Mike Walsh and the Botanist.

At the foot of the Capitol Gardens, in Pennsylvania Avenue, (on the right hand side when you are fronting that building) is an inclosed space—national property—containing one or more tenements, and some conservatories and hot-houses. Here, for many years, and until his death, enjoying Uncle Sam's patronage, sojourned a Frenchman, learned in botany and many other sciences. Some companions, while passing these premises, were vaunting his acquirements to Mike, who, from a spirit of contradiction, called them in question. He doubted whether these eminent botanists knew the difference between oats and wheat, and believed, he said, that a Bowery boy could persuade them that corn was clover. Finally, Mike undertook, "botanically," to deceive the Frenchman with whatever he could pick up where they stood, in the lane skirting his premises. From a wreck of flower pots and rubbish, he selected one sound pot, and a dead rat lying next the heap. Placing the rat in the flower pot, he covered it up with mould, leaving out the tail, which he fixed perpendicularly by tying it carefully to a small green stick which happened to be convenient amongst the garden rubbish. He next called on the Professor, and told him that a friend, Lieut. ——, (who, having touched at one of the islands of the then terra incognita, Japan, had excited some interest,) had presented him with a very curious kind of cactus. This he wished the Professor to examine. No one, Mike said, had been able to make it out, and he might have it for ten years and not find five people who would, so he hardly felt justified in keeping it out of a public collection, and yet he did not like to part with a keepsake from a friend. The Professor eagerly repaired to examine the vegetable curiosity. After a close inspection, he determined what it was, or at least christened it by a fine Greek name—two words, as Mike said, averaging sixteen letters! The Professor exhausted himself in persuading Mike that the interests of science required that he should sacrifice to them the sentiments of friendship, by surrendering this rare production of the vegetable kingdom to the keeping of the botanist. The reluctant Mike eventually consented, on the willing and solemn assurances of the Professor that it would be tended with the utmost care. And so it was. Placed in a hot-house, it was cautiously but carefully besprinkled with water, at a temperature of seventy degrees by the thermometer. It was noticed and described in the National Intelligencer. The notice was copied into the papers. The plant was exhibited with pride to several eminent individuals. At length, with the heat and moisture, the tip of the tail began to excoriate. The Professor was delighted—it was budding. It was examined with great interest by one of its chief patrons, "the great Daniel," to whom the botanist promised one of the first slips for Marshfield. "It was too good a joke to keep," said Mike, "especially in a hot-house—so, before long, they smelt a rat." The wrath and shame of the Professor were excessive, and so was the indignation of the great Daniel—not at the author of the joke, but at the unfortunate botanist, whom he stigmatized as a "frog-eating Frenchman, through whom he had been taken in, and who ought to have known better."

[A COMPOSITION—BY IKE PARTINGTON.]

On the American Eagle.

This is the greatest bird that has ever spread his wings over this proud and glorious country. The place where he builds his nest, is called an "eyrie," away up on the precipices, where the foot of man can not come, though perhaps a boy's might. The eagle is a ferocious fellow, and sits on the tops of the cliffs looking sharp for plunder. He gets tired of waiting, and then he starts out in the blue, expansive heavens, and soars all around on his pinions, over the land and the water, to see what he can pounce down upon. He eats his victuals raw, which is an unfavorable habit, but it is supposed that he eats it so because he likes to. He is a very courageous bird, and will fight like blazes for his young, and steal chickens wherever he can see them. He has been known to carry off a young baby to his nest, which seems to show that eagles love little children. He is a bird of great talons, and is much respected by birds of the feathered tribe that are afraid of him. He is a great study for artists, but appears to best advantage on ten dollar gold pieces, and pretty well on dimes, as he sits gathering up his thunder-bolts under him, as if he was in a great hurry to be off. He has lately broke out on the new cent, and seems as if in his hurry he had dropped all his thunder. The American eagle is the patriot's hope, and the inspiration of the fourth of July. He soars through the realms of the poet's fancy, and whets his beak on the highest peak of the orator's imagination. He is in the mouth of every politician, so to speak—he is said, by them, to stand on the Rocky mountains, and to dip his bill into the Atlantic, while his tail casts a shadow on the Pacific coast. This is all gammon. There never was one more than eight feet long from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other. His angry screams are heard ever so far, and he don't care a feather for anybody. Take him every way, he is an immense fowl, and his march is over the mountain wave, with the star-spangled banner in his hand, whistling Yankee Doodle.

To the Heirs of John Slonecker.

Union County, ss.

L. S. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the Sheriff of said county, Greeting: Whereas, at an Orphans' Court, held at Lewisburg, in and for the county of Union, the 13th day of February, A. D. 1860, before the Hon. Abraham S. Wilson, President, and his associate Justices of the said Court, the petition of Ann Slonecker, widow of John Slonecker, late of the Borough of Mifflinburg, dec'd, was presented, setting forth, That your petitioner's late husband died intestate on the 15th day of December, A. D. 1859, leaving your petitioner, his widow, and the following brothers and sisters, and nephews and nieces, to wit: Samuel Slonecker, now in California; Elizabeth Slonecker, intermarried with Alexander Marshall, of West Chester; Susanna Slonecker, intermarried with —— Lindeman, dec'd, of Chester county, Pa.; Margaret Slonecker, dec'd, who was intermarried with —— Root; Catharine Slonaker, dec'd, who was intermarried with —— Westley; Jacob Slonecker, now deceased, late of Chester county; Michael Slonecker, now deceased, late of Philadelphia; William Slonecker, now deceased, late of Chester county —the above brothers and sisters deceased of said Intestate left children whose residences and names are unknown to your petitioner. And that the said Intestate died seized in his demesne as of fee of a certain messuage, house, and lot of ground, adjoining lands of William Hassenplug on the east, land of the Philadelphia, Lewisburg and Mifflinburg Turnpike, on the west by Adam Slonecker, Esq., and on the south by lands of Andrew Gutelius, in the Borough of Mifflinburg, containing one acre, more or less, with the appurtenances, which is all the real estate of which the Intestate died seized. Therefore, praying the Court to award an inquest to make partition of the premises aforesaid to and among the widow, brothers, sisters and legal representatives of the said Intestate in such manner and in such proportion as by the laws of this Commonwealth is directed, if such partition can be made thereof, without prejudice to or spoiling the whole; but if partition can not be made thereof as aforesaid, then to value and appraise the same. Whereupon the said Court, on due proof and consideration of the premises, awarded an inquest for the purposes aforesaid.

We therefore command you that, taking with you twelve good and lawful men of your bailiwick, you go to and upon the premises aforesaid, and there, in the presence of the parties aforesaid, by you to be warned if being warned they will be present, and having respect to the true valuation thereof, and upon the oaths and affirmations of the said twelve good and lawful men, you make partition to and among the heirs and legal representatives of the said intestate, in such manner and in such proportions, as by the laws of this Commonwealth is directed, if the said can be done without prejudice to or spoiling the whole. But if said partition can not be made thereof without prejudice to or spoiling the whole, then you cause the said inquest to inquire and ascertain whether the same will conveniently accommodate more than one of the said representatives of the said intestate without prejudice to or spoiling the whole. And if so, how many it will as aforesaid accommodate, describing each part by metes and bounds, and returning a just valuation of the same. But if the said inquest, by you to be summoned as aforesaid, to make the said partition or valuation, shall be of opinion that the premises aforesaid will the appurtenances, can not be so parted and divided as to accommodate more than one of the said representatives of the said intestate, that you cause the inquest to value the whole of the said real estate with the appurtenances, having respect to the true valuation thereof according to law. And that the partition or valuation so made, you distinctly and openly have before our said justices at Lewisburg, at an Orphan's Court then to be held on the 14th day of May, after such an inquest shall be made under your hand and seal, and under the hands and seals of those by whose oaths or affirmations you shall make such partition or valuation. And have you then and there this writ.

Witness the Hon. A. S. Wilson, President Judge of our said Court, at Lewisburg, the 19th day of March, A. D., 1860. SAMUEL ROUSH, Clk. O. C.

☞ In pursuance of the above order, Notice is hereby given to all concerned that an Inquisition or Appraisement will be held on the premises aforesaid on FRIDAY the 4th day of May next at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

It presents to your view every part of the world, in all the relief, boldness, perspective, and sharpness of detail, as if you were on the spot.

Photographers are everywhere exploring Europe, Asia, Africa, America, in search of the grand and the beautiful, and the results of their skill are constantly enriching our stock.

Nothing can be more fascinating, and one can offer no greater treat to a friend fond of the picturesque and the beautiful

Anthony's Instantaneous Stereoscopic Views are the latest Photographic wonder. They are taken in the fortieth part of a second, and everything no matter how rapidly it may be moving, is depicted as sharply and distinctly as if it had been perfectly at rest. This gives an additional value, for to the beauties of inanimate nature it adds the charm of life, and motion. The process is a discovery of our own, and being unknown in Europe, we receive from London and Paris large orders for Anthony's Instantaneous Views of American life and scenery.

Among other things we have just published Stereoscopic Illustrations of the Scene of the FULTON STREET PRAYER MEETINGS, in which many hearts feel an interest. The particulars of this will be found in our catalogue.

Our CATALOGUE of all Sorts and prices will be forwarded to any address on receipt of a stamp.

SALAMANDER SAFES,

No. 304 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH!

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29, 1859.

To the President of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Society:—The subscribers, your committee to examine the contents of a Salamander Safe, of Evans & Watson, after being exposed to a strong fire on the Fair Grounds for eight hours, respectfully represent—

That after seven cords of oak wood and three of pine had been consumed around the Safe, it was opened in the presence of the committee, and the contents taken out, a little warmed, but not even scorched.

Several Silver Medals heretofore received by the manufacturers, and a large quantity of documents were in the Safe, and came out entirely uninjured.

The experiment satisfied us of the capacity of Safes of this kind to protect contents from any fire to which they may be exposed.

The Committee awarded a Diploma and Silver Medal.
