Tail-Holt Better than no Holt.

The following laughable affair is from book entitled Fisher's River Scenes and Characters. The incident is located in North Carolina. It is the story of a man "Oliver Stanlep," who was taken captive by wild "Injins." After some consideration, they put him into an empty oil bar-rel, and headed him up, leaving the bung hale open, that he might be longer dying. The prisoner relates a portion of his experience in this wise :

I determined to get out'n that or bust a trace ; and so I pounded way with my fist, till I beat it into nearly a jelly, at the end of the bar'l ; but it were no go. Then I butted a spell with my noggin, but I had no purchase like old rams have when they butt ; for, you know, they back ever so fur when they make a tilt. So I caved in, made my last will and testament, and virtually gave up the ghost. It wur a mighty serious time with me for sure. While I were lying thar, balancing accounts with t'other world, and afore I had all my figgers made out to see how things 'ud stand, I hearn suthin' scrambulatin' in the leaves, and snortin' every whipstich like he smelt suthin' he didu't azzactly like. I lay as still as a salamander, and thought, maybe there's a chance for Sunday yit. So the critter, whatever it mout be, kep' noseyin' round the bar'l. Last he came to the banghole, put his nose in, smelt mighty particler, and gin a monstrous loud snort. I helt what little breath I had to keep the crittur from smellin the intarnals of the bar'l. I soon seen it was a bar of the The Dimes Saving Institution of Lewoods-the big king bar of the woods, who had lived there from time immortal. Thinks I, old fellow, look out ; old Oliver ain't dead yit. Jist then be put his black paw in jist as fur as he could, and scrabbled about to make some 'scovery. The first tho't I had was to nab his paw, as a drowndin' man will ketch at a straw ; but I soon seen that wouldn't do, for you see he couldn't then travel. So I jist waited a spell with great flatterbation of mind. The next move he made was to put his tail in at the bunghole of the bar'l to test its innards. I seen that were my time to make my Jack ; so I seized my holt, and shouted at the top of my voice :

"Charge, Chester, charge? On Stanley, on!" And the bar be put, and I knowed tail holt were better than no holt ; and so we went, bar'l and all, the bar full speed. Now, my hope were that the bar would jump over some pressepiss, break the bar'l all to shiverations, and liberate me from my nasty, stinkin', ily prison. And sure 'nuff, the bar at full speed leaped over a caterack fifty foot high. Down we went together in a pile cowhallop, on a big rock, bustin' the bar'l and nearly shakin' my gizzard out'n me. I let go my tail holt-had no more use for it-and away went the bar like a whirlgust ov woodpeck ers were after it. I've never seen nor hearn from that bar since, but he has my beat wishes for his present and future welfare.

A number of years ago, Mr. Webster was a politician but no statesman." It is curious that, shortly after, Mr. Buchanan but no politician." In both judgments, but no politician. In both judgments, contempt was expressed—Mr. Webster despising politicians who were not states men, and Mr. Buchanan despising states-men, and Mr. Buchanan despising statesmen who were not politicians.

A wretched editor, who bash't any wife to take care of him, went the other night to a ladies' fair. He says he saw there tian article" which he "fain would call his own, but it was not for sale." He declares that since that night he has been "wrapturously wretched." As the article was bound in hoops, the reader is left to infer that it was either a girl or a keg of whiskey. They are both calculated to make a wretch "wrapturous."

A good many years ago, a Massachusetts man was elected to the office of Lieutepant Governor. When the fact of his election was announced, he was called upon for a speech. He proceeded to acknowledge the honor in very handsome terms, and added that he had no doubt he should make a good Licutenant Governor, as that was the office he had always held in his owu house.

Dr. Arnold once lost all patience with a dull scholar, when the pupil looked up in his face and said : "Why do you speak in his face and said : "Why do you speak "We understand Mr. Wolfe, for the accommodation of angrily, sir? Indeed, I am doing the best I can." Years after, the doctor used to tell the story to his own children, and say, "I never felt so ashamed of myself in my life. That speech and that look I have never forgotten."

The Cincinnati Press reminds the South that there is one luxury they will lose by disunion; and that is, lynching Northern men. To suppose that a separate nation would allow its citizens to be treated in out retaliation, would suppose it fit for slavery, and entirely unfit for its own government.

An old Scotch Presbyterian servant was copal church, where the furniture and music were of the most elaborate character. and was asked how she liked it. "Ob. she replied, "it's vara bonny ; but, oh, my lady, it's an awful way of spending the Sabbath."

Several nice young gentlemen went to the residence of a young damsel to give her a screnade. After some time, the servant stepped out and walking up to one of them exclaimed : "My friend, the folks are all abed ; you can't get a cent here to-night !"
