The return of the nine months' men has a decided effect upon Copperhead newspapers, making them discharge less venom than heretofore. They no longer declare them slaves, obliged to pass loyal resolutions at the bidding of superiors. They no longer falsify the truth and seek to discourage and disgust the volunteers by copying such stuff as the following : "Each soldier must be loyal, and his Officers of The he lives on mouldy biseast, and fights without p If his wife at home is starying, he must not be

In time of peace, a few years ago, Judge Kane sent Passmore Williamson to prison, and kept him there long timefor no treason, no breach of peace, but because he told the truth to a slave of a North Carolinian, that, on being bro't by the master to a free State, the slave was free. Then, not one Democratic press condemned this flagrant outrage of the Constitution, incarcerating in a dungeon, &c. All these might be violated, in time of peace, to aid a slaveholder. But, to aid Liberty and Union in time of war (they argue) no one can use the privilege of "suspension of habeas corpus" authorized by the Constitution! What base inconsistency !

After the raid, the people of Clarksburg and vicinity were greatly embittered against Copeland, on account of his known Rebel sentiments, and some of them went so far as to demand the destruction of his property. Several nights ago, a party of soldiers or citizens, whether by proper authority or not, went to Copeland's house, with a view of practising a deception upon him, and inducing him to commit himself, that he might be subject to arrest. They dressed one of their number in the uniform Tory papers talk about "Lincoln mak- of a Rebel officer, and sent bim alone to him upon the success of the Rebel raid, stating that Lee had defeated Hookerthat the Federal army had been beaten at Vickeburg-that the Yankee forces had been scattered and demoralized everywhere.
