"CHRONICLE," established in 1843---Whole No., 903.

PUBLISHED SEMI-WEEKLY—
Tuesday Morning & Friday Afternoon.

Union County Ticket,

Nominated by a Direct Vote of over 1,500 Citizens, under a Call addressed to

[illegible] Republicans of Union county and All Those who are known [illegible] ADMINISTRATION IN ITS EFFORTS to suppress Treason and Rebellion and to maintain the Constitution and the Union at any Sacrifice to [illegible]

Associate Judge—JOHN H. SIMONTON, of Buffalo.
Sheriff—LA FAYETTE ALBRIGHT, of White Deer.
Commissioner—JESSE M. WALTER, of Union.
Treasurer—JOHN A. MERTZ, of Lewisburg.
Auditor—GERTRUDE THOMPSON, of Millmburg.
Coroner—ELISHA STRAUB, of Lewisburg.

☞ Opposed to the above is a "Democratic Ticket" put up (or probably agreed upon) by Delegates from 11 out of 14 Districts, chosen by about 250 citizens.

☞ The failure of Union county to be represented in the late Judicial Conference at Muncy, was not from any disrespect on our part. The appointment of Conferees was left with Mr. Lawson, our nominee, but we suppose he sent none, as, previous to the meeting, he was watching by the bed-side of his sick boy, (who has since died.) Probably the County Committee will take a definite course in the matter, and that Messrs. Woods and Lawson will meet here, Court Week, and aid in bringing about harmonious action for one candidate for the Unconditional Unionists of Union, Snyder and Mifflin.

It is rumored that the efforts to induce Mr. Spencer off the track, are vain—"his eyes is set" for the race.

☞ Daniel Long, Esq., has declined to run for Associate Judge under the garb of "Democracy" stolen by the Secessionists of Union county. He has here[illegible] for the purpose of grouping up a ticket that he chose again paying the paper for the [illegible] dance. If Messrs. Gundy and Dyer had [illegible] experience, they would [illegible] and the Union ticket prevail without a contest.

The Argus now [illegible] with a "hurrah" for "Stocker and Simonton" in the hope of getting some Simonton votes for Stocker. It might as well hurrah for Jeff. Davis and Abe Lincoln, or for Beauregard and Scott, for the two [illegible] Simonton have no company with the anti-Secession candidate, and Lawson, or the political opponents, of Mr. Stocker. (A few weeks ago this same Argus sought to injure Simonton by classing him among the "extremists," and by professing that a White Deer candidate would be selected somewhere, on our side! Now it tries to raise a Democratic hurra for Simonton and Stocker, "God Lord and Good Devil" fashion!)

☞ The Argus has had another spasm of glorification over its wonderful prosperity! According to its boasts—no other paper for six months past, it has been getting ahead of the Star & Chronicle most astonishingly! scores of patrons at a swoop! old-time Whigs coming in with a rush! Republicans, by dozens, disgusted with our paper, taking that and Democratic [illegible] Volunteers") afraid of Abolitionism, thronging the Argus' counters to secure that sell-invalid partizan journal! By this time, it must have about a million and a half of subscribers—all deeply attached, and each paying $1.50 in advance. Now, the State Treasurer and other creditors of the "gift enterprise" doubtless wish they were anywhere near the truth, for the editor is certainly industrious and economical, and if in such high feather, would not permit so many demands to be "dying around loose." But the stories don't go much like his others about the Wide Awakes leaving the West exclusively to the Democrats!—"hundreds of thousands of Democrats in the field!" for people generally to believe.—And it does not materially alarm us, for similar frauds and threats were made in advance from the delinquent Taxes at New Berlin, years ago, at the same time that "No more Hay for Bierman's cow" was the Democratic war cry. Besides, our experience has shown that the nearer some printers are on their last legs, the fiercer they brag!

☞ We learn that last Saturday afternoon, Montgomery Forster—residing about two miles west of Hartleton—committed suicide by poisoning himself. He in the first place made an attempt to cut his throat with a razor, and, failing in this, went to Hartleton and procured arsenic, which he took. The deceased was subject to fits, which may probably have been the cause of the rash act.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2.—A fight took place yesterday at the Court House in Boone county, south western Virginia, between the Rebels and the Federals, resulting in the total route of the Rebels who lost 30 killed, a large number wounded, and forty prisoners. None killed on our side, and only six wounded.

PHILAD, Sept. 4.—The Inquirer this morning contradicts the reported death of Jeff. Davis and the capture of the Pensacola Navy Yard.

The privateer Jeff Davis was wrecked on the 21st ult, off St. Augustine, but the crew escaped.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—There was an attempt made last night to burn Washington, probably to rescue the prisoners, as there was a rush made to the dwellings of Mrs. Grenbow and Mrs. Phillips, but the guard drove them back at the point of the bayonet.

☞ Last Saturday evening, the School house in Gilleispaque, near the east end of the Lewisburg Bridge, took fire from some unknown cause, and burned down.

☞ The Prothonotary of Union county has received the Laws of 1861, for distribution to such as are entitled to them.

☞ Rains within the last two weeks have added 25 per cent. to the estimated crop of corn and potatoes.

☞ Mr. Randolph's Advertisement for the LEWISBURG ACADEMY, next week.

More Pennsylvanians in Missouri.

[The annexed extracts from private letters will be found especially interesting to those who personally remember the writers and their comrades, so recently here in our streets, now forced to face the death-dealing bullets to save their homes and their rights from ruthless, border ruffian invaders! Edward, James, Joseph and Samuel Moore, below named, are sons of Col. James Moore, late of Union county; John D. Brown, is a son of the late Dea. Matthew Brown, who, with the Tallmans (fathers and sons) settled in Missouri from the White Deer Valley, Brady township, with the Union county company. Joseph and Samuel Moore are in Capt. Bowen's Independent Company of Riflemen; John Brown and Jerry Tallman in Col. Blair's 1st Missouri Regiment.]

IBERIA, Miller Co., Mo., Aug 19.

On the 34 inst we had a skirmish at Booneville with the Rebels under Gen. Rains, driving him back and killing 120 of his men, losing but one of our own, and camped that night within 5 miles of the enemy. On the 4th we returned and encamped within 4 miles of Springfield, and on the 5th marched into town, expecting an attack every moment. On the 9th we received orders to march on the enemy, who had invaded Missouri under Gen. M'Cullough, and were reported to be encamped on Cedar Creek, about 12 miles south-west of Springfield. Our force consisted of 1500 men at Springfield, and 4000 more at Camp M'Clellen, or Pond Springs, about 8 or 10 miles out of town. The enemy had 22,000 armed and 8,000 unarmed men—so you see they had far armed more than one of us. We started about sundown on the 9th, and march[illegible] 3 miles, [illegible] and camped— [illegible] and [illegible] Yo[illegible] you [illegible] and [illegible] when they gave us [illegible] buck-shot, which entered the left side of my neck, and came out into my throat; I choked, and fell, but got up, and spit it out into my hand. The wound was not very dangerous, but it was awful unhandy about the time I wanted to swallow anything.

The Pennsylvanians here are all well, but the greatest excitement now prevails in Missouri. Your uncles, Charles and John B Tallman, and young James Moore, belong to the Home Guards; they are at Jefferson City, fortifying.

I have now to pack up, for we start tomorrow morning down to Little Springs, where our forces (Co. F. 1st Reg. Mo. Vols.) are encamped. With my respects to all, I will say Good night—perhaps for ever! JOHN D. BROWN.

To Robert and John Hill.

CAMP QUINN, Jefferson City, Aug 22.

When the peace and the liberties of the people are at stake, if there is any patriotism, is the time for it to make its appearance. Our country demands our services, and, though they may be small, we should be willing to do all in our power to protect this glorious Government. Thousands laid down their lives for our liberties, and thousands are now doing the same for their maintainance. Nevertheless, even in these times, while doing our whole duty to our country, the ties of friendship should not be slackened, nor friends be forgotten.

Many changes have taken place within the last year, but I hope everything is for the best. There has been great trouble in this state. Hundreds of families have left their homes and their all. Most of the Pennsylvanians left Miller county the middle of May, but many have returned. For my part, they could not make me leave, but I lived six weeks by myself and attended to the farming. I now belong to Co. F, Col. M'Clerg's Reg. We expect to move, South, soon. Young James Moore was at Rolla, and at home as a scout; he got to camp last night, he saw the boys, and brought me a letter from Jerry.

The Springfield battle, on the 10th inst., was a hard battle. Joseph R. and Samuel L. Moore, and John D. Brown and Jerry Tallman were engaged at Springfield. Joseph Moore was badly shot in his left thigh, near the knee, among the leaders; he is at home now with his brother Edward, and so lame that he can not walk. Samuel Moore had a hole shot in his hat, the ball grazing his hair. John D. Brown was shot in the neck, under the jaw, the ball stopping in his throat, and he coughed it out and has it yet. Jerry Tallman stood in front of Brown, and fired sixty rounds, but was not touched. They mostly load down to cool, so that the balls might pass over them, for Jerry said something appeared to tell him he would not be harmed, so he stood all the while and did his best. The boys said they were not a particle afraid after the first fire; dead men lay in piles in front of them, and were dropping at their sides; but the soldiers hallooed as loud as they could, all the time, to keep from hearing the groans of the wounded and dying as they marched over them—it was awful. Jerry says, half their Regiment was cut up, yet if his time was up he would not come home to stay.

On their retreat to Rolla, our boys were within 7 miles of home, and John Brown and Samuel Moore went there, but have gone back, and I suppose are now 70 miles from here. JOHN B. TALLMAN.

To John B. Moore.

FOR THE STAR & CHRONICLE.

Sabbath School Celebration.

Pursuant to previous arrangements, the Laurelton, Lincoln Chapel, Winfield Pike, and Harleton Sabbath Schools concentrated their forces, on Saturday, Aug 31st, at Winfield mills, Hartley township. The Marshal of the day, Daniel Artman, formed a procession and marched to a beautiful grove opposite the Winfield Factory, where a stand had been erected, and seats sufficient to accommodate 1,000 persons. After all found themselves comfortably seated, Rev. P. B. Marr delivered a heart-stirring address for the encouragement of parents, superintendents and teachers. R. B. Barber, Esq., then delivered an impromtu address, short and good.

After singing a hymn, the respective schools were again formed in procession and marched, military style, to the place of refreshments, where truly "milk and honey flowed." Five tables had been erected, which groaned under the weight of good things. (Had one of the type fraternity been there, he would have given a puff on fat long"). Aside from the beautiful day, the illuminated faces of young America plainly enough indicated joyful hearts and buoyant spirits. The [illegible] was [illegible] and showed [illegible] to perfection, showing [illegible] in the care of parents, [illegible] of ministers.

[illegible] was ringing, when [illegible] repaired to their seats, and, after singing [illegible] the Marshal read [illegible] the [illegible] present. [illegible] Prof. [illegible] Pluribus Unum" [illegible] then delivered a very able address to the children, replete with good advice. The "Hudson Brothers" then sang the "Star Spangled Banner," during which the audience remained [illegible] and the sweet notes [illegible] air like angel music. [illegible] again introduced and delivered an old-fashioned Union speech. His argument against State Sovereignty was very logical, and proved conclusively that individual States could not be "let alone" always. The audience (which was variously estimated from 1,000 to 1200) was then dismissed by the singing of a suitable hymn. E. R. Z.

Laurelton, Aug. 31, 1861.

Great Naval VICTORY!

HARRISBURG, Sep 2—After 2 days' cannonading, OUR FLEET HAS TAKEN Forts Hatteras and Clark—Commander Barron, three Colonels late of Army, and many other officers—over seven hundred prisoners—one thousand stand of arms—thirty cannon—and ship load of cotton—without loss on our side.

Result—possession of the entire North Carolina coast. ELI SLIFER.

Particulars of the Great Expedition.

Monday of last week, a fleet of 7 vessels, carrying 4,000 men in all, under Commodore Stringham and Gen. Butler, left Fortress Monroe, and on Tuesday landed off Hatteras Inlet, which is the entrance to almost the entire range of harbors on the coast of North Carolina, and is commanded by the forts.

On Wednesday, about 800 troops under Max Weber were landed with some difficulty, and our ships commenced firing up on the enemy's forts, which returned the fire, but feebly, as our guns carried balls much further.

On Thursday, our fleet commenced firing again, and before night the Rebel officers raised the white flag and made an unconditional surrender, and have since been carried to New York. Their commander, Barron, is Assistant Secretary of the Rebel Navy, and perhaps their best naval officer. There were also three Colonels, two Majors and other Rebels, late in the U. S. service, taken, who at first were fearful of immediate death, but were much gratified with the lenity shown them.

Some half dozen vessels, with important ladings, were also taken, but one vessels approaching with some hundreds of men for the relief of the garrison escaped.

When the first salutations were made between the U. S officers and Com. Barron, he asked, "How many were killed on the fleet?" The answer was "None." "How many were wounded?" "None," was the reply. "Why," he exclaimed, "you astonish me. I thought that to capture those forts it would cost a thousand lives, and it would be cheap at that."

The position occupied by the captured forts commands the inlet, which had been the principal head quarters of the pirates on the Southern coast.

There were found, also, official plans and [illegible] drawings of their fortifications, and a full official letter book of Gen. Gayon, commander of that department. Another document from the Navy Agent at Norfolk, states that all the guns and fuses there have now been distributed, so that the yard has no further supplies. A report from the engineer of the fort speaks of it as finished and impregnable. In one of the forts was found a quantity of supplies, coffee, fruits, liquors, &c., taken from pirates' prizes.

The Rebels are known to have had 8 killed and 25 wounded.

The Right Doctrine.

After reading the Breckinridge papers in this section of Pennsylvania, that are striving to distract and divide the people on the subject of the war for the Union, by finding fault with every movement of the Government for the suppression of rebellion, and by crying for "peace and compromise," and who show that they love their party more than their country by contending for purely partizan nominations, it is quite a relief to come across such sentiments as are contained in the following, taken from the Binghamton, (N. Y.) Democrat, a Democratic paper of much influence. It is the right kind of doctrine, and we are glad to know is heartily endorsed by thousands of Democrats throughout the country, despite the efforts of the Breckinridge leaders and their papers. The Democrat says:

1. We are for maintaining the Government of the Union and the Constitution, so long as there is a loyal citizen North or South to battle with rebellion, or a dollar to furnish the sinews of war.

2. We are opposed to the war, and would stop it instantly, by the whole power of the Government, which commenced it by robbery and treason, and by capturing Fort Sumter.

3. We are in favor of peace, and therefore seek it in the only direction which will give honorable and enduring peace—by putting down armed rebellion, so that the Union-loving citizens of the South can support the Constitution and the Union of their fathers, without a revolver at their ears or a bowie knife to their throats to drive them into rebellion.

4. We are opposed to taxation, and would, therefore, make the war as short as possible, by exerting the whole force of the nation's energies, so as at the earliest moment to quell rebellion effectually, and avoid perpetual taxation hereafter.

5. Are opposed to all palliatives and propositions of peace or compromise until rebellion is slaughtered, and its flag, steeped in theft, treason, piracy, arson, rebellion, and murder, is torn down and destroyed, and until the Stars and Stripes float over every fortress in the Union.

6. When the roar of the rebel artillery is silenced, and the supremacy of the Constitution is acknowledged, we are as we ever have been, for guarding with scrupulous care every right which it guarantees to every section of the Union, and for strengthening the ties of brotherhood murdered by a set of graceless political robbers, acting against the wishes and the will of the masses of the Southern people.

That distinguished, veteran patriot, LEWIS CASS, is doing all he can to crush this rebellion. His position is the true one. We ask the attention of those Democrats who appear to be undecided as to whether they shall support party or country to the following extract from one of his recent speeches:

"He who is not for his country is against her. There is no neutral position to be occupied. It is the duty of all zealously to support the Government in all its efforts to bring this unhappy civil war to a speedy conclusion."

When the news of the success of the Hatteras expedition was communicated to Gen. Scott, the tears rolled down his cheeks, and he exclaimed, "God be thanked." The President shared in the general delight, but remarked, "Why have they brought all this upon themselves?" The utmost cheerfulness pervades all classes, and the victory is looked on as equivalent to a reinforcement of twenty thousand men, while the corresponding depression among the Rebels is equally great.

WOOLEN BAND.—This is an important article to every soldier. In all cases of bowel complaints and fall diseases its value is indisputable. It is worn next to the skin over the stomach, and should be about sixteen inches in width. In the Prussian service, an army order compels its use by the soldier. No soldier in our service should be without it.

The Government now have on hand, not given out to regiments, twelve hundred wagons, and near six thousand horses and mules. No more contracts for horses will be made at present.

The privateer Herbert has come up the Potomac, having towed up for the "Yankees" a vessel captured by a revenue cutter a few days since. The sloop is heavily loaded with revolvers and other arms, ammunition, blankets, medicines, surgical instruments, &c., together with about half a ton of percussion caps, all of which were on the way to the Rebels. Two men were all that were found on board.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—The Republican, the leading Democratic paper in this city, is a fair expression of the feeling with which the proclamation of Gen. Fremont is regarded by the citizens of St. Louis, many of whom I have seen to day, and all of whom declare that the decided action of the commanding General is timely and right.

IMPUDENT.—Saturday night, forty small girls, dressed in "Secession colors," and each having a lighted candle, paraded some of the principal streets of Baltimore.

The New York Journal of Commerce, and also the Brooklyn paper presented by the Grand Jury, have both since changed their course, and it is hoped will hereafter aid the Government, and not obstruct it, in its struggles for life. The Day Book it is said will also be modified. Banish the City sewers for Treason, and the Country imitators will soon "dry up."

James Oakes, son of Hon. Samuel Oakes, of Limestone township, Montour county, has been appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate as a Brigadier General in the regular army.

Gen. Heintzleman, who distinguished himself at the battle of Bull Run, is a native of Manheim, Lancaster county.

PROCLAMATION.—The President has issued a proclamation to the effect that the Rebellious States of the South, having refused to obey his command to return to their allegiance, are in insurrection against the National Government, and that all commercial relations between them and the loyal States must hereafter be suspended. All goods, and the vehicles or ships conveying them, which are taking in the act of passing between the two sections, are to be forfeited; and all vessels owned in whole or in part by persons in rebellion found in our waters after fifteen days from the date of this proclamation, are to be also forfeited.

On Monday last, two little boys, one a son of Gen. Imbodin, and the other a son of Chas. Hare, of this borough, got into a dispute about some amusement in which they were engaged, and commenced throwing stones. One of the stones struck Mr. Imbodin's boy in his right eye, probably destroying the sight of it forever. This is a sad lesson on the evil effects of throwing stones, and we trust it will prove a warning to the youth of this Borough.—Millerstown.

Gen. Fremont has declared Martial Law in those parts of Missouri where Peace officers are overpowered by armed Rebels. Those found in arms against the State and National Gov'ts. are subject to be shot, all their property confiscated, and their slaves made free men.

The Northumberland Baptist Association holds its 41st anniversary, at Danville, Wednesday Sept. 11th.

Elias P. Schnabel, formerly of Williamsport, has been arrested and sent to Fort Lafayette, for preaching treason at Peace Meetings in Connecticut.

One of the rebel prisoners taken in Virginia and confined at Camp Chase, Ohio, had a "letter of marque" from Gov. Wise, in which he was empowered to "pick up" Union men at five dollars a head. A more barbarous cruelty than this hired assassin was engaged in, never before disgraced a people calling themselves Christians.

About 150 mutinous soldiers have been transported from Washington to the Dry Tortugas, off Florida, to work upon the fortifications. They will be kept there at hard labor during the war or until their insubordination shall be thoroughly cured.

The Lewistown Democrat has at last discovered that the editor of the New York Day Book must be a traitor. What does it think of the men who circulated it here, and who still defend it?

A case came before the Grand Jury yesterday, in which a defendant of the Day Book was mulcted in the costs, the Jury evidently thinking he had been served right. The Day Book will yet stink to the skies of some patient Democrats with more ignominy than ever did blue light to a New England Federalist.—Lewistown Gazette.

The Secession Jeffersonian, West Chester, was quietly "gutted" one night. The thing was dying, anyhow; and it is now supposed the damage was done by friends of the proprietor, in order to excite sympathy for him, and that he might "spec" by getting damages off the Borough!

☞ The Unionists lost at Sommersville in Western Virginia (according to later accounts) only 15 killed and 36 wounded—others escaped or made prisoners.

The Grand Jury of Center county has presented the Democratic Watchman of Bellefonte on account of its affording aid and comfort to the enemy.

☞ The Union County Committee are invited to meet at the Buffalo House, Lewisburg, at 1, P.M., of Tuesday, Sept. 17 (Court week) to organize and take action if they advisable as to President Judge. The following are the Committee:

Jno F Fullmer, David Hennine, Th Penny, Geo E Sheary, Robt R Reed, R V Glover, Jos Sanders, Danl Shaffer, De Chrst, Wm Stees, John Neil, Fred Smith, Chas R Aules, Jesse Reader, Saml Marshall.
