ARMY LETTERS.

have at last one day of rest. Evidently, yesterday, everything was ready. The great fleet lies idly rocking on the Sound It is said that Burnside has said, that he would not start on a Friday or a Sunday the first, because of the superstition con nected with it; the second, because it we not right. It seems like Sunday. The busy flitting to and fro of the little tugs the playing of bands, the drilling on the hurricane decks, the schooner with the big W (water), at the foremast, gliding from ship to ship-there is none of it to-day only the usual Sunday Company inspec tion. With that, however, there was more than usual interest taken, in the condition of the arms, the accountrements and ammunition. Yesterday we saw th schooners to be taken in tow by each ship brought up, coal put on board, water for ten days, provisions for fifteen-al seems to be roady—it is the lull befor the storm. To-morrow it will be fou weeks since we embarked at Appapoli It is well that we have to "go it blind" a to the future. One might be otherwise deterred from attempting many things.

We of the Cossack have been lucky. We President Judge-Saw't S. Woods, Lowistown Post Office were the first to enter the Inlet—the first do Atmosfate Judge-Just W. Saweryas, Millindung do do Just Water, Lowisburg do large ship that crossed the Swash. Yet Sherif-Lafarerre Atanount we have experienced inconveniences that we have experienced inconveniences that were hard to bear. Still we have not bad District Marrier, Jo. C. Berton, New Berlin near what those on the Scout had-torsed about for five days, put on short allowance of water, in a storm said to be the severest of the season, not able to see the sun for three days, most of them desperately sea-sick-we felt a sort of selfish congratulation, with all our sympathy for them. The picture they gave us, was very comical. When men have to sit down on the floor, lege braced against each other, dinner in a basket, to keep it together, and when, after so much difficulty in getting it down, not to be able to retain it there-it seems to be the pursuit of a living under extreme adverse circumstances. The Companies were brought over from the Scout, to lighten her, so as to bring her over the Swash. For some reason, she did not get over for two days. A thousand men crowded on our ship, already crowded with bare eix bundred, made it uncomfortable in the bighest degree. No policing could be done, and the floors got orzy, slimy and slippery, dirt an inch or two in thickness. Many slept out on the burricane deck, but the last night it &c., for the Book-Binder. rained, and all had to come in. The gangways, floors of both decks, were strewed MEW CLOTHING STORE full, lying down in the nasty filth, equalled only by the condition of a pig-stye-ob, it was horrible! It could not be helped, however. The next morning, when the Scout came up, a most hearty, spontaneous cheer broke out. The crews of both vessels were glad to get clear of each other. We, that we might get cleaned and breathing room ; they, that they may get back to their quarters, which were cleaned in their absence. Our ship looks lighter, gayer, since they are gone, and is as clean as a very small advance for cash. new pia. We each love our own ship, and neither would exchange with the other. One can not but appreziate the love the sailor has for the bark that has borne him bravely through the many dangers of the deep. You feel like patting its prow, and kissing its figure-head. The Companies that were on the Scout-as she came up-I could see their eyes glisten-not merely with pleasure at the near escape from of this stock of Goods-a very large assortour poisome den-they dilated with affection for the gallant bark, their home and their safe-place, through so many dark nights and dangerous days. The health of the regiment is excellent. There is but one sick in Company K, and one in Company II, convalescent, and in no dan- always kept on hand. ger. Those that have been sick, are hearty

On Friday, a clear wintry morning, a stiff nor'-wester blowing, a little schooner have in sight, running before the wind-"steered like a hog," the sailers said, badly steered-she stood in towards us, and as one of our gun-boats neared, she lowered sail and let go anchor. She was towed in. There were on board five men, deserters from the "Beaufart County Plowboys," from the "Beaufort County Plowboys," onably correct. Each Township is colored, stationed at Middleton, just across the and there are the Town Plots and No.s of Lots and there are the Town Plots and No.s of Lots in Lewisburg, Midlinburg, New Berlin, Har-Sound from us-all but one Northern men impressed into the Rebel service. One, streams are traced—the Public Roads, with named Belger, belonged to the 3d U.S. the distance in perches between roads which Artillery, sent as a spy to Maj. Anderson from Ft. Sumter, caught before be could The Court House, two of the Lewisburg U get back, sent to Stone Inlet, kept prisoner there two mouths, escaped to North Carolins, and drafted into the Plowboys. They left after roll-call the night before, stole along a creek, got on the schooner, and steered N.E. Their vessel is about 30 feet long, and is called the John Benjamin Washington. They were under command of Maj. Hall, who made a reconnoissance the other day, discovered we had 127 sail in Pamlico Sound (his count,) rushed back, ordered up two Companies as reinforcements-be then had 800 men in all-remarked that with his 800 he could whip for the fellowing 4.000 Yankees. The reports there were, that we were 30,000 strong, that the Rebels had 10,000 at Newbern and 5,000 at

Rospoks. But now the mail must go. Perhaps, by the next time, I can give narrative of escape by field as well as flood, and you and any others desired. Persons wishing any will know how far their anticipations are J. M. L.
