LAW VERSUS SAW.

Sitting in his office, was a lawyer; Standing in the street, was a sawyer. On the lawyer's anxious face You could read a knotty case, Needing law!

While the sawyer, guant and grim, On a rough and knotty limb Run his saw.

Now his saw-horse seemed to me Like a double X in fee; And the saw, Whichever way 'twas thrust,

Must be followed by the "dust,"

Like the law. And that log upon the rack, Like a client on the track, Played its part,

And the tempered teeth of steel Made a wound, that would not heal, Through the heart.

And each severed stick that fell, In its falling seemed to tell, All too plain, Of the many severed ties

Then, methought, the sturdy paw That was using axe and saw On the wood, Had a yielding mine of wealth.

That in law-suits will arise,

Bringing pain.

In its honest toil was health-All was good. And the chips that strewed the ground, By some stricken widow found,

In her need. Shall with cheerful warmth impart Blessings on her aged heart-Happy deed!

This conclusion, then, I draw-That no exercise of jaw, Twisting India-rubber law, Is as good

As the exercise of paw, In the handle of a saw-Sawing wood.

[O, psha! faugh! The "Poick" who composed the above must have stood on all fours when he "done" it. It might do for some wooden country, but not where Holstein and Fegley and Nesbit and such Black Republicans keep Coals on hand. We'll bet a Confederate $100 bill that the fellow never sawed a stick of wood in his life. He may think it is the "poetry of motion" to see a "broth" of a Milesian, a phlegmatic Teuton, an American of Ethiopic descent, or a proud Caucassian to the "manner" born, bowing and bobbing to a saw-horse by the hour ; but let him follow it faithfully for a day, and if he don't get apt to write some more poetry about the beauty of sawing would be share of the public patronage. Resibeauty of sawing wood! "Sawing wood," in June, indeed! It almost breaks one's back to think of it !]

Be One or the Other.

I was recently in company with one of those insane young gentlemen who, as Theodore Winthrop says in his "Ceeil Dreeme." laud slavery and think they are "aristogratic." The fellow "went on" for a time, when Mrs. - said, politely, "If you sympathize with the Rebels.

an early period, successed as the period properties.

For ages has the treatment of pulmonary diseases eccupied the greater portion of the attention of the scientific of the medical world, but none acquired more eminence in his treatment of these diseases, than the celebrated Prussian Dr. Hoodand, the eriginator of the Baisamic Cordial. His life was devoted to the production of remedies that would stand uorivaied. How well he has succeeded, the American people are able to judge: and we positively assert, that to preparations that have erre been placed before them, have conferred the same amount of benefits on suffering humanity, or have ellicited so many commendations from all classes of society, as the remedice of Heodaud, prepared by Dr. C. they care the every-sky complaints of every bedy, but also formishable and disargerous diseases that have belted the best of human skill. While they preduce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in distributed does, the safest and best player that can be employed for children.
Gaing sugar-costed, they are pleasant to take; and belty purely very-table, are free from any risk of larm. Cure

COMMENDATIONS.

From How Lowes D. Canvestle, M. C., Ohio

My family and friends all concur in the opinion that the (Newell) Picture is more life like than any thing they ever saw. My likeness has been repeatedly taken by different Arthels in various ways, but I have never yet had one which presents of true to nature, all the features any expressions of countenance as this.
