COUNTY TICKET.

For Prothonotary—JAMES W. SAND, Mifflinburg.
Commissioner—ROBERT REED, Hartley.

Deputy surveyor—CONRAD SAILOR, Forest Hill.
Auditor—J. P. HASSENPLUG, Esq.

FAIR NOTICE!—To-day and to-morrow (Friday and Saturday) the time expires for enlistments in New Regiments for the War. Nearly two months' notice has been extended—so that ample time has been given to all who would enlist or induce others to enlist. Capt's McMurtrie and Chapman are still adding to large lists.

☞The following are among the Deputy Marshals appointed to enrol the Militia:

Union—Johnson Wolfe.
Northumberland—John L. Watson.
Montour—D. H. B. Brower.
Dauphin—A. O. H. ——.

These Deputies appoint others in every Election District, whose duty is to enroll every citizen, between 18 and 45, subject to military duty also the names of all now in the service in any capacity, or who have died, or are prisoners, or invalids from the service—designating, in each case the position, Company, and Regiment, of the person returned.

Let both lists be complete—every one liable, in every District, be fairly enrolled and credited.

Those Districts which have already furnished their full quotas will escape the draft. This honorable distinction may be gained by enlisting in New Regiments this week, or in Old Regiments the early part of next.

Marshal Wolfe appointees we suppose will attend to their duties next week.

☞Next Tuesday, we purpose giving the names &c. of all in the Union service from Lewisburg, for examinations, additions, or corrections—prepared by Mr. Randolph.

We will also insert the same for any other District in the county furnished us.

☞The two new Companies from Union county expect to start, Tuesday morning next, for Harrisburg.

☞The 131st Reg. P. V., is composed as follows:

Colonel—Peter H. Allabach, Harrisburg
Lt. Col.—Wm. B. Shautt, Williamsport
Major—Robert W. Patton, Mifflin Co.
Quartermaster—J. M. Meyer, Lewisburg
Chaplain—Sanders, Snyder Co.
Captains—Wareham,
Patton of Mifflin Co.
Ryan of Snyder.
Meyer of Union.
I. B. Davis, Northumberland.
Reeder do
Bly do
C. B. Davis, Lycoming
Shautt do
Johnson.

Col. Allabach served in the Mexican War, and is much esteemed in Harrisburg.

The Washington Republic, of Thursday, says: "Yesterday afternoon, about 4½ o'clock, the 131st Penn'a Regiment, Col. Allabach, 1,200 strong, passed up the avenue, en route for Dixie. They were armed with the new muskets, and carried two splendid flags. They carried a full drum corps, and were headed by the Colonel—a fine looking soldier—on foot."

☞We have had in type, for a week, a list of 95 members of Capt. Meyer's Company, which we withhold by request until the promised, complete list, reaches us.

☞Among the Union exchanged prisoners arrived at Baltimore, Wednesday last from Salisbury, N. C., are Capt. Cyrus Strouse, Shamokin, Pa.

Lieut. Samuel Cuskading, Lewisburg, Pa.

The returned prisoners speak of their fare and treatment as mean and miserable, generally—that the Rebels are desperately sacrificing everything they have for their cause—and call upon the Unionists to strike bold, quick, decisive blows, for nothing else will subdue their rebellious conceit and pride.

☞War Meetings have recently been held in Farmersville, Laurelton, Hartleton and Mifflinburg, Union county. They were generally well attended—speeches good and plentiful—and the recruiting officers had considerable success.

☞Wm J. Robinson, tanner, of Dauphin township, received the Republican Union nomination for Congress, Dauphin county, last Tuesday. Messrs. Freeland and Fox are re-nominated for Assembly.

☞Mrs. Catharine Wolfe, Lewisburg, sends us some specimens of Peach Plums and Sweet Bough and Kinswick Codlin Apples—grafts from which, are at service of those who desire superior fruit.

☞Dr. Wm. Hayes was called into most active surgical service after the late desperate encounter at Cedar Mountain. He speaks of visits from Charles Merrill Esq and others of Burnside's Division.

☞The decision of the farmers generally, in refusing to take Shinplasters in any shape, has tended much to keep the country from being polluted with them—and the consequence is, while millions upon millions of specie are lying idle in the banks, that outside is working more into circulation.

One mode of aiding when change is scarce at stores, is to buy up $1, $2, $3 or $5 worth of articles at a time. Or advance a dollar or two to your butcher, and trade it out—keeping as square a balance as is possible. A little forethought and calculation will make it easy to accommodate in very many cases. But the best way is to bring out and use the "chink" among those who will not hoard it or send it off for speculation.

ENFORCING THE LAW.—Government is prudently enforcing the law against those traitors who are notoriously discarding the more ignorant people against enlistments or otherwise "giving aid and comfort to the enemy." It endeavors to have clear and positive proof before taking such an unpleasant step. It arrests ringleaders in the treasonable work—those who know they are violating the law—and not their dupes, who know no better, and have no influence or responsibility. A few notorious examples to different places it is hoped will be sufficient—for the Administration can have no wish to be tyrannical, or oppressive; it merely seeks to do its sworn duty by the enforcement of the law for the nation's salvation.

☞J. A. Williamson, Esq.,
Pay and Bounty Agent
Penn'a Relief Association
Washington D. C.

is charged with the duty of obtaining arrears of pay and bounty for deceased soldiers, without expense to the survivors. Widows, &c., should remember this generous offer. Judge Casey is a member of the Association.

☞Union county has been represented in the Union army at almost every battle in the war. JAMES L. DIFFENDERFER, late of White Deer township, enlisted in Co. D., 9th Iowa Regiment—participated in the three days' fight at Pea Ridge, Ark.—and has been with Gen. Curtis' army ever since. He is a brother of our correspondent in Banks' Division.

☞Five Sunday Schools had a Union celebration in Spigelmyer's Grove, near Hartleton, last Saturday. Addresses by Messrs. Anspach, Deininger, Sassaman, Kline and Weiss—hymns—a free dinner for six hundred persons—and a happy time generally.

☞Next week completes enlistments for Old Regiments. Capt. Linn, Esq. Ranck, and James Gibson, Lewisburg—Mr. Clapham, Mifflinburg—we believe M. L. Schoch, New Berlin—and perhaps others in the county, are authorized to receive men for the Old Regiments.

☞A lady in North California writes to us that the Pacific Railroad Bill greatly advances the popularity of the Administration in that isolated region—and expresses her thanks to our Army Correspondents for their vivid descriptions of the varied events of this horrible War.

☞George A. Crawford, Esq., late a leading Democrat in Lock Haven, Pa., is talked of for Governor of Kansas by the Republicans and Douglas Democrats. He has been a firm foe of the Slavery Party in that region.

☞In his new Rooms, second floor, opposite the Lewisburg Bank, Mr. MOWRY has superior opportunities for taking and displaying his excellent work. The forenoon is the best time for taking pictures.

☞George Merrill, Esq., also, is raising a Volunteer Company, in connection with Lieutenants Evans and Tucker. Remember! this week is the last to join New Companies.

☞We understand there was frost on the mountains in the North of Hartley township, last Saturday night.

☞W. H. Rosbong, of New Berlin, opens a Select School in Middleburg, 1st Sept.

Victory at Baton Rouge.

The Rebels have been proclaiming the re-capture of the Capital of Louisiana. But the truth is that, the 5th inst., some 6 or 8,000 Rebels under Van Dorn and Breckinridge attacked one half that number, about daybreak—their ram Arkansas co-operating with them. But some of the Union gunboats engaged the Rebel ram, which was soon fired, and the Merrimac of Mississippi was destroyed. Our gunboats then co-operated with our the land forces, and the Rebels fell back from Baton Rouge, well peppered, and disinclined to renew the fight. They doubtless lost the most men, including Gen's Clark and Lovell. We lost Gen. Williams, a native of New York, a West Pointer and good man. So the boasted Rebel triumph is to them a mortifying failure.

It is rumored that Gen. Burnside will take the chief command, under Gen. Halleck, of the Army of Virginia. We think the Union public would now applaud the wisdom of the selection.

Union County Man at Cedar Mountain.

CAMP AT CHANCELLOR COURT HOUSE, VIRGINIA, August 12, 1862.

Another hotly contested battle was fought last Saturday (9th inst.) between Gen Banks' corps d'armee, and the forces of Stonewall Jackson and Ewell. The engagement took place six miles from Culpepper, and I think will be known as the Battle of Cedar Mountain. At the time the Rebel forces made their appearance in the neighborhood, Banks was encamped near Washington Court House, in Rappahannock county; he marched almost incessantly, day and night, and reached the spot, Saturday, about 4 o'clock, P. M. The artillery soon became engaged, and a continual roar was kept up for two hours. Not a half second passed without the report of a gun or the bursting of a shell. The Rebels had their chosen position, which is at all times equal to a double force. Gen. Williams, in command of the 1st Division, which consisted of Gordon's and Crawford's brigade, was ordered in the right. The 2d Mass., 3d Wis., and 27th Ind., composed Gordon's brigade, which was on the extreme right; the 5th Conn., 10th Maine, 28th N. Y., and 46th Pa., composed Crawford's brigade, to our left; and Gen. Geary's brigade was to their left. After the line was formed, skirmishers were thrown out, and soon became hotly engaged, when it was discovered that the enemy was in large force, stationed behind hills and in the timber in a semi-circular form, and our troops were obliged to advance through an open field. Almost every man saw the danger, but none faltered: they would go where ordered, if they knew it would take the last man. Before the charge was led half way through the field, we were met by the most murderous volley of musketry that was ever heard: it staggered our men, and in some places thinned the ranks as if they were deployed as skirmishers. The charge was a failure, and our line fell back. A second charge was ordered, and every able man sprang to the fray. This, also, resulted in no success: we suffered severely in officers: our Lt. Col. was killed, the Major severely wounded, and not a Captain left in the Regiment. Other regiments suffered equally in officers. Considerable confusion now prevailed, for the reason that the officers were nearly all gone. Our line was again formed, and both armies now advanced, under a steady fire from both sides, which was kept up until after the sun had sunk behind the mountains, and darkness closed the bloody scene—both parties holding their own ground. Now and then a volley of musketry was heard, where friend and foe seemed dissatisfied with their close proximity. About 10 o'clock at night we were ordered to the rear—Generals Seigel and M'Dowell had now arrived and took the advance.

Saturday night passed, with the men resting on their arms, expecting to renew the contest in the morning. And why it was not renewed, remains a question. In the afternoon, it rained. Troops continued pouring in. Sunday night passed the same as the night preceding, with the wounded, dying and dead on the field. Monday an armistice was agreed upon for both parties to bury their dead and remove their wounded—and after this was done, Stonewall was no more there.

I have not yet ascertained our exact loss: many of our men were buried on the field, and a number died while being removed from the field to Culpepper. I have no idea of the enemy's loss, but doubt whether it is so heavy as ours. Our wounded who fell into the hands of the enemy were used very well. They built shade over some, and carried them water, but for this they were well paid, for they robbed them of all they had, both dead and wounded. Captain O'Brien, of our regiment, was mortally wounded and left on the field. When we removed our wounded and buried our dead, the Captain was still alive; he stated that a Rebel doctor came to him, and after a little examination told him that he had not long to live, and he would relieve him of his valuables: so he took from him $180, and his watch. The Captain since died, and no Captain's death was ever more lamented. C. F. DIFFENDERFER, M'Clellan's immense army has made another "masterly strtagetic movement," backward, from the James River at Harrisons Landing to Fortress Monroe, Yorktown, &c. Happily, this last "strategy" of this late proudest of armies was accomplished without any loss whatever. Heintzelman's corps remain between the White House and Fredericksburg. What the main body of M'Clellan's army is to do, remains to be seen. It is believed it will co-operate with Pope, from the North, as was said to have been Sec. Stanton's plan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—A subscription for three million of dollars of the seven-thirty treasury notes, was opened at the Sub Treasury to-day and soon filled up at four and a half per cent premium. Thompson Brothers headed the list by a subscription of a million and the balance was soon taken by the leading bankers.

Donelson, La., having repeatedly fired upon Union transports, has been destroyed.

Tuesday Morning's News.

The 129th Reg. Iner Jacob G. Frick (late of Northumberland) Colonel; W. H. Armstrong, Esq., late of Lewisburg, Lieutenant Colonel; Thompson G. Evans, of Lewisburg, Sutler. It is mostly from Schuylkill and Northampton counties. Colonels Frick and Armstrong have both seen some service.

Col. Johnson's Regiment, from Indiana, Westmoreland, &c., has appointed Rev. Wm. T. Johnson, Chaplain, and Joseph B. Knox, of Lewisburg, Sutler. Among the Lieutenants is Joseph R. Weaver, of Saltsburg, a graduate at Lewisburg in 1861.

Col. M. Corcoran, of the N.Y. Irish 69th, is released—also Col. O. B. Wilcox of Mich. Both were taken at Bull Run. They are promoted to Brigadiers, and—the general feeling of the released Unionists—more hostile to Rebels than before an intimate acquaintance.

Gen. Cassius M. Clay is sent West on duty not yet made apparent.

News, from a Rebel Paper.

MEMPHIS, August 16.—The Grenada (Missis.) Appeal of the 13th states that the Federals took possession of Bayou Sara, on Monday, the 11th inst., seizing all the sugars and molasses, and quartering a garrison there.

Also, that the Rebels have been reinforced in Arkansas, their ordnance stores increased, and that Holmes has assumed the command in that State.

The Appeal contains a long editorial, in which it says: "The sooner we cease to look for foreign or East-pian intervention, the better for all concerned."

The writer also designates Vallandigham, Wood, Pierce, and Seymour, of Connecticut, with some half a dozen other prominent men, as the only true friends the South can count upon in the North.

PRENTICE, of the Louisville Journal, referring to a secret organization of disloyalists known to exist in some of the Northern States, thus graphically pictures certain papers supposed to be acting under their influences:

"We could name several newspapers, which, beyond all question to our minds, are conducted under its influence and for the furtherance of its objects. Those papers perfect indeed to be equal to the Union, in every sentiment of the anti-secession, that they know it will follow any open exhibition of treason, but they diligently devote themselves to the selection and publication of such matter as they deem calculated to dispirit the friends of the Union and to encourage the rebels."

If this "shoe" does not "fit" certain newspapers.....why, we do not know what a good fit is. We mention no names, because it is entirely unnecessary to do so in order to make the application.

OUR WITH HIM:—Beriah Magoffin, the hypocritical "Union" Governor of Kentucky, has for some reason resigned his post, and his successor, acting Gov Robinson, is said to be a true Unionist. He could not be worse than Beriah—hope he is better, for Kentucky needs a real Governor, as the Rebel bushwhackers are rising throughout the State.

A Chicago banker, named Silverwood, gathered $50,000 in specie to buy cotton in Tennessee: the Rebels got his money and burnt his cotton, and the Unionists chucked him in jail for his violation of some law. So that "speculation" with the coin which should have been among honest people, was bad all around.

Relieved from the Army pressure and all other bias, the people of North Carolina have given Zebulon B. Vance 40,000 majority for Governor over the ultra Jeff. Davis Secession candidate—just about the old-fashioned majority against Secession; and just about the same men and counties that voted against Secession, voted for Col. Vance, who is in the Army.

The Guerrilla Warfare at the West continues with varied results. It should have effect in making all pretended Unionists go to work to protect themselves, for the North will not pour out its best blood, month after month, to shield the lazy or the cowardly.

There are occasionally to be found, in the towns of the South, men who are not afraid to own that they are Union men, and enlist in our armies by scores and hundreds. In other parts, they seem utterly extinct—driven away, fearful, hopeless, or perverted from the faith.

The Honesdale Bank at a recent meeting of the Directors, passed a resolution agreeing to subscribe to the Bounty Fund an amount equal to what all the citizens of Wayne county will subscribe. This is certainly a very liberal offer.

When the Devil rebelled, God didn't swear him in and ask him to give bonds.—Louisville Journal.

No; but he gave him a pass beyond the lines to go South.—Nash. Union.

Garibaldi is said to be at the head of 50,000 men determined to march upon Rome, and deliver it over to the Italian Government. This may keep France if not England from interfering with America.

Parson Brownlow says he has made Union speeches in every Northern State, except Vermont—he don't think it necessary to speak there, for that State never voted the Locofoco ticket!

Wm. L. Yancy recommends making Jeff Davis to be Dictator of Rebeldom, with supreme powers. This illustrates the desperate straits and efforts of the leaders—but what is the "Constitution?"

The Democrats of Huntingdon nominated Hon. John Scott for State Senator. He declines—says he will not know or honor any party until Rebellion is crushed.

Col. Alex. H. Todd, a brother of Pres. Lincoln's wife, was among the Rebels killed at Baton Rogue in their failure to take that city.

The Most Vigorous Policy.

Some persons seem to think that if the Administration would only inaugurate a "more vigorous policy" in the prosecution of the war, rebellion would soon come to an end. It is useless to look to our rulers for a more vigorous policy. They are nothing without the support of the people. They can not reinforce the army or strike a telling blow at the rebels until the call for troops is adequately responded to. Radical politicians may clamor, and delude themselves with the idea that thier "policy" would go far towards inaugurating the Government. But nothing will answer in this emergency but men, stout, willing, hearty men, to take field against the forces of the enemy. The people must inaugurate the more vigorous policy by responding to the call of the Government.

Philip Daitch, a young man in Lycoming county, was shot through the arm, by some unknown person firing in ambush, who threatened a further attack, and disappeared. The affair is mysterious.

Alfred Matteson, residing in the country near Harrisburg, a few days ago, distributed gratuitously a large wagon load of fine ripe apples among the volunteers at Camp Curtin.

George Campbell, of Tioga Co., Pa., with eight sons are Volunteers in the Union Army. Two younger sons, stout boys, are left at home to take care of the family and farm.

A precocious youth being asked in geography what they raised in South Carolina, replied, "they used to raise niggers and cotton, but now they are raising the devil."

Robert J. Walker, another distinguished Southern Democrat, advocates the President's Emancipation Opinion.

A part of Gen. Curtis' command under Hovey, recently captured 700 Rebels on the White River, in Arkansas.

That distinguished Democrat, Robert Dale Owen, is out for Emancipation as the easiest way to end the Rebellion.

The pretended Rebel victories near Cumberland Gap turn out fables. All the actions in that region are favorable to the Union arms.

Thirty-five ladies out of Monroe, Jasper county, Iowa, have pledged themselves to go to the war or procure substitutes.

Jeff. Davis' policy has freed thousands of slaves; Abraham Lincoln's has not freed one.—Nashville Union.

One vote has elected a President, and one soldier may save an army and his country.

Mr. — Saltzbaugh, of Marietta, Pa., has eight out of nine sons in the Union army of 1862.

At Shamokin Dam, 11th inst., GEORGE REES, in the 66th year.

Messrs. Editors—Little LIZZIE, daughter of T. Simpson Black, of Buffalo Twp, died Monday evening, Aug. 18, aged about 4 years. In the midst of her sufferings, her thoughts were with her brother, who is in the Army. Her last words were, "Dear Dave, I'm so sorry!" In memory of this touching little incident, will you please to print these lines for her?

JAMES AIKEN.

Her very last and fondest thoughts
Were with her brother far away!
Our hearts on the battle plain
With him—more loving friends than they?

Who could have thought such tender love
Dwelt in that little infant's deep core?
And who could doubt the love of him
Who died, yet gave for evermore?

This great free nation's mighty heart
Throbs with the prudent love for those
Who give their youth, their health, their blood,
To shield her from her traitorous foes.

The neighbors, friends, and all who know
The youthful hero, or his name,
Watch with keen eyes his bright career,
And for their own, his honors claim.

But most of all, the home he left
Of the fond image in the shrine;
There, pure affection's holiest wreaths
Around his very name entwine;

His mother's heart, the central sun,
Throws out its beams of love so bright;
Each brother's, sister's kindred soul
Reflects on him the heavenly light!

The father's pride! The mother's joy!
The light of many a kindred eye!
God of the just! be thou with him,
If in the battle called to die!
