Treasurer—WILLIAM JONES, Lewisburg.
Auditor—WILLIAM F. SEEBOLD, Hartleton.

Election, Tuesday, Oct. 13, 1863.

☞ We issue our paper a day earlier than usual, that all may see the list of men drafted on Tuesday. As in every county, there are many drawn in Union who should not have been put in the box, but as little discretion was allowed enrolling officers, (who were somewhat hurried in their labors) it is probable that ours was as near correct as any.

Every man drafted will first have a notice served, on himself or at his residence, after which he has ten days to procure exemption if he desires it, by coming to Lewisburg, and is not obliged to go to Harrisburg.

Those drafted, in weighing the matter, should remember that the Government needs Men more than Money. Those procuring Substitutes are exempted for three years or during the war; those paying $300, are not exempt from the next draft, which may come in a few months if the first draft is not sufficient.

☞ Sec 11 of the law says that drafted men, "when called into service, shall be placed on the same footing in all respects as Volunteers, for three years or during the war, including advance pay and bounty as now provided by law."

How?

The Old Original Copperhead in the Garden of Eden told our first parents they might rebel against a law of God, and they should "not die." They transgressed—and fell.

Last year his descendants assured some simple minded souls that if they would vote for Sleuker, Seymour, &c., there should be no draft. Some of them tried it, Eve fashion, and found themselves "sold" again.

And now, we learn from various quarters, the emissaries of Woodward are telling the people to elect him, and the War will soon end. We hope it may soon end, whoever is elected: but his power over it, or disposition to aid in its close, we "don't see." He says, in a speech published in all his papers, "Let South Carolina go in peace, if she go at all," just as Buchannan allowed them to do. Neither he nor his platform advocated the putting down of the Rebellion which is the War. Vallandigham, who is endorsed by Woodward and his friends, boasts he never voted "a man or a dollar" to defend the Government. Woodward pronounces "negro slavery an incalculable blessing." How, then, would they end the War? Why, by allowing our armies to thin out and be destroyed—and thus permitting the Rebels to conquer and subjugate all the Free States they choose—establishing Slavery and a Monarchy all over the North. That would be the result of the triumph of the principles and measures of Woodward and Vallandigham.

Spurn them!

There are now combinations of friends of Judge Woodward, who offer to give or loan $300 to drafted men (Republicans) on the condition (express or implied) that they should vote for Woodward! This is both illegal and unpatriotic. We are told these scamps meet some sharp rebukes from honest, thoughtful men, who love their country, and indignantly exclaim—

"They knew that I was poor,
And they thought that I was base,
They thought that I'd endure
To be covered with disgrace.
So they offered me a BRIBE
For MY VOTE, begs! my vote!"

☞ Read the article, "The Union as it is," on our last page, and show it to your neighbors. It exhibits the true nature of the "incalculable blessing" which Judge Woodward is willing to spread over Pennsylvania! What do White Men, laboring for the daily bread of their families, think of it?

☞ The draft in New York city was proceeded with on Wednesday. There was no disturbance. After the General Government and the Police had made all necessary arrangements to preserve the peace, Gov. Seymour came out with a Jesuitical proclamation: requiring his "friends" not to violate the laws!

☞ There is a Democratic National Convention movement in progress. Some men are so party-blind and bound that they are struggling for office even before we know whether we shall have another Presidential Election! Plenty of time to talk about President, months hence.

☞ James F. Cornelius, 51st P.V. is at home. He reports that he left the regiment, 16th inst., near Cincinnati. They had lost only Mr. Barklow, of Union county—all the others well, and bound (they suppose) to the place they left in Kentucky.

☞ Any candid, honest man, who has seen the process of drafting, allows it is fair and honest, for a blind man, his eyes bandaged, generally draws the names from a wheel in which they are thoroughly mixed and shaken. Most extraordinary results may occur. For example—in the Copperhead papers we find it asserted—

"In Boston, nine persons were drafted from a single boarding house.—N. Y. Argus."

This is the best evidence that the drafting was not fairly performed; for if the names in the wheel had been well mixed, it would have been impossible to draw out so many belonging to one house.

The fact in the first paragraph may be so, but the inference in the second is false and intended to do evil. The two on the roll in the CHRONICLE office were "hit," but none in the Argus office. We make no complaint of unfairness—but if that office had won two prizes, and ours none, some jealous-pated chaps would have sworn it was all partiality and persecution!

☞ The siege of Charleston is warmly contested. It is probable a combined naval and land attack has been made ere this. Gilmore is hopeful of success.

Minor enterprises in the West are mostly prosperous to our cause.

☞ Wayne M'Veagh, of West Chester, is the Chairman of the Union State Committee—John B. Linn, member for Union county.

☞ James and Robert Hummel, the noted deserters of Snyder county, are again drafted.

More from Gen. Logan.

This brave Democratic Soldier—lately for Slavery, Compromise, and Peace—is now stumping Southern Illinois, and for the most vigorous prosecution of the War. Thousands hang upon his burning lips—we make two quotations. He says:

"Our government is worth fighting for. It is worth generations and centuries of war. It is worth the lives of the best and noblest men in the land. We will fight for this government for the sake of ourselves and our children. Our little ones shall read in history of the men who stood by the Government in its dark and gloomy hours. It shall be the proud boast of many that their fathers died in this glorious struggle for American liberty."

"We have split the Confederacy in two, leaving on one side Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Missouri—more territory than is on the eastern side. We have made a gulf that is impassable for them. We have cut them in two—separated them, one-half from the other. We can hurl our strength upon one-half and whip them, then upon the other and whip that. This idea that one of them is as good as five of us, is pretty well played out. They are pretty well satisfied that one Yankee is just as good as one gentleman from the South; and, when they got into close quarters, they think he is a little better. We have the men and the means to crush out the Rebellion and restore the Union. All we want is, the sympathy of the people. Then I hope the President of the United States will have the nerve to say: 'Jeff., come forth; you have forfeited your head by your treason to your country, and it shall come off your shoulders.' When this is done, there will be no more treason in this country. There will be no more Rebels in the United States—no more foul conspirators against the government.

New Editors among the Rebels.

One of the first acts of our soldiers, on taking posession of a Rebel town, is the establishment of a loyal newspaper. The ranks of our armies, filled by men who have not had the inestimable advantage of instruction on "stumps and by the wayside," furnish editors and printers at call. The last specimen we have seen is The Yazoo Daily Yankee, published at Yazoo City, Mississippi, by "Messrs. Mudsill, Small fisted Farmer, Greasy Mechanic, & Co." We copy one article.

"The people of the South a unit."—There never was a greater humbug than this. Large numbers of Union men have already come within our lines, and are anxious to take the oath of allegiance to the United States. Upon inquiry, however, they are found not to be slave owners. The Georgia soldiers are more than half of them anxious to fight for the Union, and not against it. In Arkansas, to-day, if a fair vote could be had, they would come back to the Union by an overwhelming majority. Texas the same way. Union men, be of good cheer! Your day of deliverance draws nigh! You who have stood firm for the good old government through the fiery ordeal of secession and rebellion, at the sacrifice of your property and your friends, are not forgotten by the brave hearts of the North. For every garden the Rebels have taken from you, you shall have a plantation; and for every blow you received, your enemies shall have ten dealt to them."

☞ In South Hanover, Dauphin county, the draft "hit" three men—cousins, we guess—out of 27, named as follows:

Christian B. Landis
Christian C. Landis, and Christian F. Landis.

The French, in Mexico, appear to be desirous of aiding the Rebels by procuring a recognition of their independence, from France. England is becoming more strong against recognition.

Brig. Gen. Thomas Welch, of Columbia, Pa., late of the 4th Pa. Vol., died in Cincinnatti, last week. He served in Mexico, and in this war, with distinction.
