

UNION COUNTY STAR AND LEWISBURG CHRONICLE.

BY O. N. WORDEN AND J. R. CORNELIUS.

LEWISBURG, UNION CO., PA., FRIDAY, DEC. 5, 1862.

"THE UNION," established in 1814--Whole No. 2,594.

"CHRONICLE," established in 1843--Whole No. 973.

PUBLISHED SEMI-WEEKLY--

Tuesday Morning & Friday Afternoon.

At $1.50 per Year, always in Advance.

Its History.—There has been no more fruitful source of historical and other publications, than the Slaveholders' Rebellion. Every one will want a good, reliable history of it. Several have been announced. But we know of none so likely to be carried through completely, in a manner that may be depended upon, as that of the HARPERS, announced in another column. They have the capital, every facility, and the character, to give every assurance to patrons that the work will be finished, and well finished, if in human power to do so.

Thomas R. Orwig, a Sergeant of Capt. Owen's company, died this week in a Washington hospital. He graduated at Lewisburg last fall, and forthwith entered a service which absorbed all the energies of a well cultivated mind and an ardent heart. He was a son of Bishop Orwig of New Berlin, and will be mourned as a youth of more than common promise.

Jesse Hulsizer, of Capt. Moyer's Company, has also deceased, in Finley Hospital.

Rev. O. L. Hall, of Selingsgrove, serving as Chaplain in the Army, came home with the small-pox, of which he died, and was buried last Sunday. He was from the Northern part of Pennsylvania, formerly.

A native of Lewisburg, who was "born a Democrat," but is now in the Union blockading service before Charleston, S. C., states the following, in a private letter home, dated 21st ult.:

"You can tell your democratic friends of the North, that, on the receipt of the news of the their sympathizing friends, and bitter enemies of Lincoln. It is a cutting comment on the patriotism of our present democracy."

In August last, Capt. J. M. Linn, with others from every regiment in service, was sent out for six weeks' recruiting. Tuesday of last week, he, with another officer, was sent in charge of about forty recruits, stragglers, &c., to Louisville. Last Saturday, he was at Pittsburg, on board the "Navigator," with all his men together after desperate efforts to keep them, and just waiting to go down the Ohio.

DELAWARE.—The vote for President in 1860, and for Governor in 1862, were as follows:

Lincoln	Breck	Bell	Douglas
1860	3,815	7,337	3,864
	Rep. Union	Democrat
1862		8,215	8,084

A very great gain for Liberty and Union in a Border Slave State. The absent soldiers would have carried our Congressmen and the Legislature also.

Telegraph Stamps.—All persons sending Telegraph Messages are required to put on the original copy a 1 cent Telegraph stamp for messages under 20 cts.; over that a 3 ct. stamp. We have stamps at our office for accommodation. The sender must also enclose the stamps by putting the initials of his or her name, and the date, on its face. This is the law, and operators can send no message until it is complied with.

A man, calling himself Charles Stuart, last week stole a couple of oxen from P. R. Hayes, of Cogan Station, Locomotive Co. Pa., and drove them to Uniontown, Union Co., where he sold them, for $80, to Jacob Kremer. He was there overtaken, the money was restored to Kremer and the oxen to Hayes, and Stuart was sent to jail at Lewisburg to await a trial.

Post Office Department.—Even after the accession of most of the Slave States, the Receipts for the U. S. mail service were only Fifty Thousand Dollars less than before, while the Expenses were reduced Two and a Half Millions of Dollars. There have been many reforms in expenses, and careful efforts are made to render the service more perfect and effective.

CALIFORNIA.—The vote for President in 1860, and for Superintendent in 1862, were as follows:

Lincoln	Douglas	Breck	Bell
1860	39,173	28,516	34,334
	Rep. Union	Dem.	Breck
1862	51,238	21,514	15,817

A handsome Rep. Union gain.

A. Judson Roland has received an appointment as Chaplain in the Army. He is the 9th of the class of 10 last graduates of the University at Lewisburg who has seen service in the Union Army.

Capt. Crotzer acknowledges presents of a sword and belt from citizens of Lewisburg, revolver, sash &c. from his Company, and onions and pepper for his Company from Ladies of Millburg.

Bishop Orwig, of New Berlin, has been appointed by the General Conference of the Evangelical Association, to visit their German mission, next summer.

S. Neitz, substitute.

We sent all our home patrons the President's Message on Wednesday and Thursday, in an Extra, which should have reached here on Tuesday.

We observe the Democratic press are very industriously raking together every scrap of news—true or false—"Negro Outrages." If they have not enough to make out a long, sweet, fragrant dish of crimes, they print the same over and over, half a dozen times! A hundred similar misdeeds by whites, would be overlooked or denied, but every black man's is heralded and magnified! The design of all this is well understood—it is to increase and stimulate prejudice, already sufficient, as an excuse for Slavery and Secession.

[By the by, those editors never scrape together "Anglo Saxon Crimes" by the columns—nor "Irish Riots"—nor "Indian Atrocities"—nor "Rebel Barbarities," of which every page of our newspapers might be filled every week. These all they hide, but nose around and root out of the fifth every dirty deed of an African. A man so ignorant as to read those papers only, would suppose the poor darkeys were the only men in the world who do wrong.]

Escaped from Rebeldom.

[A young man in Memphis, Tenn., who spent his early years in Milton and New Berlin, Pa., in a recent private letter gave the annexed account of his preservation from a relentless despotism:]

"Sister, I want to give you a short description of a trip I made down into Mississippi, about two weeks ago. The firm in whose employ I am, had some business to transact in the lower part of that State, and I thought traveling would do me good. So I consented to go, and, as there was an acquaintance of mine going the same route, we went together. We had very little trouble in passing the pickets of either army, and had a pleasant trip. After transacting our business, and returning homeward, we found Col. Blythe [a rebel officer] had command of the forces at Oxford, including those at Hernando, and that he was enforcing the conscript law to the very letter; so we concluded to travel night only, for fear of being caught. The first night, we got about four miles this side of Hernando, and supposed we were pretty safe, but about one in the morning, we were overhauled by Guerrillas, and taken back to Col. Blythe's head quarters. He, on hearing our case, ordered a corporal and three privates to be our escort, and, after filling up some blanks, turned to us and said, 'Gentlemen! you are conscripted into the service of the Confederate States,' and then in a very patriotic style gave us a long lecture on good soldiering, &c. We agreed to go into Price's Army as volunteers, or as such enter a cavalry company. But the old Col. would hear to no such arrangement. So, after charging the corporal to deliver us to Gen. Tappan (commanding at Brook Haven) in safety, under penalty of death, he asked us if we thought we could go along peacefully without iron? 'Oh, yes,' was our response; and away we went. That day, we traveled about fourteen miles, and at night stopped at a plantation. After supper, seeing a piano standing in the room, I asked one of the young ladies if she played? She said she did, sometimes. After telling her how fond I was of music, she consented to play. I happened to have 'Bonnie Blue Flag' in my pocket, which she sang and played beautifully, and got our guard so much interested that they forgot their prisoners. I asked permission to go to the kitchen for a drink, and gave my friend the wink to follow. One of the ladies went out with us, unlocked the back door, and let us out. We bade her good bye, thanking her for her kindness. Then we started, over fences and through fields, at the rate of 2.40. But we found we could not keep up that gait all night, and, seeing we were not very closely pursued, took a short rest; we came to a plantation, where we got an old negro to give us some breakfast, which consisted of a corn-cake and a piece of meat. Then went into a hay mow, and slept until sun down, when we got some more provision, and at dark started on our journey again. That night, we swam two creeks, and waded three. About day break, we came in sight of Memphis, and truly we were rejoiced, after having such a narrow escape. After eating a hearty breakfast (in Memphis instead of Brook Haven) turned into bed. Got a very bad cold by my adventures, but nearly well of that, now."

BLACK FLAG AT CORINTH.—An Army correspondent of the Grand Rapids Eagle states that, the last charge of the Rebels at Corinth, the black flag was raised by one of their regiments. The bearer of it met the flag as deserved. No sooner was it seen by our men, than he was riddled with bullets, and he fell grasping his black flag. After the battle, he was refused a burial by our troops, and his body was lifted up against a stump, where it remains, holding this emblem of barbarity, and rotting in the sun.

A Board of Medical Officers has been appointed by the Surgeon General in Louisville, to examine candidates for the positions of Staff Surgeon and Assistant Surgeon of Volunteers. Surgeon A. P. Meyler is President of the Board—Surgeon M. Goldsmith, Secretary.—Journal.

The Harrisburg Telegraph states that the 172d Regiment of drafted men will leave this week for the seat of war. The following are the officers:

- Colonel—Charles KLECKNER, from Union county. Lieut. Colonel—not appointed. Major—not appointed. Adjutant—James A. Johnson, Blair. Quartermaster—Charles Hoover, Snyder. Sergeant—Dr. Miller. Assistant Surgeon—Dr. Miller. Chaplain—John H. Dashiell, Perry.
- A. Capt.—Michael T. Hittelman, Snyder. 1st Lieut.—Solomon H. Howerman, Dauphin. 2d Lieut.—John G. Herold, Snyder. B. Capt.—James R. Henry, Northumberland. 1st Lieut.—James F. Beeber, Northumberland. 2d Lieut.—Adam Dabson, Northumberland. C. Capt.—Henry R. Ritter, Snyder. 1st Lieut.—John A. Kitting, Dauphin. 2d Lieut.—Roosevelt Gill, Snyder. D. Capt.—George Ship, Northumberland. 1st Lieut.—Christopher Givler, Northumberland. 2d Lieut.—Thomas Hamble, Northumberland. E. Capt.—Andrew Post, Chesterfield. 1st Lieut.—William W. Miller, Elk. 2d Lieut.—Hughey, Snyder. F. Capt.—Michael Smith, Snyder. 1st Lieut.—John Brown, Snyder. 2d Lieut.—John W. Howerman, Snyder. G. Capt.—Michael Smith, Snyder. 1st Lieut.—John Brown, Snyder. 2d Lieut.—John W. Howerman, Snyder. H. Capt.—Herman K. Egan, Northumberland. 1st Lieut.—Alfred B. Patton, Monticure. 2d Lieut.—Thomas M. Egan, Monticure. I. Capt.—George Kuhns, Snyder. 1st Lieut.—Charles Boyer, Snyder. 2d Lieut.—John W. Howerman, Snyder. K. Capt.—Franklin A. Hoffman, Lebanon. 1st Lieut.—Abraham C. Williams. 2d Lieut.—Albert Adams, Northumberland.

The Union county men are with Co. G, Capt. M. Smith. Capt. Heintzelman published the Tribune in Middleburg—Lieut. Steiger and Capt. Ritter the Star, at New Berlin—and Col. Kleckner is from New Berlin. May they all give a good account of themselves, and take care of our twenty Union county boys!

The Rebellion-Indian Raid.

Dr. Wm. Jayne, late Governor of Dakota Territory, is elected its Delegate to Congress. He says the white victims of the Indian massacre in Minnesota, number from 600 to 1000, and that the people there are clamorous for a condign punishment, that shall strike terror to the invaders, and for their removal westward. A lady writing from Minnesota, describes scenes of savage torture and outrages equal to any that are recorded in history. She says that Secession Indian emissaries stirred their Indians up to this work. What a load of infamy is gathering upon the heads of the leaders of the causeless Rebellion! How long will they—in the light of the ravages of the War they started—be petted as "wayward sisters"? How long will men at the North falsely assert that the Rebels and the Indians did not begin those wars, and attempt to lay the blame on the victims of the strife, instead of the guilty leaders? The people of Minnesota "begun the war," just as much as the President did. The Rebels and the Indians—"our wayward sisters"—both commenced hostilities, and sought the life of our nation and of our people, before the latter arose to defend themselves. Yet creatures are to be found in our midst, who pronounce our acts of pure self-defence, "beginning the war." This they do to exculpate red-handed villains! How much difference is there between the Scotch and Indians, and those who apologize for their murderous work?

The effect of a change of commanders for our main army is shown by the fact that the enemy are at once drawn from the Potomac, and from an attitude of threatening Maryland and Pennsylvania, to a line of defence south of Washington, for fear their own Capital will be taken. Was there ever a greater change wrought in so short a time? Jeff Davis telegraphs to Stonewall Jackson to leave the Shenandoah valley at once if he would help save Richmond, and the whole Rebel army is supposed to be concentrating on the south bank of the Rappahannock, at Fredericksburg, to oppose Gen. Burnside's advance. It is a good sign.

Genbats have gone up the Rappahannock nearly to Fredericksburg, but beyond that our position before the enemy is not materially changed since last advice. The Rebels are throwing up new breast-works every day. Delay in bringing up the train of pontoon bridges for Gen. Burnside to cross the river, interfered with his prompt advance.

Headquarters Army of the Potomac, Wednesday Eve, Dec. 3, 1862.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning, parts of two companies, numbering in all 60 men, belonging to the 8th Pennsylvania Cavalry, under command of Capt. Wilson, who were stationed at King George Court House, were attacked by about 300 Rebels, who crossed the Rappahannock in small boats at a point some distance this side of the Court House, thus getting between this command and the main body of the cavalry. Forty out of the sixty escaped, and there is reason to believe that more of them will yet return. Capt. Wilson is among the missing. How many we had killed and wounded, is not known. The enemy left three dead. Citizens living in King George county, and who had applied for guards to protect their property, were known to be among the attacking party. They doubtless gave the information which led to the attack. (Capt. Wilson is supposed to be Samuel Wilson, late of Lewisburg, who is in Col. Gregg's cavalry regiment.)

Fortress Monroe, Dec. 2.—To Major General H. W. Halleck, General in Chief: An expedition was sent out on Suffolk yesterday by Maj. Gen. Peck, which captured to-day the celebrated Pittsburg Battery which was taken from our army, and drove the enemy across the Blackwater at Frankton. We have thirty odd prisoners, and are picking up more in the roads. Many of the enemy were killed and wounded. Our loss is trifling.

The Report of the Secretary of War says: "That portion of the United States which is now, or has been during the last year, the scene of military operations, is confined within ten military departments. The armies operating in those departments, according to recent official returns, constitute a force of seven hundred and seventy five thousand three hundred and thirty-six officers and privates, fully armed and equipped. Since the date of the returns, this number has been increased to over eight hundred thousand. When the quotas are filled up, they will number a million of men, and the estimates for next year are based upon that number."

Brig. Gen. F. E. Patterson has been found dead in bed, at Fairfax C. H., Va., shot by his own pistol, but not known whether by accident or design. It was his blundering or treachery that lost the Unionists a victory at Malvern Hill—and his father (Robert Patterson) gave the Rebels the day at the first Bull Run.

Harpers' Pictorial History OF THE GREAT REBELLION

IN THE UNITED STATES. MESSRS. HARPER & BROTHERS have commenced the issue in Numbers, of a Complete History of the Great Rebellion in the U. S. The work has been for many months in course of preparation, by a writer every way qualified for the task.

The work contains a clear account of the formation of the Confederacy of the States; the formation and adoption of the Constitution of the United States; and the establishment of the National Government; the origin, development, and progress of the doctrines of Nullification and Secession; and the various phases which they assumed, until the final culmination in the Great Rebellion.

The History proceeds as a record, drawn from the most authentic sources, of the Events of the War; intrigues of the Southern leaders at home and abroad; the gradual detection of one section; the great uprising of the People for the maintenance of the National Life and Existence; the rapid extension of an immense Army and Navy; Battles by Land and Sea.

The illustrations comprise a portrait of those who have borne a prominent part in the struggle; Maps of different localities; Plans of leading actions; Views of scenes of interest, and of the most important Battles. These illustrations are mostly from drawings taken on the spot, by artists deemed for that purpose, to accompany every division of our Army and Navy.

Every facility at the command of the Publishers has been employed in the preparation and execution of this work; and they confidently believe that it will form the most trustworthy and valuable history which can be prepared of THE GREAT STRUGGLE FOR THE AMERICAN UNION.

Mode and Terms of Publication. The work will be issued in Numbers, consisting of 24 pages of the size of Harper's Weekly, printed from clear type, upon fine paper, and will probably be completed in about Twenty Numbers.

The Numbers will be issued at intervals, if possible, of about three or four weeks. The Price of each Number, which contains matter equivalent to an ordinary volume, will be Twenty-five Cents.

The Illustrations in each Number are alone worth the price asked. Men out of employment, especially SICK OR DISABLED SOLDIERS, can find no other work so sure of ready sale and good profit. For further particulars, apply to the Publishers.
