Knowing Too Much.

During the administration of President Jackson, there was a young gentleman employed in the public service at Washington, whose name was G.; he was from Tennessee, the son of a widow, a neighbor of the President, on which account the old hero had a kind feeling for him, and some of the higher officials, to whom his singular interferences were distasteful.

Among other things, it is said of him that while he was employed in the Gener- STRAW AND FANCY MILLINERY. gentleman, in Virginia or Pennsylvania, for the establishment of a new Post Office. The writer of the letter often used classical language; in this letter he said the application could not be granted, in conto G's hands to copy, being a great stickler for plainness, he altered "proximity" to "nearness to." Major H. observed it, "Why," replied G., "because I don't think the man would understand what you mean by 'proximity.'" "Well," said Rev. J. R. Loomis, LL. D., President, Major H., "try him : put in the 'proximity' again."

In a few days a letter was received from Rev. G. R. Bliss, A. M., the applicant, in which he very indignantly said: "That his father had fought in the second, war the first, and he himself in the second, war the first, and he would like to Second the first the fir brought the charge of proximity or any. M. W. Cramer, thing else wrong against him ?" "There," said G., "did I not say so?"

G. carried his improvements so far that Mr. Barry, the Postmaster General, said to bim : "I don't want you any longer : you know too much." Poor G. went out, Miss R. S. Warren, but his old friend, the General, again got him another place.

This time, G.'s ideas underwent a Mons. K. Volkmar, change. He was one day very busy, when a stranger called in and asked him where the Patent Office was. "I don't know," said G. "Can you tell me where the Treasury Department is?" said the stranger. "No," said G. "Nor the President's House?" "No." The stranger finally asked him if he knew where the Capitol was. "No," replied G. "Do you live in Washington, sir?" said the stranger. "Yes, sir," said G. "Good Lord! and don't know where the Patent Office, Treasury, President's House, and Capitol are?" "Stranger," said G., I was turned out of the Post Office for knowing too much. I don't mean to offend in that way again. I am paid for keeping this book. I believe I know that much; but if you find me knowing anything more, you may take my bead."-"Good morning," said the stranger.

A paper published at the extreme South bids Douglas remember Milo's end, and, for fear that the Senator's memory may be at fault, adds an explanatory postcript telling him that "Mile's end" was "Weiged in that timber which he strove to rend." This looks as if the South expected to catch Douglas in a trap made of a split rail.

SPRING PURIFIER.

HE warm spring weather succeeding the bracing atmosphere of winter, relaxes the entire muscular system, including tha muscle, the heart; the circulation of the blood becomes sluggish and irregular, not being propelled as actively as nature requires, through the lungs, there to exhale or cast off and frequently dizziness and vertigo; the blood becomes loaded with corruptions, which sometimes finds a partial vent in humors and eruptions of the skin, and the liver partakes of the general inactivity of the system. Dr. DAVIS' DEPURATIVE quickens and equalizes the circulation of the blood, cleanses it of all morbific matter, stimulates the liver to healthy action, gives tone to the organs of digestion, and communicates remarkable energy to all the functions. One bottle of it, costing one dollar, will entirely prevent or re move all the above-described symptoms, and, by strengthening and invigo rating, as well as purifying the system, fre quently be the means of preserving the health broughout the entire summer. Its effects as a Spring Purifier of the Blood are warranted and unfailing. For sale by 3m841 J. BAKER & CO., Lewisburg
