something's bust. The events of Tarsday press heavily upon me. Who would have dreamed that the dirty Black Republicans could have defeated us so awfully? my eyes, it's ruin and utter annihilation! The die is fixed—down we are, and on our bellies we must crawl all our life long. O. I wish I had a word of consolation for ye. I can tell big stories if necessary, but Ah! what lie can cover that $2,000? Didn't the bell men we bought, sell us 50,000 yoters? and now they're setting up for themselves, or going in for Old Abe. We were promised 10,000 in Philad.—didn't get 2,000! If we lose all the offices and the chances to plunder and get more niggers and Cuba, how'll the ge-lorious Union stand? Go to smash, sure as guns. On to-morrow morning, at 7:10 and a tick, precisely, every slave in the South will be let loose—their chains struck off; old John Brown will rise from the sheeted dead, with a "Wide Awake" cap and lamp will stalk majestically into the bar-room of some country tween, and call for rum—yes, for rum; and the landlord, scared out of his boots, will give him rum, and John Brown will drink the rum, and he will drink more rum until his blood is on fire, and his distended nostrils will snort fire, and his distended nostrils will snort fire, and his blood will boil, and his voice will be heard from East to West, and from North to South, as he shouts, "Come on, piggers will jump out of the bushes, and crawl out South, as he shouts, "Come on, niggers, let's eat these folks;" and the niggers will jump out of the bushes, and crawl out from every upturned stone, and they will have a pike in their hand, and they will look at Old Brown, and Old Brown will look at them, and he will try to count look at them, and he will try to count them, and they will try to count him, but they can't be counted, for there will be billions and billions of them; and Old John Brown will get mad, and he will swear in the Chectaw language at them, and they will swear in their own language at him, and there will be a terrible time; and bye-and-bye they will get started on their march, and they will go on foot, they will kill every grasshopper and cricket in the land; they will steal your wives your chickens and ducks, for he is the worst of all ; and they will destroy everythey don't find; and the Republicanswho beat us $2,000-(dong that $2,000 !) will laugh and shout to see us, good Democrats, slaughtered. These are the effects, zens, this is my last appearance among you; I go to meet my doom; keep your eye skinned, go "Fusion" once more, and "save the Union" if you can.

A Short Story.

[A correspondent at a Northern watering-place thus reveals how he passionately suffered, and was cured :] Down in since it was worn, yet the scent of the June 25, 1860y rose-leaves it once pressed clings to it still; you might turn each of its fingers wrong side out and find nothing therein, LEWISBURG, UNION CO., PA. yet that little glove contains the history monpareil solid. YANCEY .- An Alabama paper expresses its belief, that Mr. Yancey's whole political life has been a curse to the country. We believe so too. We don't wish Mr. Yancey dead, but we are sorry his mother dida't refuse to have his father. Mr. Yancey never stood upon a platform that we could approve. We presume he never will till be is about to be hung -Louiswille Journal

A friend riding through the southern part of the county, overtook a man who was hauling a large dog that was dead. Instantly, our friend thought of distemper, mad dogs, etc., and inquired :

"How came your dog to die?" "Well," replied the old man, "the fool killed himself barking at the candidates."
