

THE OLD FOY'S APPEAL

Old foyes sing on every hand—
The little man and bigger;
Wage war against the rebel land,
But do not touch "the Nigger!"

Strike any other martial blow,
And use extreme rigor,
But lest you irritate the foe,
Oh, do not touch "the Nigger!"

Let every rifle drop a man, When'er ye draw the trigger;
Aim at what vital part you can,
But do not touch "the Nigger?"

Ts true, their slaves a profit yield Of the very highest fitter,
They work them hard in trench and field,
But do not touch "the Nigger?"

What tho' they arm and drill the slave?
We do not care a fig, al!
Let the Confederate banner wave,
But do not touch "the Nigger?"

Ye seamen in the Navy, toll,
From Commodore to rigger;
Bombard the forts, possess the soil,
But do not touch "the Nigger?"

Ye fossils all, at Washington, Who "Democrat" or "Whig" are,
Coniscate what the traitors own,
But do not touch "the Nigger?"

A million dollars every day,
Is a pretty costly fitter,
But ANY money let us pay,
Rather than touch "the Nigger?"

The war dyes red our country's dust,
And every houres grows bigger;

But part with dearest friends we must,
Sooner than touch "the Nigger?"

Down with the secessors, then,
Who running such a rig are,
The reckless abolition men,
Who wish to touch "the Nigger?"

Thus sings the fogy of the grave
Of freedom he's the digger, Denies all justice to the slave,
And whines, touch not "the Nigger?"

But patriots who, the war to end,
Would wage it with all vigor, Cry to the heart the arrow send!
Give freedom to "the Nigger?"

A Plymouth Anecdote.
When has a man got enough? Never till he gets a little more. A very good story of old embargo times and the war of 1812 is told us to-day. Under the impulse of the removal of the embargo, there was a sudden rise in the value of property, and such a demand for it, that merchandise was sometimes carried off before the owners arrived at their place of business, and the parties taking it came in afterwards to say that they were at the mercy of the owners, and would pay what they chose to ask. A brig was lying in Boston harbor, which had come up from New York just before the embargo was laid, and was now in good condition, ready for sea. The Plymouth owner thought it was a good time to sell the brig, and sent up his son for the purpose, telling him to demand eight thousand dollars for her and not to take less than six. John went to Boston, found how things were going and sold the brig in a moment, and hurried home elated with his bargain. As he neared the house, he saw the gentleman marching up and down the piazza, and presently rushed out to meet his son and to hear the result of his undertaking.
"Have you sold the brig, John?"
"Yes, indeed father, you may be sure that I did."

"For how much, John?"

"Ten thousand dollars."

"Ten thousand dollars!" cried the old man with a sly eye, at hearing a price more than double what the vessel cost.

"Ten thousand dollars! I will bet you've sold her to some swindler who don't care what the price is, and never intends to pay his note."

"Note, did you say, father? Why there's no notes in the business. I got the money and put it in the bank; draw, and you will get it."

The old gentleman's excitement was suddenly cooled, and as the ruling passion rose in his place, he said:

"I say, John, couldn't you have got a little more?"

BUCKEYE REAPER & MOWER,

Manufactured by

SLIFER, WALLS, SHRINER & CO.,

Central Foundry, Lewisburg, Pa.

The Buckeye Reaper & Mower was introduced in 1857, and so perfectly was it adapted to the world, that at the Great Practical Field Trial ever held in this country, in late of the same year, at Syracuse, it triumphantly earned on the Grand Gold Medal and Diploma!

At the Indiana State Fair, held at Laporte, in 1858, nearly as many machines were represented and as thoroughly tested as at Syracuse, and the BUCKEYE was again the Victor!

And so also at nearly all the field trials and exhibitions in 1859, '60 and '61, was it a competitor. At a number of exhibitions it received the First Premium as a Reaper and First Premium as a Mower, First Premium as a Reaper and First Premium as a Combined Machine. These numerous awards prove conclusively the correctness of the decision at Syracuse.

The combined opposition of the manufacturers of Mowing and Reaping Machines and their efforts to scratch and to bring down the Buckeye, only served to prove its su-PERIORITY, and the fears they entertained of its final success and triumph were evident of the real worth and merit of the machine.

The Buckeye has now passed through four years, during which the last three over New England have been unbroken with the half and the American people are so well satisfied that there are but few cases of disease which will not be easily remedied by the leading and inspiring principles of the Buckeye.

The Buckeye has the treatment of pulmonary diseases engaged the greater portion of the attention of the physicians, and during the last three over New England there has been but one case of disease which has not been entirely removed. This is a case of consumption, and the physician who treated it, has given the following report:
"I have had the pleasure to treat a case of consumption for two years, and have been unable to effect a cure, but the patient is now in full strength, and is a strong, healthy man, and is able to do all kinds of labor."
