☞These who have heard sung the old serio-comico song of "Lord Lovel he stood at the castle gate," can best enjoy the following parody, from the Philad. Bulletin. Gen. Lovel is the vaporing Rebel who fled with his army from New Orleans, as the Unionists under Farragut, Porter, and Butler began to thunder at the gates.

THE NEW BALLAD OF LORD LOVEL.

Lord Lovel he sat in St. Charles's Hotel,
Away down at New Orleans, sat he,
As fine a case of a Southern swell
As ever you'd wish for to see—see—see,
As ever you'd wish for to see.

Lord Lovel the town had vowed to defend,
A-waving his sword on high,
He swore that his last ounce of powder he'd spend,
And in the last ditch he'd die—die—die, &c.

He swore by black, and he swore by blue,
And he swore by the stars and bars,
That never he'd fly from a Yankee crew
While he was a son of Mars.

He had fifty thousand gallant men,
Fifty thousand men had he,
Who'd all sworn with him that they'd never surrender to any turnation Yankee.

He had forts that no mudsills alive could take,
He had iron-clad boats a score,
And batteries all around the Lake,
And along by the river shore.

But Farragut came with a mighty fleet,
With a mighty fleet came he,
And great Lovel instanter began to retreat
Before the first boat he could see.

His fifty thousand gallant men
Dwindled down to thousands six,
They heard a distant cannon, and then
Commenced a-cutting their sticks.

"O tarry, Lord Lovel!" Sir Farragut cried,
"O tarry, Lord Lovel" said he.
"I rather think not," Lord Lovel replied,
"For I'm in a great hurry:

"I like the drinks at St. Charles's Hotel,
But I never could bear strong Porter,
Especially when it's served on a shell,
Or mixed in an iron mortar."

"I reckon you're right," our Farragut said,
"I reckon you're right," said he,
"And if my Butler should get at your head,
A terrible smash there'd be."

Oh, a wonder it was to see them run,
A wonderful thing to see—
And the Yankees sailed up without shooting a gun,
And captured their great city.

Lord Lovel kept running all day and night,
Lord Lovel a-running kept he,
For he swore he couldn't abide the sight
Of the gun of a live Yankee.

When Lord Lovel's life was brought to a close
By a sharp-shooting Yankee gunner,
From his head there sprouted a red, red rose,
From his feet—a Scarlet Runner!

☞We receive several papers, says the Huntingdon Globe, (a Democratic paper,) that are continually scolding about the high Taxes necessary to pay the expenses of the War. These papers never hint to their readers the assistance they gave the leading Disunionists in forcing upon the country the evil they now complain of. Had there been no Secession feeling and action, in the Charleston and Baltimore Conventions, by Northern Democrats, we do not believe there would have been any secession of States—any rebellion. The Breckinridge wing of the Democratic party gave "aid and comfort" to the traitors South during the Presidential campaign, and the leaders are still upon the same fence, claiming to be Union men, but ready to jump off on the other side should they ever see a safe opportunity to do so. Opposition to the war tax, is opposition to the war for the preservation of the Union. The man who is opposed to one is opposed to the other, and is at heart a traitor to his country. Thousands of Democrats who were deceived into the support of Breckinridge Democracy two years ago, will not be caught in the same boat a second time. The managers of the party of '60 must and will be forced to take a back seat in all future campaigns.

Those rebels who were going to fight to the death and die in the last ditch, had better begin to "hunt their holes," for General Abe is after them.

Hurrah for Gen. Abe! say we. After the whole nation had been in terror of the Merrimac for months, Old Abe started down the Potomac, and in three days he mauled Norfolk into subjection, and split the Merrimac finer than oven wood! Who says the rail-splitter isn't some in a "free fight?" The rebellion is a "big job" but he is just the man for it.—Warren Mail.

The Rebels say the Western men fight better than the Eastern men, because there is more Southern blood among them. But this is a mistake. The Union fighting, from Drainesville to New Orleans, has been by Eastern men—who have shown as much tact and pluck (but lost fewer lives in proportion) as any in the West. The Western men, however, are generally men from the Eastern States, or their descendants, or Germans—comparatively few from the South originally. Let the Yankees turn their attention to fighting, they will excel in that as in most other things.

☞When Gen. Beauregard styled his retreat, from Pittsburg Landing, a great triumph—and when, asking leave to bury his own dead, he said he had extended the same courtesy once (remember Cameron, and Bull Run!)—some one thought such a first-rate liar deserved an Epitaph: and so he "writ" the following:

"Here lies TORTANT DE BEAUREGARD,
For truth-telling he had no reward;
When the Devil gets him, Tort. will cry,
'I've caught old Satan—VICTORY!'"

The Owego Times says that at a recent wedding in that city, the bridegroom, being an army officer, wore his side-arms at the nuptials. A little wide awake brother of the bride was attracted by the display of weapons, and as he has another sister whose "true love" is a carpenter, he boldly inquired: "Ma, when Jones comes to marry Milly, will he wear his saw and hatchet by his side?"

On the 25th of August, the one thousandth anniversary of the Empire of Rusia, the government will be declared changed from an autocratic to a constitutional form.

Tears at a wedding are only the commencement of the "pickle" that the young folks are getting into.

THE DAY SCHOOL BELL.

A New Singing Book for day schools, called the Day School Bell, is now ready. It contains about 200 choice songs, Rounds, Catches, Duetts, Trios, Quartetts and Choruses, many of them written expressly for this work, besides 32 pages of the Elements of Music. The Elements are so easy and progressive, that ordinary teachers will find themselves entirely successful in instructing even young scholars to sing correctly and scientifically, while the tunes and words embrace such a variety of lively, attractive and soul stirring music and sentiments, that no public will be experienced in inducing all beginners to go on with zeal in acquiring skill in rules of the most health-giving, beauty improving, happiness yielding and order-producing exercises of school life. In simplicity of its elements, in variety and adaptation of music, and in excellence and number of its songs, original, selected and adapted, it claims by much to excel all competitors. It will be found to be the best ever issued for Seminaries, Academies and Public Schools. A few complete pages of the Elements, Tunes and Songs are given on a circular; send and get one. It is compiled by HORACE WATERS, author of "Sabbath School Bells," Nos. 1 and 2, which have had the enormous sale of 700,000 copies. Prices—paper cover, 20 cents, $15 per 100; bound, 30 cents, $22 per 100; cloth bound, embossed, gilt, 40 cents, $30 per 100. 25 copies furnished at the 100 price. Mailed free of the retail price.
