-Gov. Packer's Last Message is a moderate document, showing the State Debt reduced nearly Two Millions of Dollars during his administration, and a cheering prospect if our finances be properly managed. He opposes the Central Railroad's claims for favors from the Legislature, but argues for the Sunbury & Erie. Secession he holds to be really Nullification, and both should be treated as rebellion if attempted to be carried out by force. Pennsylvania has given no just cause for offence, in her Personal Liberty one - a - but would repeal almost any goard against kidnapping, and allow slaveholders to pass through Ponn's with their slaves, or keep them on our soil six months at a time, to propitiate the Slave Power. His remedy for the slavery agitation is popular sovereignty. The free school system is highly presper-us, and the Parmers' High School also. A reform in the custody of State monies, is again urged. Not a word for Kausas or the Tariff!

This fact will often lead the public astray, and all news therefore must be received with allowance. We shall publish what we suppose to be the facts. The Legislature bas repeatedly been in secret session, and many reports chosen Speaker of the Senate, having 26 prevail. But it is certain that they have issued a ridiculous parody on the Declaration of Independence-appointed a Regency of four men to act with the Governor-and ordered the custom-house revenues to be paid into the State Treasury. A forced loan (the last alternative of tyrants) of $100,000, it is stated, has been levied upon the rich men of Charleston, who dared not refuse to "give" ... all efforts to raise a loan, from their sympathizers in New York, having failed. nasterly stroke of Major Anderson, whose removal thwarted the rebels' design and thus for a time postponed bloody work, was bailed with joy by the Unionists, and denounced by the Secessionists in bitter terms. The South Carolina "Commissioners" declared it a "breach of faith! between the nations !" and insolently demanded that the President should remove back to dismantled Fort Moultrie! The valuant President meekly submitted the matter to the Cabinet, when Secretaries Floyd, Thompson and Thomas sided with the traitors, and Black, Holt, Toucey and Stanton against them! -There is much distress, among many of the Slave States, from the failure of their corn crop last full. They have little money-and their Nullification threats were cutting wood, the ax of the eldest have deprived them of credit in the great slipped and cut off one of the feet of his corn and bacon markets of the North, little brother. The force of the blow was West. The condition of the poor there, is becoming almost intolerable, and fears of insurrections are rife. There is probably on the globe no more unhappy people, just now, than those who talk about cutting loose from the only friends they have! Still, the Secession fever is spreading in that direction, but feebly counteracted by the Unionists. copy the following from the Williamsport Press. Fire and Thief Proof Chests. The manufacture of fire and thief proo chests, has become a business of immens magnitude; and although chiefly to one leading house in Philadelphia, sales of Philadelphia manufacture are found in every part of the country. The great amount of security which is realized at so triding a cost, makes it a matter of immediate interest to every prudent business man. A certain degree of secu-rity can be had by insurance, but the best insurance policy is imperfect, where the books and valuable papers are at the mercy of the devouring element; and this fact is so gener ally understood, that no man who makes any pretentions to being a careful business man can afford to be without a proof safe, and hence the great extent of this department of manufactures. It may be objected that some "careful, prudent men" will not risk the purchase of a so-called sare which in the hour of trial must prove itself to be a cheat—an im-position and fraud upon the purchaser—and the objection comes with considerable force since irresponsible parties are engaged in the ness attracts imposters, and the manufacture of safes is not an exception. Parties even from other cities have been attracted to Philadalphia by the well-earned reputation of sales have brought the business into discredit. But the man who purchases from a house long and well established, whose safes have stood the test of time, and whose integrity commands the confidence of the business community, con run no risk. And it may not be out of lace here to say that Messrs. Evass & War ox are without a rival in this department of rade.
