The Restoration.

The National Administration seems to be steadily and inflexibly pursuing the line of policy pointed out by the Chicago Platform, and reiterated by the President in his journey to Washington and in both his Messages to Congress. That policy is the preservation of the Union in its pristine virtue, and the restitution to it of all territory or other property wrested from it by treason or force. Whatever obstructs it in the execution of this prime and paramount duty—whether it be personal or party friends beloved, or an abhorred institution like Slavery—must yield. The public good is the paramount interest. To this the President and his Cabinet seem to be devoting master minds with a patriotic will and unsurpassed efficiency.

Ten months ago, this Nation was practically in the hands of Traitors, who were shielded while draining its life-blood. Our sworn guardians and protectors were day by day defrauding and betraying us. The national monies and arms were given to its enemies. Our little Army and Navy were scattered and made useless as possible. Spies and perjured traitors infested every branch of the public service. Demoralization and corruption stalked abroad laughing in its strength. Ships, arsenals, forts, mints, asylums, custom houses, subtreasuries, and every description of U. S. property were openly seized, day by day. And the President said, "It can not be helped," while his party sustained him and them with the perfidious plea, "The South is right—the North must yield!"

But the People a year ago ordained a change of Administration, or every State in the Union would now be under the heels of that Slave Oligarchy which is grinding Central Virginia to powder. The members of the new Administration hold their solemn oaths of office to be binding, and the Government to be a reality—and hence, they set to work honestly to defend the threatened property of the Union, and to recover that already stolen. Already, they have saved the Capital—created an immense Army and Navy, well paid and supplied—have ferreted out thousands of traitors—have rescued Delaware and Maryland, and large portions of Virginia, Kentucky, and Missouri from the rushing wave of Secession—and have conquered a footing and raised again the Union Flag over Forts in the revolted States of North and South Carolina. Huge Armies and immense Navies are moving to finish the work of Restoration.

Next Monday, Congress meets. It has most weighty responsibilities. We trust its members will come together full of the most unselfish, patriotic impulses. Let it be a short, practical, business session—of deeds more than of words. Let it agree to nothing short of absolute submission by the Rebels, and the execution of sufficient of their ringleaders to deter others from following their examples during the present generation at least. Let the most rigid economy be required consistent with the greatest efficiency. And let the Institution which has dared to invoke this war bear its burden and its cost.—Such are our views, and we believe them to be those of the great mass of loyal citizens.

The Elections of the Year!

The Administration Endorsed.

The State Elections, in Maryland and all the Free States, for 1861, are closed. Every State Ticket elected, is pledged to the W Policy of Lincoln's Administration. This is an emphatic approval of the Republican policy by all of the Loyal States. The distinctive Republicans have gained one Governor, (in California,) and also gained one Congressman, (in Massachusetts.) ☞In no State dared the Democrats place themselves on their last Fall's platform, but in all (except Maryland, where they were beaten two to one, and in one wing of their party in California,) they came out openly and strongly for the entire, unconditional suppression of the Secession heresy. If they acted hypocritically (as many fear) it will tell against them hereafter. If they are sincere (as we would rather hope) and manfully and honestly sustain the Government, a few months will probably see the practical end of the Rebellion.

"Aunt Kitty's Tea-Table" appeared (orally in the Lewistown Gazette. Let there be more of the same sort.

Rev. Just H. Fries.

The German Reformed Messenger copies from our paper the late Esq John Schrack's sketch of the Dreisbach Church, and adds the following respecting one of its deceased notabilities, whose history deserves some more special memorial:

"The parish of father Fries extended from Annesburg, Chester county, to Paradise, Northumberland county, a distance of 40 or 50 miles. He had not even a comfortable buggy to ride in, but traveled altogether on horseback. And he was not content simply to preach, but faithfully catechized the young, visited the sick, and buried the dead. To do all this in one or two congregations is an easy matter, compared with such a field, where the extra visits required, during the intervals between preaching, had to be made over a distance of 20 or 30 miles. It was therefore no wonder, as some of his surviving parishioners say, that he was rarely at home, and had to do much of his studying in the saddle, whose many of his sermons were prepared. It was an earnest Christianity which many of our fathers of the American church possessed and practiced. The study of their lives and deeds is much needed to revive our faith and energy in prosecuting the Master's work."

☞A few copies of this paper containing the History of the Dreisbach church, for sale at this office at 2 cts each, or sent by mail (post-paid) 2 cts each.

From South-Western Missouri.

IBERIA, Oct. 20, 1861.

The mail now comes no nearer than Tuscumbia, 15 miles, and every one has to lift his own letters. Tell William that the Chronicle has come on. We had a good crop of corn, and have plenty left. We had a lot of sweet potatoes weighing from two to three pounds each. Our lives are spared us, and in good health.

We have had pretty rough times. The Rebels had full sway six or eight weeks. About 400 from our neighborhood and adjoining counties met at Lebanon, 30 miles distant, and while prowling about for prey they were attacked by our troops from Rolla, 8 or 10 miles from us; the Unionists killed, wounded, or made prisoners of 200, and are in pursuit of the balance, and I hope they will get the last one of them, for they are no better than a gang of thieves and robbers. Now, the Rebels here (having been used pretty rough of late) are quiet as mice. Springfield is 100 miles from us. Price's army is not far from Seigle with a strong force; Price will be compelled to fight, I think, and that will be about the last fight in this State at least for this fall.

The Pennsylvanians have had a great time hiding—some of them have not slept in their houses for two or three weeks at a time. I lay out three or four nights—the last time the Rebels were in, 50 came to our house at midnight; I ran up stairs, Sarah went to the door and told them I was not at home, so I got clear that time. They took me a prisoner along with some other Pennsylvanians some time ago, and kept us five days; we wouldn't take their oath for the Confederacy, and they would like to take us again and bind us a little tighter. They took property from nearly all the Pennsylvanians. Charles and William Tallman had a great deal taken from them. They have took nearly every thing that Benj. Groff left on his farm. They took our two horses, wagon, saddle, bridle, gun, and about 200 bushels corn. George is in a Regiment now at Lin creek, 28 or 30 miles from us; he is growing—taller than I am. * * *

WM. L. IRWIN.

James Irwin, Mifflinburg.

☞Ludicrous mistakes are sometimes made by the Typos. Witness the following, quoted as part of the Thanksgiving Proclamation of Gov. Andrew, of Mass.:

"Blow up the trumpet in the new moon, in the time appointed, on our solemn feast-day."

The word upon instead of "up," would, we guess, be a more literal extract, and more accurately convey His Excellency's recommendation!

How different is the spirit of the letters written by the volunteer soldiers, and that of the Democratic press! The former are disposed to be friendly and hopeful—the latter discourage, find fault, and arouse every prejudice and foment every quarrel at home which they can. These two different tendencies are easily discerned by a general comparison of the tone and temper of the two sources of impression.

☞Capt. Forrest, P.M. at Lewisburg, has opened a door for "General" as well as for "Beat" Delivery in the same range, so that two persons can wait upon customers at once and thus save time. Those who do not take boxes should inquire for letters and papers at the little opening labelled "General Delivery."

CONCRETE, for Paving, Garden Walks, &c., is a patented article made of coal tar, and gravel or coal ashes. We have seen specimens in Lock Haven which appeared to be just the thing required. A sample may be seen in front of David Mauck's in New Market St., New Berlin.

☞Who is going to buy that Hartley farm, next Monday? Last chance. Far better for persons with means to buy such a place, than to send boys and girls with money away off West!

☞In addition to the Thanksgiving services announced for yesterday morning, Rev. A.G. Dole of Milton preached for the German Reformed church, Lewisburg.

[Correspondence of the Star & Chronicle.]

NEAR FORTRESS MONROE,
Fort Hamilton, Nov 23,'61.

When I wrote last, we were in a malarious section of country, and for ten days had a hundred sick to see to every day—some with small pox, typhoid fever, measles, dysentery, diarrhœa, &c. Many are convalescent, and doing well, but several we sent to the General Hospital, too sick to travel with us at present.

On the 18th we were ordered to a more healthy camp ground. Next day afternoon we received orders to strike our tents and march to the cars in one hour's time, to be sent to Fortress Monroe. This was the most welcome news we had rec'd since we had been a Regiment; the boys threw up their hats, and gave three times three as hearty cheers as ever were given. We were ready at the appointed time, but the great amount of business on the road caused our delay until midnight; we then got aboard, and jogged along as all military trains do until 11, A. M., when we landed at Baltimore, where our men were well cared for with an excellent lunch furnished by the Relief Association.

At 5, P.M., Nov. 20th, as soon as our men, stores, and baggage could be stowed away aboard the steamer Pocahontas, we set our faces Southward. As the boat left the wharf, our Band played one national air after another until we were out on the besom of the noble Chesapeake. Night soon came on, and as all hands were very much fatigued we were soon asleep—at least I was—what I heard next morning among the men was that many did not sleep, for various reasons.

I will not attempt a description of that magnificent sight—Sunrise on the Bay! Many of the boys had never seen a porpoise, and here was fun enough for them as school after school came tumbling by. I was more delighted, (and rather provoked, too, as I could not get at them,) with the millions of canvas-back ducks which I saw all around us. Off the mouth of the Rappahannock we were halted by one of the blockading fleet, the Dawn, which fired a shot across our bow; we halted, she came close by, saw who and what we were, handed us her mail, asked us for N. York or any newspapers we might have, and bid us God speed on our mission. At 2 P.M it was announced that Fortress Monroe was in sight—all looked with anxious eyes. At 4 we landed on the wharf below the Fort, unloaded all that belonged to us, and marched to our camp, one mile from the Fort, and two from Hampton's ruins. The following Regiments are here from Pennsylvania: Welsh's 45th, Guss' 97th, Powers' 76th, and White's 55th. Newport News (which we hold) is in sight. We are six miles from Sewell's Point, where are said to be 12,000 Rebels, and 25,000 more under Magruder and Bragg at Yorktown, 16 miles distant. Every now and then we hear firing, on both sides—pickets are killed every day. A battle must come soon, and all our side are willing.

The weather here is beautiful. This morning, when I awoke I heard the robin and blue-jay chirping away as merrily as when at home of an April or May morning. I saw Cotton on the stem—it looks very pretty indeed, but it is not King yet. Our boys enjoy the salt-water bath—we are just beside the Bay.—As I have not time to write to all the friends I promised as yet, I hope each will consider this his own. Good-bye! DOC C.

Latest News

Battle at Pensacola!—Thro' Rebel sources only it is known, that, the latter part of last week, active warfare commenced between Fort Pickens and the Union fleet on the one side, and Forts M'Rae, Barrancas &c. of the Rebels. Warrington was burned, and Pensacola repeatedly set on fire, by the hot shot from our side, but two of our ships were compelled to haul off for repairs. This is the Rebel account. They giving us no news for two or three days, it is inferred they have the worst of the encounter.

The privateer Beauregard left Charleston 7th inst. and has been captured by the U.S. ship Anderson. The prize was bro't into Key West, with 27 prisoners.

The last Battle in Western Virginia, it is said, resulted in Benham's driving Floyd out, so that it may end the contest in that quarter for the present. The Rebels lost 8 or 10 killed, including one superior officer, Col. Croghan, who died in our camp from his wounds. Our loss was comparatively nothing.

ANOTHER!—A Union force has captured after throwing a few shells, Ft. Tybee, the mouth of the Savannah, in Georgia!

Gen R. Patterson, of Philadelphia, whose mismanagement at Harper's Ferry, and in the neighborhood of Winchester, it is generally supposed, lost us the battle of Bull Run, has made a defence, and throws the blame on Gen. Scott! As Patterson waited four months, until Gen. Scott left for Europe, before making this statement, we prefer waiting to hear Gen. Scott's reply before we accept an exparte defence, so long delayed!—Harrisburg Telegraph.

TO TAX-PAYERS.

THE Commissioners of Union county have levied a SPECIAL TAX of a ½ mill on $1 to pay the Interest on the $3,000,000 State Loan, also of 1 mill on $1 for the support of the families of our County Volunteers (which will not be levied next Spring.)
