UNION COUNTY STAR AND LEWISBURG CHRONICLE.

BY O. N. WORDEN AND J. R. CORNELIUS.

At $1.50 per Year, always in Advance.

LEWISBURG, UNION CO., PA., FRIDAY, JAN. 16, 1863.

"THE UNION," established in 1814---Whole No. 2,600.

"CHRONICLE," established in 1843---Whole No., 979.

PUBLISHED SEMI-WEEKLY---
Tuesday Morning & Friday Afternoon.

☞"Nashville" will appear, Tuesday.

☞The wound sustained by Jos. J. Schaffle proved fatal, he having died in hospital on last Sunday night. His remains were brought home on Wednesday for interment. He was in his 37th year.

☞Corp. Levi Ammons and Wm H Snyder, of Lewisburg, and John Eddy of Kelly township, who have been at home nursing the wounds which they received in battle, started back to the seat of war, on the 14th inst., to re-join their respective Companies.

☞W D Bowman, member of Company H, 131st Regiment, P. V., youngest son of Joshua Bowman, Esq., of Muncy, died in the Hospital, at Point Lookout, on Monday of last week, of wounds received at the battle of Fredericksburg.

☞A gentleman, who believes he can "discern the signs of the times," informs us that we shall have seven snows this winter. Their depth and duration he has not ciphered out, but leaves these details for the public to arrange.

☞Geo. M'Nair has entered upon the pastoral care of the Baptist Church at Treverton—and Henry Bray, at York.

☞M. H. Cobb, the founder of the Wellsboro' Agitator, has bought that establishment of Hugh Young, and again assumes control. While in the hands of Mr. Young, the Agitator was one of the most energetic and wide-awake Republican papers in Northern Pennsylvania, and, as Mr. Cobb understands his business, we believe it will sustain its reputation.

ANOTHER UNION.—The Chester Valley Times, a Republican paper, has been united with the American Republican, a Douglas Democratic paper of West Chester, Pa. All right. "In Union there is strength." But it leaves without a station, B. W. CAPRON, one of the most lively, decided, able Republican editors in the State, (and for two years, Assistant Clerk of the Senate.) We hope he may be retained somewhere in our borders, as such men are always wanted.

☞The national tax paid by Messrs. Waterman & Beaver, proprietors of Pennsylvania Iron Works, at Danville, amounted to $2,384.77 for the last month—being at the rate of over $28,000 per year.

A man by the name of John Crawford, confined in the Danville jail, managed to make his escape on the night of the 3d inst. An outside brother and a crow-bar did the business. Sheriff Young offers a reward of ten dollars for the delivery of the brothers to the jail.

P. L. Hachenberg, Attorney at Law, in Milton, has been appointed Assistant Assessor of the Excise Tax law, in place of T. S. Mackey, deceased, for that division.

"FERNENST" THE YANKEES.—That sweet and amiable sheet, the Richmond Whig, discourseth thus:

"We have committed many errors in our treatment of the Yankees. Not the least has been in regarding them as something better than they really are. They are by nature menials, and fitted only for menial duties. They are in open flagrant insurrection against their natural lords and masters, the gentlemen of the South. In the excercise of the assumed privileges, they deport themselves with all the extravagant airs, the insolence, the cruelty, the cowardice and love of rapine, which have ever characterized the revolt of slaves. The former leniency of their masters only serves to aggravate the ferocity of their natures."

"By nature menials, and only fitted for menial duties," eh? Well now, that's enough to offend a body! It appears, then, that in making slaves of men, they are not over fastidious in regard to color of hide or kink of hair; a Yankee is as good as a nigger, if he obeys his master, and behaves himself.

We presume many would think it one of the most absurd hallucinations imaginable to suppose that any sane man North of Mason and Dixon's line would be puerile enough to get down on his marrow-bones and ask such dictators as the Secesh claim to be, to take him on their own conditions, and treat him as they chose. But the following paragraph dispels that idea at once. Charles Ingersoll, an acknowledged leader of the Democratic party, in a speech delivered in Philad. last week, said:

"How, then, is reunion to be established? We are told that the south will not again join us; that men, women and children there are influenced with passion, and have resolved on independence. If they yield to this passion, and cling to their resolve, I grant that the Union can not be restored. But if the Democratic party should hold possession of the Government, it would say, gentlemen, name your terms."

Is Mr. Ingersoll really in earnest? If he is willing to accept the terms above indicated, lay off his lemon kids, take up a hoe and agree to barter away the liberties of the whole Yankee nation, he exhibits more anxiety to save the Union than he had credit for possessing.

HARRISBURG CORRESPONDENCE.

MONDAY, Jan. 12, 1863.

Saturday evening, closed the series of Union Prayer meetings, now so common throughout the Christian World during the first week in January. They were held alternately in the O. S. Presbyterian, Methodist, German Reformed, Baptist, N. S. Presbyterian, and Lutheran, houses of worship. The attendance was generally large. The exercises consisted of short prayers and congregational singing, with two or three addresses on particular subjects announced previously. Harrisburg appears to have a band of faithful pastors—generally in the prime of life—all loyal men, outspoken for the cause of the country, and in favor of suppressing the Rebellion, and doing away its prompting cause. Conspicuous in this spirit are Dr. Hay of the Lutheran church, Dr. Moore of the Methodist, Messrs. Robinson and Cattell of the Presbyterians, Wood of the Baptist, and others whose names I did not hear. A Mrs. Beecher has been attracting considerable attention by her sermonizing to the Bethel or Winebrennarian congregation.

The adjournment over to Monday is generally made to give the Speakers time to arrange their Committees (as far as they can) to their own and the general satisfaction. Almost every one having "an axe to grind," desires to get upon a particular committee, while some of the most important Committees all desire to avoid. So you see that "Mr Speaker" has his troubles as well as his honors, to do justly and satisfy all.

I hear little if anything about the small-pox, except from those who wish to adjourn the Legislature to Philadelphia, or from those who wish to frighten away others to promote their own interests. One candidate for office here told about a dozen lies a day to drive off his competitor—all the while pretending that he did not want the office! They tell about a member from Berks, of an unpronounceable name, who some years since was exceedingly troubled on the small-pox question. Every day, some fun-looking members, by pre-arrangement, would approach him, and in the course of conversation would incidentally allude to the exceeding prevalence and alarming fatality of that world's plague. He bore it for some days, and at length gathered up his documents to depart for Berks county and leave this vain world behind him. He had reached the door of the Chamber, when a bright thought struck him, and he returned, his face all radiant with pleasure as he exclaimed, "Fy jinks, come to sink, I had sem sings once!"—"Yes, but," his kind friends assured him, "some folks have it two or three times." "Mr. A. had it twice." "I knew Mr. B. to have it two or three times, and died at last!" This put Mr. Berks county on nettles again, and he cast one sad look upon the "seat on the Legislator" for which he had so long aspired, and bundled up to depart. Arrived, again, at the door, the sacrifice was too great to be made—and he returned to inquire, "Did Mr. B. tie the second or the sird time?"—he hanged if he would n't risk it any how!"

Yesterday, hundreds of "roughs" from Philadelphia came to Harrisburg, to "regulate" the election of U. S. Senator. It is a very sorry compliment to Democracy of the modern stamp, that its own chosen men can not be trusted, or must be awed by brute force, into compulsory obedience to a caucus. Talk about "constitution," to men who exalt the majority in a party caucus above the solemn oath of sworn members to do what they think is best for their country! That party is now calling upon a mob of the worst rowdies left in our cities to control the election of a U. S. Senator for six years, by intimidation! How much of "liberty" have men thus surrounded! That modern "Democrat," Louis Napoleon, secured his election as President—and then became Emperor—by the same use of brute force. "You may vote as you please, but if you don't vote Democratic the bludgeon or the bayonet is your fate!" is the language of this sort of politicians.....To the honor of the Republicans be it said, they trust their own men, and seek not to coerce or terrify by threats their action, under oath, for what they consider is the best for the masses.

TUESDAY, Jan. 13, 1863.

Yesterday, the Senate considered the propriety—in view of the threats and excitements raised for a purpose, and of the bands of men sent here to attempt to coerce and overawe the Legislature—of postponing the election of U. S. Senator. A fight ensued amid this crowd of ruffians thus sent here, last evening, and one man was stabbed dangerously. The Democratic caucus last evening nominated Buckalew—a Whig originally, but chiming in with the strong party in his own native county, where he has become a leading man. In the State Senate, he was noted for his adroitness and want of soul-love for liberty; and his sojourn in the slave empire of Brazil seems not to have improved his mental vision, although it repaired his health. His pamphlet on "Minority Representation" seems to be brought out at this time to shield the Slave Power from submission: but when he and said power were in the majority, they had no objection to the majority principle! Buckalew is a favored man: and although when I printed the "Programmes" for his exhibitions (with others) at the "Hereford Academy" in Susquehanna county, I had no expectation of writing out the tally papers for his election to the National Senate. I have no personal objection.

On the sixth ballot, in the Dem. caucus, Gen. Foster's friends threw their votes to Buckalew, who had 39 votes; James Campbell, of Philad., 19; and F. W. Hughes (uncle of John Hughes) only 8.

In the arrangement of the Senate Committees, Mr. Johnson is placed on the Federal Relations, Judiciary, Pensions and Gratuities. Mr. Bound is on Finance, Judiciary, and Library.

NEW U. S. SENATOR.—There was, as usual, a large crowd—perhaps, larger than usual—to witness the election, at noon, this day. Speaker Lawrence, of the Senate, presided. After all the manifold guessings, prophesyings, threatenings, pretended bargainings, "bribings," &c. &c. reported, every man of each party was in his seat, and voted as his previous party professions would indicate, as follows:

Charles R. Buckalew, of Columbia 67
Simon Cameron, of Dauphin 65
Wm D. Kelley, of Philad. 1—66

Laporte of Bradford, who voted for Kelley, would have voted for Cameron, if it would have elected him. But one majority for Buckalew is as good as a dozen. It gives him, if spared and the Union preserved, a seat in the National Senate for six years, in place of Judge Wilmot. Now, we presume, Buckalew thinks the majority should carry—in his own case at least. With his admitted abilities, and towering ambition, let us hope he will also aspire to the true dignity of a Statesman, and with enlarged views, and deeper thought, and more profound acknowledgment of human rights, never more

"Olive up to party what was meant for mankind."

A visit to the public houses around town, after the election, and a sight of the beings transported hither to "regulate the Democracy" was not very flattering to the successful nominee, to his party, to our country, or to the immaculate "white race." Never have I seen so villainous and intoxicated a set of men together. Pockets were picked by the dozen. Dead drunk in bar room and sitting room—dead drunk on chairs, sofas, boards, floors, and side-walks—dead drunk in chambers and cellars all night—compelling little colored boot-blacks to clean their feet for nothing—swearing how "mean their whiskey was after election, and champaigne before election"—in a word, a mass of the most of abandoned and wretched of the well-clothed of our kind, black-eyed, bloated, bruised from encounters even with lager-beer women....such were they who some one imported here to threaten and overawe the representatives of the whole State! After such exhibitions of Philadelphia persons and tactics, our country people desire not to have the State House any nearer that city.

This election is an impressive lesson to our party. The least combined effort, last fall, would have given us the State Ticket, Congress, and Legislature. May this warning be effective—next fall, not only—but ever after, that we must labor to carry out our views by the election of our own men, and never despair or grow weary or careless.

Gen. Cameron has many warm personal friends here among the Democratic party, who would like to see him again in the U. S. Senate, as the best for the State, on the whole, of any man. But among the Members were none such whose party zeal and fear were not paramount to their convictions of the general good.

The Senate ordered the committee on the Judiciary to report a General Bill for the payment of Volunteers in each county of the State. There was no opposition to this patriotic move, made by Senators Boughter and Lowry.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 14, 1863.

Lieut. Daniel Bower Co. H, 147th Reg. P. V., (Geary's Division) informs me he leaves to-day to rejoin his regiment. He appears to be well.

The cleaning of the Capitol buildings is a rank which calls out in bold relief the wants of the adult females for compensating employment. Probably hundreds apply when but 15 or 50 can be employed, in sections every other day, and it is heart-reading, when the names of those deemed most worthy and needy are read off, to hear the wailings of those not preferred. The 50 cents per day compensation appears to them as of as much importance as the best office in the Senate or House of the struggling men competitors there. The Senate adopted the rule to prefer those women who had been left destitute of their former aid by the calamities of the war.

NEW RAILWAY.—Robert Crane, Esq., of Jersey Shore, is the manager of the Reading & Columbia Railway. It passes through Manheim, Ephrata, and other points in Lancaster, reaching Reading along the track of the Lebanon Valley Road. This opens up a new route to the tourist, which all would do well to "make a note of."

On the first ballot, the Democratic caucus this evening nominated Wm. V. Magrath, of Philad., for State Treasurer—he having 55 votes.

In the arrangement of the House Committee Capt. Ritter is placed on Agriculture and Manufactures, Divorces, and Militia system. Mr. Strouse is on Miners and Minerals, and Divorces.

THURSDAY, Jan. 15.

Had a call this morning from Capt. Wm H. Blair, of Bellefonte, my successor here nine years ago. His eyesight is now recovered, and he returns to service with the immortal 57th P. V.

In the Senate, on motion of Mr. White, the new Republican Senator from Indiana, the Senate took up the consideration of the bill from the Militia committee, extending to the families of the drafted men, the same means of relief as are provided by law for volunteers. When we remember that the families of the drafted are generally more numerous and as needy as those of the volunteers, this measure seems just and timely. It passed without opposition.

Four More New States.

The people of the territories of Nebraska, Nevada, Utah and Colorado, have been authorized, by a recent act of Congress, to form State Governments and frame Constitutions, preparatory to being admitted into the Union as sovereign states on an equality with the other commonwealths. Three of these four states may be counted on as coming into the Union on the basis of freedom. The first of these territories has already felt the hand of the slaveholding tyrant and traitor—while the people of Nevada and Colorado know sufficient of the ruling of slavery to compel them to reject its domination from their soil. Utah, of course, will attempt to come in as a slave state. The barbarities of concubinage, polygamy, and lust already recognized as the religion of a large majority of the people of Utah, would be ably supported and left without defence unless the institution of slavery be also engrafted on the system of government for that State. But even with this, Congress may take it into its head to interfere. The slave pens of the south and the harems of Utah will soon be all that will be left of Democratic platforms, and these are already doomed.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

LIBERAL OFFER.—The publishers of the Sunday School Times are prepared to furnish specimen copies of their paper, with very liberal inducements to Superintendents, Teachers, and others, who will aid them in extending its circulation during the coming year. This opportunity should not pass unimproved. Now is the time to act. Address J. C. Garrigues & Co., 148 S. 4th Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

Latest News

The Union forces at Vicksburg, sustained a complete repulse. The Rebels understand its value and have made immense preparations for its defence. Gen. Sherman met a much larger force than he had anticipated, and, after some very severe fighting in which he lost from 2,000 to 3,000 men, he was obliged to re-embark, and abandon the work for the present.

Rebel accounts state that an immense Union force is collecting at Newbern, N. C., to be commanded by the daring Gen. Foster, who recently, by rapid movements did so much damage to the rebel lines of travel, in North Carolina. The Rebels expect hot work at Wilmington and Goldsboro'. The force they estimate at not less than 80,000 strong. The harbors of Newbern and Beaufort are filled with transports and gunboats.

The rebels in considerable force, under Gen. Marmaduke, advanced upon Springfield, Mo., and it was thought for a time that our forces could not hold out against them. After a severe struggle, however, the rebels were driven off with but little loss on our side, and at last accounts were in full retreat. An immense quantity of army stores have been gathered at that place which the rebels coveted.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30.—Three negro regiments are to do garrison duty at Forts St. Philip, Jackson and Pike. Commodore Farragut was about to attack Port Hudson, but was probably waiting for Gen. Banks to make a land attack in conjunction with him. A rumor was current at New Orleans that Jeff. Davis was preparing an expedition to retake the Crescent City.

On New Year's morning, four rebel rams dashed in among our fleet at Galveston, Texas, ran alongside of the Harriet Lane, killed her gunners and commander, and then captured the vessel. Another vessel, the Westfield, to prevent her capture, was blown up, and with her perished nearly all of the crew, including commander Renshaw. Two companies of the 124 Massachusetts Volunteers were also captured. The expedition was commanded by the Rebel Gen. Magruder, NASHVILLE, Jan. 14.—Wheeler's rebel cavalry, with a battery, attacked three of our boats at Hart Shoals yesterday. The boat Ino, with two hundred sick and wounded, was fired into, and the men captured and paroled. The other boats, laden with commissary stores, were burned. Our gunboat the Sidell, engaged the Rebels, but surrendered. Her guns were thrown overboard, and the boat burned. Lieutenant Van Dorn was taken prisoner.

THE WAY TO DO IT.—Gen. Butler's management of affairs at New Orleans is magnificent. He has fed and supported 30,000 whites, 10,000 colored persons, organized two regiments of colored soldiers, who he says "have been of great help to him." He has changed that city from a lawless condition to one of order and safety, inspired confidence among all classes of the population, "and deposited in the Treasury of the U. S. three quarters of a million of dollars;" all mainly from confiscated estates of aristocratic rebel traitors. He has asserted the authority of the old flag, without cost; in fact his administration has been profitable to all concerned, the government and the governed. The General would carry on the war at the expenses of the Rebels, and instead of depletement, he would fill up the National Treasury.

General Butler certainly unites high soldierly qualities with consummate financial ability.

There are now on hand at the United States Armory, at Springfield, from thirty thousand to forty thousand new rifles, all packed and ready for shipment. This is the first time since the war broke out that there has been a supply ahead of the demand. The armory now turns out about a thousand rifles a day.

Sweet to Labor for those we Love.

A good wife rose from her bed one morn,
And thought, with a heroine dread,
Of the pile of clothes to be washed, and more
Than a dozen mouths to be fed.
There's the meals to get for the men in the field,
And the children to mind away
To school, and the cows to be skimmed and churned,
And all to be done that day.

It had rained that night, and all the wood
Was as wet as it could be;
And there were puddles and pools to bale, besides
And a load of logs to tow.
And the day was cold, and her aching head
Throbbed wearily as she said:
"I think you should know what good wives know,
They would be in no haste to wed."

"Jennie, what think you I told Ben Brown?"
Called the farmer from the well;
And a flush crept up to his bronzed brow
And his eyes lost their lofty pride.
"It was this," he said, and coming near,
He smiled, and stooping down
Kissed her cheek.—"Jennie, this, that you were the best,
And deserved well to own."

The farmer went back to the field, and the wife,
In a vanishing, airy way,
Sang snatches of lovely little songs
She'd not sung for many a day.
And the pain in her head was gone, and the clothes
Were as white as the foam of the sea;
Her bread was right, and her butter was sweet
And golden as it could be.

"Just think," the children all cried in a breath,
"Tom Wood has run off to the sea!
He wouldn't, I know, if he only had
As happy a home as we."
The night came down, and the good wife smiled
To herself, as she softly said,
"'Tis no sweet to labor for those we love,
It's not strange that maids will wed."
