

Lewisburg, Pa.
FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 19, 1860.

How to Do It.
The day of the Presidential election will afford a good chance to raise the flag in every township. And remember, the people feel, they are not to be deceived, and it requires no art to get them to vote.

As the Legislative Table is not yet absolutely certain, we will not publish it this week. We think the Assembly will stand 70 to 72 Rep. and 28 to 30 Dem. Senate 25 or 27 Rep. to 6 or 7 Dem. We shall probably have about three to one at least.

Young Union county gives Curtin 232 more maj. than sister Snyder, and her mother Northumberland 275 in her maj. for Governor. '60 Union' polls 235 more votes than North'd, and gives Curtin 1870 maj.

Take care of your Health. Keep warm and dry. These days, cold days and nights are always productive of colds, chills, fevers, and death, if not guarded against. Do not overheat, but keep naturally warm and dry.

What the Old Man say.
Hon. Wm. M. McKim, ex-Secretary of the Treasury under Gen. Taylor, has published a letter in favor of the election of Lincoln and Hamilton. He thinks them the best and wisest men, and that the Administration will do more to benefit the country in peace than that of any other candidates.

Indiana looks up 15,000 Rep. maj.
Congressmen probably unopposed, but we give a V. S. Senator in place of Dr. Fitch. OHIO has near 20,000 Rep. maj. and we probably lose in Congress, by small votes caused by local and personal matters.

South Carolina. The Charleston election resulted in the defeat of the extreme Pro-Southers, to their great indignation. If the Nullifiers can not rule everything with a high hand there, what hope is there for the Disunionists anywhere else?

Not was the Democracy of Pennsylvania disappointed and dejected as over the election. They held all the money they wanted, from New York City, and made unprecedented efforts. Foster's friends had prepared for him a splendid reception on reaching home—and not wishing to lose their labor, they gave him an ovation on entering Greensburg as it was—playing, we suppose, "See the conquering hero come." (Down.)
