The Voice of the North.

BY REV. C. S. HARRIS.

Up the hill-side, down the glen,
Rouse the sleeping citizen;
Summon out the might of men!

Like a lion growling low—
Like a night storm rising slow—
Like the tread of unseen foe.

It is coming—it is nigh!
Stand your homes and altars by,
On your own free threshhold die.

Clang the bells in all your spires,
On the gray hills of your sires
Fling to heaven your signal fires.

Oh! for God and duty stand,
Heart to heart and hand to hand,
'Round the old graves of the land.

Whoso shrinks or falters now,
Whoso to the yoke would bow,
Brand the craven on his brow.

Freedom's soil has only place
For a free and fearless race—
None for traitors false and base.

Perish parts—perish clan;
Strike together while you can,
Like the strong arm of one man.

Like the angel's voice sublime,
Heard above a world of crime,
Crying for the end of time.

With one heart and with one mind,
Let the North speak to the South;
Speak the word befitting both.

TRUTHFUL AND PERTINENT.—The Louisville Journal says:

"One Secessionist makes more noise than a dozen Union men. He is criminal. His powers and energies are perverted to mischief and wickedness. He curses Lincoln, he curses the Stars and Stripes, he curses Lincoln's guns, Lincoln's army, Lincoln's Government; but if he has a lot of mules or other army supplies for sale, and can sell them to one of Lincoln's contractors, he jumps with avidity at Lincoln's money!"

John C. Breckinridge has made a speech at Richmond, Ky., in which he denounces the President for the duty he is performing under his oath of office, and advises resistance to the payment of the tax. He pretends to want another election!—although Kentucky has thrice running declared for the Union and against Secession. Scoundrels like him will obey no Election unless it is in their favor!

Rebels are found in arms in the South, who had been once captured by the Union forces and released on parole of honor. It was this fact that gave point to the remark of a Yankee Volunteer, who, when a Rattlesnake had been caught in their tent, drily remarked, in reply to the query, What shall we do with him? "O, swear him, and let him go!"

The Peacemakers in Kentucky have a queer way of extending the olive branch. At the late Frankfort Convention one of the speakers hoped that "the angel of peace would guide a bullet to every Yankee's heart."

DR. HOFLAND'S

BALSAMIC CORDIAL,

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief and cure of as far as possible) cure of Patients in advanced stages of the following diseases.

THE Balsamic Cordial is entirely a Vegetable production, containing the healing properties of the balsams with the invigorating qualities of Alkali, which, when combined, as in this Cordial, [illegible] that there are but few cases of [illegible] which will not, at an early period, succumb to its healing and life giving properties.

For ages has the treatment of pulmonary diseases remained the greatest problem of the scientific of the whole medical world, but to no avail; it is now evident in his treatment of these diseases, that the celebrated Prussian Dr. Hoffland, the originator of the Balsamic Cordial. His life was devoted to the investigation of remedies that would stand universal. How well he has succeeded, the American people are able to judge, and are positively aware, that no preparations that have ever been placed before them, have conferred the same amount of benefits on suffering humanity, or have elicited so many commendations from all classes of society, as the remedies of Hoffland, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson & Co., of Philadelphia.

The Cordial is designed for a class of diseases more general and more fatal than any other to which the people of this country are subject—those springing from a "slight cold." That eminent authority, Dr. Holt, says, "I will not say that Colds are to our inhabitants what the Plague and Yellow Fever are to those of other countries; but I can say confidently that they induce in this disease of greater complexity and mortality than these latter."

Read what the eminent Glass Manufacturer, JOHN M. WHITALL, says of the BALSAMIC CORDIAL.

Dr. C. M. Jackson—Respected Friend: Having for a long time been acquainted with the virtues of the BALSAMIC CORDIAL in Coughs, Colds, Inflammation of the Lungs, &c., I thus freely bear testimony to its efficacy. For several years I have never been without it in my family. It is also given me pleasure to state that I have used it with entire success in the treatment of Bowel Complaints. The friend truly, JOHN M. WHITALL.
