Mill," and I can safely recommend it in preference to all others.

Harrisburg, June 19, 1858. CHARLES TUNIS.

Mr. Chafin, of Broome county, New York, writes that he, with one hand, went from farm to farm with one of these Mills, and made over one thousand barrels of cider in the fall of 1858.

☞ More than ONE HUNDRED Silver Medals and Diplomas have been given to this Mill within the last four years.

The pioneer in the line, we claim that this Machine is the BEST one in the Market on the following points:

1st. It will grind the easiest, fastest and in the most perfect manner.

2d. The Press is the simplest and most powerful, and quickest handled. It is not hampered up with a number of screws and cog-wheels, which create enough friction to destroy its utility. It is well made and sold at a fair price.

☞ The Mill occupies about two-and-a-half by three feet, four feet high, weighs 350 lbs., every way portable and convenient. Price $10. Address W. O. HICKOK, Agt.

The Salamander Safes Of Philadelphia against the World!

EVANS & WATSON

Have had the utmost demonstration in the following certificate that their manufacture of Salamander Safes has at length fully warranted the approval all such as have been made of them as rendering an undoubted security against the terrific element:

PHILAD., April 12, 1858.

Messrs. EVANS & WATSON—Gentlemen: It affords us the highest satisfaction to state to you, that owing to the very protective qualities of two of the Salamander Safes which we purchased of you some few months since, we saved a large portion of our jewelry, and all our books, papers, &c., exposed to the calamitous fire in Haunted Place, on the morning of the 11th inst.

When we reflect that these Safes were located in the fourth story of the building we occupied, and that they fell subsequently into a heap of burning ruins, where the vast concentration of heat caused the brass plates to melt, we can not but regard the preservation of their valuable contents as most convincing proof of the great security afforded by your Safes.

We shall take much pleasure in recommending them to men of business as a sure reliance against fire.
