Remarkable Escapes.

Lieut. N. J. CAMP, late of Wysluising, Bradford Co., Pa., with six other Union officers, were taken prisoners at Pittsburg Landing, and were sent to Corinth, Memphis, to Montgomery, Ala., and thence to Macon in Georgia. On the 16th June, three of them contrived to escape out of the latter place, by night. Reaching the Ocmulgee river, they filed the chains off a boat, and with a tin-pan and a canteen instead of paddles, started boldly down the river, making 25 miles that night and resting in a canebrake next day. The following night, having "whittled out" some oars, they overtook a boat—both at first pretended to be Rebels, but upon closer inquiry they found the latter load also consisted of four escaped Union officers, from Iowa. Pushing along, cheering for Jeff. Davis, and telling about great Rebel victories, they skilfully avoided detection, whenever hailed. Passing the Savanna & Gulf Railroad Bridge, they were fired upon by a picket, but by hard pulling soon got beyond his sight. On the 23d, after a night with alligators in a canebrake, they passed Darien, and rested on Wolf Island. On the 24th, they pulled out upon the Atlantic Ocean, and on the 25th were picked up by the U.S. gunboat "Wanesitta," Capt. Semmes, who supplied them with much-needed food and clothing, and transferred them to the "Massachusetts," by which they reached New York early in July.—One of those prisoners composed the following verses, the first part at Montgomery, April 30, and the last after escaping from Macon.

A Yankee's Pilgrimage thro' the Rebel Wilderness.

'Tis the custom of the time to twist story into rhyme,
And modesty I will not be feigning,
So in song I'll make my wail if I curse Montgomery Jail, [nan."
Which is far from our "happy land of Caa-

CHORUS.

Ho! boys, ho! don't you hear the news?
The day of retribution is a-coming!
O, Rebels! you'll bewail Shiloh and Montgomery Jail, [land of Canaan."
When next we march upon your "happy

We were taken at Shiloh, by Beauregard & Co., [ning,
But no soldier should be heard here repi-
For the next day Gen. Buel upset their dish of gruel,
And sent them kiting thro' their happy &c.

We hope soon we shall get bail, though we linger now in jail,
With rotten meat and insult for our rations,
But we've fatted calves at home that bleat for our return,
And we'll yet feast in our happy &c.

Now, Rebels! on my soul, you had better us parole, [raining,
Or our gun-boats on your town we'll be
Then like Paddy we'll behave and take of you French lave,
And skedaddle from your happy &c.

If two Grays or Butternuts can dust out ten Blue Coats, [ning
We should like to hear your officers explain-
How it takes shot-guns and cannons, pikes and brick walls to imprison
Unarmed Yankees in your happy &c.

I suppose we ought to say how we pass each weary day,
How we rout scurvy rations and starvation,
How we keep our spirits up, and prevent the bitter cup
From o'erflowing in this happy &c.

Necessity's the mother, but a Yankee was the father, [tion,
Of that friend of the needy called Inven-
For with mud from our jail-yard and roots furnished by the guard
We drive hunger from this happy &c.

The Secesh in wonder stare at our pipes and other ware, [Indians;
As of old at beads and trinkets did the
Tho' they purchase not with gold, they give paper rags untold,
Which is money in this happy &c.

Their ports and rivers are so blocked that their foreign trade is stopped,
They pray for Manna in this happy &c.

Uncle Sam with Sampson's (Sam's sons') hands will burst our galling bands,
For Secession is nearly thro' its reigning;
Jeff. Davis and his host will in Treason's sea be lost
As we march to our happy &c.

POSTSCRIPT.

We escaped from Macon Jail without even giving bail, [keeping.
While our guards a vigilant watch were
Paddled down the Ocmulgee ——, nor did the F.F.G.'s "diskiver"
Madsill Yankees thro' their happy &c.

If we passed a man on shore, we'd surely drop our oar, [us waving,
"Hurra for Davis!" with our hats above
Give the news of "desperate fights" and of Yankees' "sudden flights,"
Thus we paddled thro' their happy &c.

At length, we got to Sea, and luckily did we [a-waving;
Spy a gunboat with the Stars and Stripes
We all pulled with one accord, and soon were safe on board—
Then we shouted for our happy &c.

These jolly Yankee boys encountered many hardships and privations. Some of their narrow escapes were indeed Providential. They some times got food from slaves, passing as Rebel soldiers, but suffered much from hunger. They saw all along the river, poor old men and women fishing for a scanty livelihood, while the able-bodied men appeared to be absent in the army. They thought there was considerable Union feeling along their route. On the 1st May, Lieut. Bliss, of Michigan, was murdered by a Rebel sentry for asserting a privilege granted him.—But think of seven sharp-eyed Unionists working their passage safely through the heart of Secesh!

Col. JEREMIAH RITTER, of East Buffalo, is respectfully recommended to the voters of Union county as an Independent candidate for Commissioner at the next October election.

Col. Ritter is a hard working mechanic, but submits his claims to the decision of the Democratic Convention.

THE DAY SCHOOL BELL.

A New Singing Book for day schools, called the Day School Bell, is now ready. It contains about 200 choice songs, Rounds, Catches, Duets, Trios, Quartetts and Choruses, many of them written expressly for the work, besides 32 pages of the Elements of Music. The Elements are so easy and progressive, that ordinary teachers will find themselves entirely successful in instructing even young scholars to sing correctly and scientifically, while the tunes and words embrace such a variety of lively, attractive and soul-stirring music and sentiments, that no public will be experienced in inducing all its pupils to go on with zeal in acquiring skill in vocal music, and thereby greatly improving, happily employing and under-producing exercises of school life. In simplicity of its elements, in variety and adaptation of music, and in excellence and number of its songs, original, selected and adapted, it claims by much to excel all competitors. It will be found to be the best ever issued for Seminaries, Academies and Public Schools. A few sample pages of the Elements, Tunes, and Songs are given in a pamphlet, send and get one. It is compiled by HORACE WATERS, author of "Sabbath School Bells," Nos. 1 and 2, which have had the enormous sale of 700,000 copies. Prices—paper cover, 20 cents $18 per 100; bound, 30 cents, $22 per 100; cloth bound, embossed, gilt, 40 cents, $30 per 100. 25 copies furnished at the 100 price. Mailed free at the retail price.
