PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Noon.—Messrs. Mason and Slidell have been safely lodged in Fort Warren. The Government has decided that they shall be treated in all respects, as to close confinement and fare like criminals guilty of the highest crimes against the law, until full assurance is received that Col. Corcoran and the other officers now in the hands of the Rebels shall receive the treatment due to their rank and persons as prisoners of war taken on the field of battle, according to the usages of all civilized nations.

The Government has also come to the determination to hang every privateersman duly convicted of piracy on the high seas.

On Friday night the U. S. gunboat Cambridge went up the James river as far as Warwick, and engaged and silenced a Rebel battery.

Our Eastern Shore expedition has resulted in the capture of three Rebel officers—a captain and two lieutenants—and seven pieces of artillery. All traces of disloyalty have disappeared, and the people are about to hold county meetings to renew allegiance.

The Rebel authorities have consented that clothing shall be sent to the U. S. prisoners of war at the South. The arrangement has been effected without compromising the Government in any way whatever.

The Norfolk "Day Book" of the 11th contains a statement to the effect that Col. Corcoran, three captains and eleven lieutenants, who are now held as prisoners by the Rebels at Richmond and Charleston, have been selected by lot for hanging in case the crew of the pirate Savannah shall be sentenced to be hanged.

PRISONERS AT FORT WARREN.—The whole number of persons at Fort Warren, including garrison and prisoners, is now about twelve hundred. To feed these, fourteen hundred loaves of fresh bread are sent down daily. The men are fed on alternate days with fresh and salt rations. Once in two days over fourteen hundred and fifty pounds of fresh beef are provided. The regular army rations are furnished to the garrison and prisoners alike. The political prisoners receive their rations with the rest, but can purchase other provisions if they desire a change.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20.—Col. Burchard and twenty-four men of Jennison's Brigade, attacked Capt. Hays, with 150 Rebels at the latter's place of residence to-day, and succeeded in driving them away, burning Hays' house and the house of a man named Gregg. Both Hays and Gregg are captains in the Rebel army.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 20.—The old terror has settled down upon the counties of the Southwest since the retrograde movement of our army, and refugees are beginning to arrive again, driven from their homes by fear of Price's rebels, who are reported to be again advancing.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov 22.—Passengers by the train from the West, report that the Rebels burnt the town of Warsaw, night before last, in order to prevent it from being used as winter quarters for our troops.

The Fifty-Seventh Pennsylvania Regiment, commanded by Col. Wm Maxwell, of Mercer county, now encamped near Harrisburg, are to move for Annapolis, Maryland, and go thence with other Regiments, to Port Royal, South Carolina. The ten companies are commanded by Captains J. B. Moore, of Harrisburg; Chase, of Titusville; Symington, Strubecker, Maxwell and Hogland, of Mercer county; Griffin and Caulking, of Tioga; Peck, of Bradford; and Hord.

Rev. Mr. M'Adam, Chaplain of Col. Maxwell's Regiment, preached in the Lewisburg Presbyterian Church last Sabbath.

The Seventy-sixth Pennsylvania Regiment, Col. Powers, is now encamped just beyond the Fortress, and on the road to Back River. The men have not yet received their arms, but will do so immediately.

[James Pross, 2d, and Daniel B. McGregor, of Lewisburg, we understand, are members of Col. Powers' Regiment.]

A complimentary dinner was given in Washington on Tuesday evening last, to George D. Prentice, Esq., the patriotic editor of the Louisville Journal, at which the Secretary of War made a spirited speech.

The Forty-fifth Pennsylvania Regiment, Col. Welsh, arrived at Fortress Monroe, this afternoon, Nov. 21, on the steamer Pocahontas. They came via Harrisburg and Baltimore.

☞Jesse H. Evans, School Superintendent for Clinton county, and Associate Editor of the "Lock Haven Press," recently gave the following account of A Pleasing Visit.

It was our good fortune, a few days since, to visit Mifflinburg, Union county. Years ago, when "Bossy McGuire" was Principal, we were a student in the old Academy at that place. Luther Anspach is the Principal now. In company with C. E. Haus, a schoolmate, we spent an hour in and around the old building, sat in our old seat, and stood on the old platform. The hand of decay rests heavily on that Academy, and if the protecting and preserving care of the Trustees are not speedily exercised in its behalf, it will soon be "numbered with the things that were." We met a number of our schoolfellows, some of whom we had not seen for years. Samuel H. Orwig, now a prominent lawyer in Lewisburg, was there. He and Daniel Klose sat side by side in the old Academy, and many a time their wits were tasked to "play off" some trick on "young Taylor," whose seat was close by. But Daniel is in the "sacred desk" now, and young Taylor is no longer a boy. "Speaker" we also met—and, "Smoker," well do we recollect the morning that "Bossy's" "tourbillon" was laid to your charge; but, as a disciple of Æsculapius, you will now have ample time to study the cause of that mishap, and with us laugh heartily at the recollection. Some of our old classmates are now in the army. We had just time to bid them "good-bye, and God speed," before they left for the seat of war. Three are lawyers, located in different parts of the State; four, at least, are preaching the Gospel; some twenty are teachers; one is in North Carolina, and one lies beneath the soil of Tennessee. Of others—

"Their graves are scatter'd far and wide,
By mount, and stream, and sea."

[Correspondence of the Star & Chronicle.]

Chit-Chat from Philadelphia.

In glancing over the names of the young men from the interior of Pennsylvania, who have taken official position in this city, under the present Administration, I note Col. CHARLES M. HALL, as Deputy Surveyor of the Port. It is the first public position, I believe, he has ever consented to accept; and it will gratify the desire and reasonable expectations of friends in almost every county in the State, who do not fail to appreciate him as a gentleman of superior ability, and truthfulness, and efficiency as a friend, if the future reveals to him much higher recognition. We know of no one among the large class of rising young men entering public life in this crisis for the first time, whose past record of sterling integrity and high-toned morality, as a citizen and politician, is so full of future hope as presented in the case of Col. Hall. His attachment to Gen. Cameron, dates back twenty years when he (Hall) left his native town of Sunbury to see what fortune the world might have in store for him as a poor and almost friendless printer boy. Whatever circumstance or act of kindness on the part of Cameron, formed the first basis of friendship, we do not remember to have ever heard; but certain it is, that for years past, no one of Gen. Cameron's hosts of friends have contributed more decisively, by great energy and practical judgment, to remove obstacles and influences that presented themselves to Cameron's advancement to positions that the partiality of friends indicated him to fill, than Charles M Hall.

Hall's power of concentration in forming combinations, and accurate conception of characters of men, give him great force as a politician; and his knowledge, personal and from the record, of the great mass of public men, often serves him to a good purpose. His ability as a journalist, challenged our admiration, in years past. It was in 1850, we believe, when he was invited by the leading Democratic politicians of Schuylkill county, to establish the "Mining Register," at Pottsville, and during the three or four years that he presided over its editorial columns, it took rank among the most able and influential journals in the interior of the State. Since he has taken up his residence in this city, we are gratified to know that he is securing the confidence and good opinions of large numbers of our citizens, who have heretofore had no previous personal acquaintance with him.

Under the present Administration there are several other men from the interior of the State, who have taken position here, worthy of special note; and of whom we may have leisure to speak in some future letter. V.

DEATH OF A LAD FROM DRUNKENNESS.—A lad about 11 years of age, was recently taken to the 5th precinct station house in Brooklyn, N. Y., by a citizen who had found him in a vacant lot stupidly drunk. A flask of rot-gut was found by his side, from which he drank till he was insensible. It was ascertained that his name was John Smith. He was accordingly removed to his home, and efforts were made to bring him to his senses, but unavailingly. He remained in a drunken stupor till late in the night when he died. He was a boy of previous good habits, and was never known to drink intoxicating liquors. It is supposed he procured this liquor at some distillery and drank it to ascertain how it would feel to be drunk.

REBEL INCENDIARIES.—Already seventeen woolen factories, engaged in filling contracts with the Government, have been destroyed by fire. Thursday, an iron establishment at Germantown, Philadelphia, was burned, loss $10,000, and a harness factory at Concord, N. H., loss $60,000. It is time that these rascals were caught and severely punished, for there can be little doubt that all this is the work of rebel emissaries.

PATRIOTIC.—The Pennsylvania Thirteenth, the organ of Col. Rowley's Regiment, says in its last issue: "We won't go home 'till—the safety of the Union is assured. If we have wives, they can get husbands easier than they get a country. If we have gals, they can select boys among the Home Guards if they can't wait for us; so we are content to await any other issue that may turn up in the future."

It is suggested, as the gallant Col. Corcoran is confined in the common Jail at Charlestown, and as Lieut. Worden has long been similarly imprisoned at Montgomery, that Mason and Slidell also go to Jail. They, certainly, richly deserve such treatment, with the addition of a few feet of loyal rope around their unloyal necks.

The Forty-eighth Pennsylvania regiment, Col. Nagle, from Schuylkill county, are now at Hatteras, and will be stationed at Fort Clark, which the Twentieth Indiana recently occupied. Since the storm, Fort Clark has been cut entirely off from Fort Hatteras by a new inlet which the waters made through the island.

In the Clearfield Army vote, the Republicans had 147, and the Democrats 30, for Assembly.

REV. ROBERT J. BRECKINRIDGE.

[From an extract from his letter in favor of the Union and Free Government, in the "Times" of Nov. 11, 1861.

Holy worthy of His name,
Holy worthy of His cause,
An teacher of the Gospel pure,
He's worthy of his place.

He's loyal to his God,
He's loyal, too, to man;
Among the country's loyal hosts
A leader of the van.

Of treason and wrong
He commands again the sway;
But for the right and true
He'll fight as well as pray.

A government of law,
And of the people's choice,
He always has upheld
With heart, and soul, and voice.

O, had his kinsman heard
His words of truthful tone,
A traitor's deep disgrace
His name had never known.

But so the Gospel reads:
We oft encounter those,
Our very nearest kin,
Among our direst foes.

With honied words of peace,
The traitor pave the way,
And marshal'd his deluded friends
Into the murderous fray.

And with the mischief done,
Steep'd clothing's coat-wide,
A wolf he seems, as wolf he is,
And sneaks away to hide.

This "neutral friend of peace"
Is a sworn rebel now:
And flaunts his treason in the light
Upon his brazen brow.

Truth is Ithuriel's spear!
It's keen and pointed goad
Shows to the world at once,
The Devil in the toad!*

Not so his uncle brave!
With heart so large, so leal,
He battles for his country's cause
With courage true as steel!

O, Breckinridge, the false,
And Breckinridge, the true,
Were ever two of kindred blood
So utterly unlike as you?

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 1861. JAMES AIKEN.

*See Milton's "Paradise Lost," Book iv., line 815.

The Government has now in the field and camp, and in process of formation, 600,000 volunteers, and the enlistments for the regular service are more numerous than ever.

The Government will not call for more Volunteers until it is authorized to do so by Congress.

Benj Stark, a "Peace Democrat," from Connecticut formerly, has been appointed U. S. Senator from Oregon, in the place of the gallant E. D. Baker, killed. This shows the evil of civilians entering the military service—such a Senator as Baker is supplanted by a "Peace" man!

Hinton Rowan Helper, author of "Helper's Crisis," is appointed to Brazil by the President, where his researches into the slavery question will continue to add to the great storehouse of facts which he has already collected.

The Merchants of Penns and Brush Valleys have had a meeting and resolved hereafter to do a six months' credit business, and no longer. Well, live up to that, and it will be some gain.

The two Republican papers in Tunkhannock—the Republican and the Intelligencer—have became consolidated into one. Right, and best for all concerned, doubtless.

There will have to be another "Editorial Convention" if some of the North Branch Types do not mend their manners.

Samuel J. Packer, Esq., of Sunbury, has been appointed Notary Public, in place of Dr. R. B. M'Cay, of Northumberland, now in the Army.

Rev. P. Rizer, of Sunbury, Chaplain of the N. Y. 79th, is now at Fort Royal. He speaks of the climate and country as delightful.

We learn that about sixty thousand dollars of the Patriotic 7.30 Loan has been taken in Schuylkill county, so far.

Col. Reuben Keller has removed from Snyder county to Center Hill, Center county.

GRAND REVIEW.—A great military review of sixty thousand troops took place near Washington last Wednesday, at which the President, Cabinet, General McClellan, etc., were present.

Ephraim D. Ellsworth, father of the late Col. Ellsworth, has been appointed Military Store-keeper by the President, but is not yet assigned to duty.

The British brig William R. Kirby, was seized on Monday for running the Southern blockade, and her captain was committed to Fort Lafayette.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22d.—The Post of this evening says English letters state that the British Government refuses to grant clearances from English ports, to vessels having aboard arms for the United States and shippers will hereafter be compelled to send such goods in vessels from Continental ports.

A Sensation Scene!

"Why, how do you do, Mr. Jones?"

"Pretty well, thank you. Where are you going, Mr. Smith?"

"Why, down to the Yankee Grocery, to get a can of Oysters for Thanksgiving Dinner. Wont you go along?"

"Well, how does he sell them?"

"Why, cheap! He sells everything cheap. He sells small cans for half a dollar, and a large can for a dollar. It makes the nicest dinner imaginable."
