Traveler. Good morning, sir. Will you direct me the way to John Smith? Squatter. Certainly, sir. If there is anything in the world I do know, it is the way to John Smith's.

T. Glad to hear it. Please direct me. 8. That I will, sir. As I was saying, if there is anything in the world I do know, it is the way to John Smith's. T. In the name of wonder, where does he live, then? Now do, my good sir, just inform me the way !

S. I will, that; for, as I was saying, if there is anything in the world I do know, it is the way to John Smith's. Why, John and me married sisters, and he's got a jam-up wife, I tell you. She can spin her six cuts a day, and attend to from the fetid aroma of tobacco. This, family fixtures into the bargain. And-

T. Well, I would be glad to see so smart a negro as Mr. Bob; so do, I pray, direct me to his master's.

8. Don't be in such a secieit, mister ; I can tell you something more about John's family you'd like to know. He's got the smartest little gal that's in all Arkansas. She's only been to school two years, and she has got as far as amplification. T. Confound John Smith's daughter,

WHAT'S IN A NAME ?- Louisville Jourwal notices that one Frederick S. Brown, of Louisiana, has petitioned the Louisiana Legislature to change his name to Southgate, "because the acts of John Brown have affixed a stigma upon the name of Brown that is intolerable." Brown Southgate is more nice than wise. If John Brown has "affixed a stigma," Sir Thomas Brown has affixed a very enviable reputation, and Frederick had better let one balance the other, and keep his name. Besides, if he does, he won't let the world see what a fool he is.

Mrs. Frances D. Gage, of Missouri, formerly of Ohio, might claim the nomination of President, under the authority of Mr. Beecher, "baving brought up six unruly boys," whose aggregate beight would form a column thirty-six feet high in bonor of their mother, who will all vote the Republican ticket in 1860, with but one exception, and he has not yet attained his majority. Not one of them smokes or chews tobacco, or stimulates the inner man with intoxicating beverages. Mrs. Gage is also the mother of two daughters.

A Gentleman was invited by a Lady to a leap year party in Norwich, and when she called for him he was "not quite dressed," and she had the satisfaction of waiting in the parlor full two hours before he was ready! The joke was pleasantly taken as a good retort upon the usual tardiness of the fair sex.

OUR SENTIMENTS -A Yankee editor says, "We don't mind recording the deaths of people without being paid for our trouble, though that is not fair; but panegyrics on the dead must be paid for. We positively can not afford to send people to heaven for nothing."

"Chew, Smoke, or Snuff?" [A Pennsylvaniau, in a Yreka (Cal.) paper, thus gives utterance to some private opinions respecting a very filthy babit which is said to be somewhat prevalent among people claiming to have been Christianized and civilized :]

"Really, I don't know how to express my detestation of the weed, and of its use; and I wonder, when I see any man or woman, immortal, endowed with reasoning clear through, like salt in a beef barrel, except that salt purifies, while tobacco poisons. It is awful for a genteel, tidy, sensible, cleanly, clever, well-feeling, pious, respectable, decent man, to be obliged to breathe within thirty feet of a tobacco chewer or smoker. Then what must it be for a delicately constituted, refined and sensitive woman, to take snuff, or to be obliged to see a man who chews, even across the street! It makes me sick to think about it, and I do hope that among your other joys in Yreka, you have a well enforced law, that all smokers, chewers and spuff takers, shall be imprisoned in a horse stable or pig stye, until their breath becomes sweet, and their clothes released not to enlarge, is a faint expression of the mild views I hold on this subject."

BATES, SEVENTEEN AHEAD.-Judge Bates, of Missouri, is a native of Virginia, But, as I was saying, John's nigger man and is now in the sixty-seventh year of his age, and the father of seventeen chilin all these diggins. Why, he can pick dren. In case the Chicago Convention out his 150 pounds of cotton a day, and should nominate him, he will at least have a start in the race if he can rely on the support of his own family.
