THE OLD CONTINENTALS.

Let us awake the memories of that old glorious struggle, and re-animate our patriotism, with the "drum and trumpet" lines of Guy Humphrey M'Master, wherein the battle of Bunker Hill is celebrated in verse that sounds like the roll of drums and the rattle of musketry:

In their ragged regimentals, Stood the old Continentals,

Yielding not. When the Grenzliers were lunging, And like hail fell the plunging Connon shot; When the files

Of the isles, From the smoky night encampment Bore the banner of the rampant

Unicorn, And grummer, grummer, grummer, Rolled the roll of the drummer, Through the morn!

Then with eyes to the front all, And with guns horizontal, Stood our sires; And the balls whistled deadly, And in streams flashed redly, Blazed the fires,

As the roar On the shore Swept the strong battle breakers O'er the green sodded acros Of the plain, And louder, louder, louder,

Cracked the black gun-powder Cracking amain? Now like the smiths at their forges

Working the red of St. George's

Cannoniers; And the "villainous salt-petre" Rung a fierce, discordant meter, Round our cars; As the swift Storm drift

With hot, sweeping anger, Came the horse guard's clangor On our flanks, Then higher, higher, higher,

Burned the old fashioned are Through the ranks!

Then the old fashioned Colonel Galloped through the white infernal, Powder cloud.

And his broad sword was swinging, And his brazen throat was ringing Trumpet loud; Then the blue Bullets flew

And the trooper jackets redden At the touch of the leaden Rifle breath, And rounder, rounder, rounder,

Reared the iron six-pounder, Hurling death.
