FOR PRESENT,

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Truthful Tribute.

DANIEL S. DICKINSON, the "Democrat" war-horse of New York, whose memory reaches back to the War of 1812, in a recent speech said that President Lincoln and his Administration, made nine mistakes where President Lincoln made one. None are perfect, either in judgment or disposition, but we believe President Lincoln has shown as much good sense and practical sagacity, in his unexpected and novel dilemmas, as any man ever exhibited. Traitors were prepared and plotting against him, on every hand; but he has contrived to thwart them, to raise men and money in astonishing numbers and amounts, to organize campaigns, and has made very large conquests. We can see some of his difficulties, but doubtless there are thousands of trials and perplexities hid in his own heart, known only to the great Searcher, whose aid he invoked when leaving the "home" to which he has not returned in almost three years of crushing cares and agonizing anxieties. He has erred in some things, as all men who confide in all others, but his errors are not such as to condemn him to harsh censure. Often he has to "choose between evils," and what wonder that there are some always carping fault-finders, as well as real sufferers whose lot is hard? The best of men are evilly entreated, and who tries hardest to be right is often most faulted. Into large armies drift the worst and most troublesome of men; great contracts stimulate the worst propensities; and no human foresight or skill can always detect the guilty, or tell who are the most to be confided in among a multitude of competitors for office or supplies.

If Abraham Lincoln is not wholly misunderstood, he is most eminent for his knowledge of human nature, and judging where and when to strike a blow or make a move. This skill of personality has, heretofore, made him successful, and we hope may bear him through. Some think he does not do this or that soon enough, while others think him too quick in the same matter: probably he moves about the right time, when the whole field is taken into consideration.

The recent Elections have been virtually contested upon the President's Administration, (whatever minor names may have been employed), and the success of every Union ticket is really an endorsement of the Administration. And, as in the midst of the War of 1812, it was deemed impolitic to remove Pres. Madison, even for a superior man (DeWitt Clinton), so now, even if a better were to be found, it would be unwise to hazard a change.

Invaluable Auxiliaries.
It has been remarked, that in this contest for the life of the Nation, nearly if not quite all of the religious papers in the Free States have stood up for the Administration. In other words, they have sustained the Government, as represented by its constituted authorities. The same may be said of the literary, agricultural, professional, mechanical, commercial and miscellaneous journals in general. They take this course, not as "politicians," in the ordinary, partisan use of that word, but as a personal and common duty to a good government, and for the highest interests of mankind. They regard our heaven-blessed institutions as only "a terror to evil-doers, but a praise to them that do well." In this, these journals truly represent the views of the great mass of their readers. They reflect the sentiments of religious people generally, and of all those not particularly interested in partisan warfare. Many of this class, heretofore, have not even voted, but have given up, wholly, into the hands of mere self-seeking politicians, their voice in directing State and National affairs, so that they are now bitterly assailed for the exercise of that natural and constitutional right.

The National Benevolent Societies are also proving themselves important auxiliaries of the Government. Not strictly religious, yet they are composed of like honest, unselfish materials. The Masonic, the Odd Fellows, and the Sons of Temperance organizations, take open, decided ground for sustaining the Government.

In these two classes of self-sacrificing, sincere, intelligent, and unambitious upholders, we believe our Government may rely for ultimate triumph, even while many respectable, well meaning citizens, are led astray by falsehoods, prejudice, and accidental circumstances, into practical hostility to their best earthly friend.

The Union county drafted men report at Lewisburg as follows:
Friday, 12th Nov--Ready, Buffalo, Saturday, 13th--Rat, Buffalo, West Buffalo, Hartley, Monday, 14th--Killy, Lewis, Hartleson, Tuesday, 15th--Lawrence, Wednesday, 16th--Limestone, White Deer, New Berlin, Thursday, 17th--Union, White Deer.

Every man to bring along his two notices.
A letter from the Captain of Comp. E., 1424 P. V., in our next.

The Crime of Speculation.

The "Harrisburg Telegraph" has some just and forcible comments upon the conduct of men of great wealth, who combine to buy up most articles of prime necessity, and then demand exorbitant prices for the same from retailers. "The War" is not the cause of much of our advanced rates; it is merely an excuse or pretence for it, on the part of extortioners, most of them Rebel sympathizers at heart. The real cause is the greedy, ungodly desire for gain which animates too many men, whose hearts seem to grow harder by success, and "the more they have the more they want."

These evils can not be cured by law. ECONOMY, OF ENTIRE ABSTINENCE ON THE PART OF CONSUMERS, IS THE CHIEF REMEDY. Many of these speculators will break down, and their families become beggars, and few will mourn for the men who suffer what they needlessly inflicted on others.

Take printing paper, for example. Our great Southern market for paper being all cut off, and fewer books printed than before, paper should naturally be cheaper rather than dearer. But speculators raised it, in some cases, to double former prices. Our paper for the STAR & CHRONICLE rose from $7 per week, to $11 or $12, but is now down to $9. Here has been a loss on paper, to us, of $400, which we have borne ourselves, entirely, without any increase in the price of our paper, or reduction of its quality; whether we can endure to bear all the loss another year, is questionable.

There have been corresponding advances in most kinds of goods, and in some wages, but not in all. Persons living on stated salaries, or with fixed incomes, and most sorts of workmen and workwomen, have not yet increased their means of livelihood, even while its expenses have increased. They deserve to be aided, and their circumstances taken into consideration by all good citizens who can ease their lot.

While Farmers, Manufacturers and Merchants generally have advanced on their products and wares beyond the tariffs and taxes, Teachers, Clergymen, and Mechanics and unskilled Laborers in general, (albeit specially subject to the grievance of the high rates for necessities) have not thus increased their means.

Many need to learn to do without luxuries and superfluities, and the "must-haves" of a family are found not to be essential. Studying economy in food and dress, wasting nothing in useless or injurious habits, forethought, and mutual forbearance, should enable us to brave through, until Rebels and Foresters--both sorts of domestic foes--shall go to destruction together, unwept by the thousands they have distressed, harassed and ruined.

Voluntary Offerings.
The women of the Aid Society would thank the friends of the wounded and sick soldiers, for the contributions to their fund, remaining unpaid, promised at the recent celebration.

How cheering is sympathy in a good work, and the evidence of it, in a generous gift! When our own hearts are throbbing with interest for our suffering soldiers, and our willing hands are working for them, how delightful to feel that other hearts beat responsive to our own, and that those who can not sew or prepare delicacies for the sick, are yet willing and happy to contribute of their money to this good cause! The voluntary offering is twice blessed--"blesses him that gives and him that takes." This is the way to contribute from a full heart, and "the Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

Any one who desires information as to the Society with which we co-operate, the U. S. Sanitary Commission, can obtain documents of the Associate manager, Mrs. H. S. Dickinson. The Commission, like all earthly things, must have its imperfections, but to our mind it comes near a realization of perfect good will to man, and is conducted, in all its affairs, with most remarkable wisdom and economy.

Appointment.
Gov. Curtin has appointed JAMES L. REYNOLDS, Esq., of Lancaster, Quartermaster, in place of Gen. Reuben C. Hale, dec'd. Like Mr. Hale, Mr. Reynolds is a Union Democrat, who has done good service to the cause. He is a brother of the gallant Gen. John F. Reynolds, who, at Gettysburg, on the first day of that great contest, was of so much service in securing the ground upon which our other troops formed and won the victory.... a struggle in which he and many others shed their life blood.

At the Court in Sunbury last week, Judge Jordan gave the Grand Jury very sharp hints about the shabbiness of the Court House, but they "could n't see it."... A trial for murder in the eastern part of the county, resulted in the acquittal of the Deft.... Mary Leiser obtained a divorce from John Leiser.... The political Turbutville "riot" case was again frustrated.

Military Execution.

WHAT COPPERHEADISM LEADS TO. The following confession of a dying man, reveals the inside of Copperheadism beyond dispute. Read it, honest Democrats! and ask yourselves who are the more guilty, the infamous politicians, who instigated that soldier to desert and to murder the officer who sought to arrest him, or the soldier himself?

Regen Stout, a deserter from the 60th Indiana Volunteers, was shot at Johnson's Island, on Friday last. Before the execution, he detailed the circumstances under which he was induced to leave his regiment, and the crime he was tempted to commit. He was at home, on sick leave, it seems. He says, in his confession, "After I had been there about two weeks, I was advised by persons not to go back to the army. They said this was only an 'abolition war,' and advised me to stay at home and they would protect me. I was induced to go to a meeting of the so called 'Knights of the Golden Circle,' and was made a member of that organization. The obligations of the order, bound us to do all we could against the war--to resist a draft, if one should be made, and likewise to resist and oppose all conscription or emancipation measures, in every possible way. We were sworn to stand by each other in all measures of resistance. We were pledged to do all we could to prevent another man or dollar going from the State for the further prosecution of the war."

Views of Gen. Sickles.
In a recent speech at New York, the brave Gen. Sickles (formerly a radical Democrat) said of Pres. Lincoln, "he whom the burden has most bent, has never faltered in heart or purpose. Grappling with questions more difficult and delicate than ever before tried, he has borne himself that every loyal heart acknowledges the candor, ability and tact which signalize our first Magistrate."

"The surest way to peace is to fortify the Government with public opinion. The worst foe of the army, the real opponent of peace, is he who by delay or act hinders the re-inforcements. By all means, let there be volunteers. Another grand uprising of the North, like that which followed Sumpter, would carry dismay to the Southern Cabinet and camp."

"This war will annihilate any leader, or party, or institution, that stands in our way. In future years, it must be the test of all respectable preferment, 'how did he stand in the great war for the Union?' If in that struggle he has been false, his doom will be that of the Tories of the Revolution--of the Blue-light F.-d.-eralists--of the Vallandighams of 1863."

As approximating their population, we give the majority, and whole vote for Governor, in such neighboring Boroughs as we have returns for:

The recent Fairs of the North West at Chicago, got up for the benefit of the Soldiers, have been immensely attended, have been very profitable for the end designed, and have greatly stimulated the benevolence and the patriotism of the country. The Farmers send in their best by the wagon and ear loads; the most eminent ladies cook and serve it up; and the prices paid per meal are clear gain.

The Fair lasted several days, if not until the present time, and marks an era in our history full of the most sacred and touching recollections of the people's virtues.

Some of the papers last week started a report of the death of Gov. Curtin, then about helping the New Yorkers to win their Union victory. He had a reputation in the City the night of the Election, but has since returned to Harrisburg, rather improved in health by the variation of life caused by diverting his mind from military affairs, and mingling with the civilians at their country homes. Having again turned particular attention to the details of State duties, we trust he may be spared to witness peaceful times again.

At Berwick, 5th inst., W. Wickham Case, late of the University at Lewisburg, was ordained to the Gospel ministry. He serves the Berwick and Brier Creek Baptist churches as Pastor.

The Smallpox is somewhat troublesome in Lock Haven.

The President's Views.

In reply to resolutions of the West New Jersey Baptist Association, Pres. Lincoln directs Sec. Seward to write--
"You may be well assured that, so far as it belongs to him, no vigor and no perseverance shall be wanting to suppress the existing insurrection, and to preserve and maintain the Union of the States and the integrity of the country. You may further rest assured that the President is looking for a restoration of peace on no other basis than that of the unconditional acquiescence, by the people of all the States, in the constitutional authority of the Federal Government."

"The President is moreover especially sensible of the wisdom of your counsils in recommending the cultivation, by the government and people of the United States, of a spirit of meekness, humiliation, and dependence on Almighty God, as an indispensable condition of obtaining that divine aid and favor without which all human wisdom and all human power, tho' directed to the wisest and most benevolent ends, are unavailing. In a time of danger like this, a State, especially a Republic, as you justly imply, ought to repress and expel all personal ambitions, jealousies, and asperities, and become one united, harmonious, loyal and devotional people."

Who is he?--On the field of Gettysburg, after the battle, the dead body of a Union soldier was found, holding in his clasped hands an embryo of three children, a girl and two boys, aged apparently about nine, seven and five years. In the picture, the youngest child, a boy, is seated in a high chair, between his elder brother and his sister, while the dresses of the two latter are made of the same material. The soldier was buried on the field where he fell, and his grave is marked, but his name could not be ascertained. The picture is now in possession of Dr. Bourne, 1104 Spring Garden street, Philadelphia, who can be called upon or addressed in reference to it.

Photographs of the children, published and advertised, the profits to go to the hospitals, would probably result in finding those doubtless bereaved of a fond parent.

The night before Election, Sen. SEWARD spoke at his home in Auburn, N. Y., and prophesied victory on the morrow. He said that, in the nature of things, there could be no peace until Abraham Lincoln, or his constitutionally chosen successor, was President of the whole United States; that Slavery was to perish with the war it had created; that the doors were always open to the prodigal son, but no invitations sent after them, though they would be welcomed as brothers when, repentant, they returned to their father's house.

Rev. J. Anderson Kelly, Agent for the University, has removed to Lewisburg and opened an office in Frick's Block, on N. 3d St., three doors from Market.

NOT LOST--We stated last week that the burglars who broke open Judge Jordan's safe, had taken four Northern Central Railway Company Bonds of $500 each, belonging to Mrs. Wilson. We are pleased to learn from Judge Jordan, that he has since found them among other papers. The robbers had taken off the wrapper, which they left lying on the floor, but, as it appears, stuck the bonds in among some other papers in the safe.--Sunbury American.

The deprivations and horrid sufferings of our prisoners in the hands of the Rebels, at Richmond, are becoming shocking to the sensibilities of the world, and are in special contrast with our kindness to their prisoners. Of over 100 recently returned to Annapolis, 6 or 7 die daily from the effects of previous starvation and ill treatment.

On Friday last, a mob of coal miners in the Mauch Chunk region killed several men, and are said to be combined to resist the draft. Military have been sent to the aid of the civil force. These mobs have been so frequent, and the danger and interruption to business so great, as to cause most of the rise in the price of coal this year.

John R. Forrest, for robbing the mails at Perrine, Mercer county, Pa., a few weeks ago, was tried at the October term of the United States District Court at Pittsburgh, was found guilty, and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary of Pennsylvania.

Since the Election, we see that Vallandigham denies having written the letter to Col. Inshall, of Alabama, wishing the Rebels success in their holy cause. Shouldn't wonder if Val. yet claimed to be an "original" War man.

Judge M'Calmont was defeated for Assembly in Venango county by 250 majority. A deserved rebuke to a man who, after coming back from the army, gives his support to the opposers both of the Government and that Army.

John Hall, Detroit, was so overcome by the news of the defeat of Vallandigham, that, late on Tuesday night, he went to the dock and drowned himself. He had previously said he would do so if Vallandigham was not elected. Poor fool!

The two leading Copperhead papers in New York--the Aryas and the World--have united their fortunes. The reading, reflecting people, do not sustain sheets of that character.

Tate, of the Columbia Democrat, in order to inform those of his patrons who can not read how the election went, put in the roster on his back.

The last Copperhead name for our President, is, "the Belshazzar of America."

Latest News

Dates from Chattanooga to Friday last. Affairs in East Tennessee were satisfactory. James Geary, a Mississippi Breeder General, has been captured by the Unionists in one of several minor engagements in which our forces have generally the advantage.

Fort Sumter is Ours again!
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.--The U. S. Steamer Saloon, from Charleston, reports as the result of our recent reconnoitering, that on the 3d inst., Fort Sumter, demolished, was taken possession of by the 14th Penn'a Reg. Thus, after 24 years' possession, the Rebellion is struck where it commences firing upon the Old Flag. This puts us much nearer Charleston.

Maryland--Election of Cresswell.
Returns from the Eastern Shore give Mr. Cresswell, the Unconditional Union candidate for Congress, 1,000 majority. He receives majorities in Cecil, Worcester, Caroline, Talbot, Somerset, Queen Ann and Dorchester counties. Crisfield, mostly carries one county (Kent.) by 362 majority. This result is considered a great and unexpected triumph for Emancipation in Maryland, giving us four Congressmen (the fifth not known.)

From Newbern, North Carolina.
The Raleigh Standard appeals to the Conservatives to rally at the Falls against the Destructionists on election day. It adds there is no chance for peace counsel until the original Secessionists are banished from power. In alluding to the recent defeat of the Democracy in Ohio and Pennsylvania, the Standard says the last ray of hope for the South from the North has departed. The North is banded against the South, by immense majorities. The war will go on and be prosecuted by the Federal Government as a matter of business. Lincoln will be re-elected, and the prospect of peace will be more distant than ever. The Southern people stand alone with the world against them, and they had better make peace with Providence or the North very soon.

Fresh regiments have arrived here to take the place of the veterans who have gone elsewhere. The Rebel iron clad which is being constructed on the Neuse river, is reported nearly ready for a raid in this direction. The war debt of North Carolina is being rapidly extinguished by the proceeds received from blockade runners.

A boy named Lehman, 17 years of age, employed in carrying the mail between the Williamsport P. O. and the Railroad depot, has been detected in pilfering letters.

Mrs. Warbler, who advertised in Maine for a husband, has received over seventy applications, and still warbles for more.

The Emancipation majority in Baltimore is a little over 10,000 votes.

In 28 counties in Illinois, the Union tickets gain 15,079 votes.
