BY O. N. WORDEN AND J. R. CORNELIUS.

LEWISBURG, UNION CO., PA., TUESDAY, NOV. 17, 1863.

"CHRONICLE," established in 1843—Whole No. 1,922.

PUBLISHED SEMI-WEEKLY—
Tuesday Morning & Friday Afternoon.

FOR PRESIDENT,
ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The examination of our drafted men is going on quietly but thoroughly. The following is the order:

Friendly Warning.—Drafted men are again exhorted not to be cheated, by sharpers from Snyder county or elsewhere, who tell less informed men that they can get them exempted. The Official Board only has power to do it, and Dick, Jack, Frank & Co., outsiders, have no more to do with it than the Man in the Moon has. Except for purely professional advice, and making out papers, money obtained by practicing upon the fears or ignorance of men, is sheer swindling, and the threatened prosecution of such impostors should be done effectually. Readers! warn every drafted man on this point.

Improvements in Lewisburg.
Amid the din of a war which absorbs the chief thoughts of our patriotic people, a greatly increased vote indicates a steady growth of population. In common with most towns in the Loyal States, there is here a need of more dwelling houses to supply the calls.

In our annual round of observation, we noticed, first, the superior new store room and dwelling of N. R. Zimmerman, on Market Square—improvements on the premises of Messrs. Green, Bacher, Schaefer, and Grier, on Lower Market St., and the new dwelling of Charles Roland on Upper Market St. Of A. Kennedy on N. Third St. On S. 4th St. the elegant Schoolhouse is completed and occupied, and on N. 4th St. the kitchen of Thos. Lewis, and the re-modeled dwellings of Saml. Morrow and Henry A. Wendessall. On S. 5th St. the dwelling of James M. Mowery. On St. Louis and 6th St., a frame dwelling of J. Elliot. On 8th St., the dwelling of John Lilly. On S. 5th St. is a shop where Carkeuff & Paine can't make their Cutlers fast enough to supply the demand.

The Female Institute and College edifices have been shingled, the former felt and gravel preparation on the roofs not keeping out the water.

The new Company having re-ordered their gas pipes, at great expense, the town is again enjoying gas-light—we hope more satisfactorily than under former dispensations.

Our Steam Saw Mill, Planing Mills, and Agricultural Works, seem to be enlarging their operations, and have plenty of work.

Hear Pennsylvania in East Tennessee!

Although disfranchised, the Penn's soldiers under Gen. Burnside, at Knoxville, Tenn., last month expressed their choice for Governor, as follows:

	Curtin	Woodward
45th P.V.	318	16
48th	264	0
50th	190	4
51st	306	50
100th	314	3
	1392	53

In five Reg's, a maj. of 1339 for Curtin. One Dem. out of 26 voters!

While the Army Election Returns show over nine out of ten in the Army are "Abolitionists," fighting the Southern Democrats who got up the Rebellion, the Copperhead journals are full of pleas and arguments that the "Abolitionists" should still further enlist, and leave all the Cops at home to get the offices and disfranchise the Soldiers! We insist that the Administration's supporters have now more than their full share in the ranks, and ought not in justice or fairness to be asked to give any more except as may fall to their lot by draft. Another reason why Democrats should go as well as Republicans, is, that when once into the contest, those that have more brains than blind party stubbornness almost invariably become friends of the Government—and the nearer we come to that point, the better are the prospects of peace by putting down those who broke the peace and continue their lawless violence.

Fatal Accident.

On the evening of the 10th inst. a child (aged 2 1/2 years) of James Ellis, of Brady Tp., was left alone, when its clothes caught fire from a lamp; the child ran out and screamed, when a passing neighbor went to its assistance, but it was so badly burnt over the abdomen, hands, and face, that, although able to tell how the accident happened, it died in 30 hours afterwards. Persons with burning clothes should not run and fan the flame, but rather lie down and roll over on the bare floor, a woolen carpet, or the ground, if they can not get water handy.

On Saturday week, near the Depot in Northumberland borough, a fire burned two houses and a number of stables. It was not a very great loss, as the Sunbury engines were prompt in rendering help, but one or two families lost their goods.

The two Sorts of Democracy agree on one Point.

COPPERHEAD VIEW.
The Copperhead Democrats have few more able or observing leaders than Mr. DIEFFENBACH, of the Lock Haven Democrat. In his paper, 5th Nov., he commences an article with the annexed prophecy:

"Next President—The future."
"We observe that our Democratic friends throughout the State are taking heart again, and as a precursor of political victory and National vitality and Union are proposing to nominate General McClellan for President. When his election occurs, we may all illuminate our dwellings; but we had best not buy candles in advance! Mr. Lincoln can re-elect himself, and he will do it. Being constitutionally the Commander-in-Chief of our immense armies, he can, through the influence of all the officers, every one of whom is dependent upon him for promotion, control the Electoral votes of at least Ohio, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, California, Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, and the six Yankee States will of course go for an Abolitionist, in preference to a Union Democrat or anybody else that proposes to preserve the Union—as it was. Then we have only New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Indiana, Oregon, and Illinois, to look to, and the Democracy can not depend upon any one of these—against the corrupting power of the immense sums of money collected from the people, which Abe can and will devote to re-electing himself. All this will be so, unless presidential interference saves us; and we do not see that this country, in view of the proceedings of the people, both as to public and private affairs, is very much entitled to such favor."

So far, so good. But then Kansas, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Oregon and Illinois, and perhaps a few new Free States, are quite as reliable for Lincoln as the other States named, and "Jarvis" alone can't save you!

UNION VIEW.
Of the Union or War Democracy, Mr. YOUNGMAN, of the Sunbury Gazette, has long ranked among the first, and supports Lincoln for re-election. By the following article, from his paper of the same week, it will be seen that he practically arrives at the same conclusion as Br. Dieffenbach. Dr. Youngman says:

"The extinction of the so-called Democratic party, has been made a fixed fact. This great event is attributable more to the conduct of the leaders of that party, than to the efforts of its opponents. Its decline may be regarded as a case of suicide. But this is not an exceptional case in the history of this country. To die has been the inevitable fate of all parties which have opposed the governmental authorities while engaged in war."

"The Tories of the Revolution were the enemies of the heroic founders of our Government. They opposed the Revolution, and, in consequence, became extinct as a party, and have since been regarded as infamously."

"The Federalists opposed the War of 1812. Their opposition was founded upon a legitimate question of policy, in which the existence of our free institutions was not involved, as it was in the Revolution, and is now in the present struggle; yet the opposition of Federalists to the war of 1812 was enough to consign their party to destruction, and it accordingly went out of existence."

"The late Whig party were the opponents of the war against Mexico. Yet, notwithstanding the wicked and infamous object of that war, (as has been developed by ulterior events,) the bare fact of their hostility to the governing authorities while struggling with an enemy, was enough to ruin the party. The Whigs could not survive that false step, and speedily died out as a political organization."

"The fourth example is shown in the death of the Democratic party, caused by its opposition to the war for the suppression of the slave-holders' rebellion. Leaders of this party precipitated the country into this terrible civil war. Democratic (so-called) Senators, Members of Congress, and Cabinet officers rebelled against the American Government, for a political purpose, and the party, as a political organization, sustained them in it, opposing the constituted authorities engaged in war, and the result has been seen this year at the polls, where the most withering rebuke has been administered to this faction of unscrupulous politicians."

"As the Federalists and Whigs, for a few years after committing the act which ensured their death, made some signs of life, so the virtually defunct Democracy may next year attempt to elect a President. Probably they may imitate the example of the Whigs in 1852, when they tried to resuscitate their party by running a military man for the Presidency, and most signally failed. But history teaches us that the death of the falsely styled Democracy is at hand. It may give another kick before giving up the ghost; but those of its members who are wise, will observe the signs—will read understandingly the lessons of history—and, before the next Presidential election, will place themselves as to avoid the stigma of belonging to the effete organization at the time of its final and unobscured extinction in 1864."

In giving publicity to the above diverse and yet harmonious views of the two wings of the old Democracy, we do not assent to all their statements as facts, but only quote them to show that they substantially agree as to who will be next President. We who are sometimes styled "Abolitionists," are happy for once to agree in judgment with our sometime antagonists. And if the result be a foregone conclusion, it would be a wise and benefi-cent course—for individuals and for the country—to have Pres. Lincoln's re-election (like those of Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe) without any serious, organized opposition. An honest man if there be one living, Old Abe tries to do the fair and just thing all around, and the War would be sooner and better determined if there be no bitter party strife until it be done and well done! Let the Rebels, the grumblers, and the Governments of Europe, know that the Presidential chair is not to be risked by any change of incumbents, and the influence will be favorable on the right side.

Showing their Teeth.—Certain vile Copperhead Judges in New York recently tried to injure the public credit by a decision against "greenbacks," which decision was promptly overruled by a higher tribunal, and we have now a bank currency equal in value everywhere.

The three Copperhead Judges in this State—Woodward, Lowrie, and Thompson—at Pittsburg, last week, gave some kind of a Fred Scott stump speech against the National law for calling out men to save the country from the Rebels and traitors. The Union Judges (Strong and Reed) dissented, in a written, powerful argument, by Judge Strong. As Judge Cadwalader (Union Democrat) of the United States District Court, had previously declared it to be a constitutional law, this vain attempt of a condemned State Court to interfere, will be fruitless, for the Nation is superior to the State by the Constitution, and naturally, Copperheads! You can't bite (fatally) in the Autumn of your days. Sneak to your holes, and harass each other; your biases will not destroy the Union. Agnew soon takes Lowrie's place, and with Strong and Reed, that Court will be purged of its semi-treasonous influence. If Woodward could take a hint, he too would resign.

At the Baptist State Convention, recently held in Westmoreland Co., Pa., a member enjoyed his liberty to oppose the expression of resolutions for sustaining the State and National Governments in their efforts to restore peace by suppressing the most heinous of rebellions. For his special benefit, the body then adopted the following:

"Whereas, Rev. Joseph Smith, an enrolled delegate of this Convention, has declared in our hearing his belief that the Gospel has no balm for our beloved, bleeding country, and that in his public discourses he finds no place for allusion to our National grief—therefore, Resolved, that we recommend our brethren to a better reading of his Master's Message, and to broader views of pulp ministry."

Convention meets at Williamsport, '64.

IT DIDN'T WORK.—McClellan's letter in favor of Woodward not gaining him a majority, another game was tried in New York City. An obnoxious partisan, named M'Cann, was put up for Judge by Seymour's "friends." Now this M'Cann was discharged from the Army, and a very bad name given him by McClellan in writing. To defeat M'Cann, this left-handed compliment of McClellan was widely spread among the voters—but in vain—M'Cann is elected, to the danger and disgrace of the Empire City, and McClellan's opposition to one man proves as impotent as his friendship to another.

The Copperheads are making all the trouble and fuss they can about the $300 which most poor men can raise for exemption if drafted. Now watch and see, if next Congress remove the $300 clause, if the same Cops don't bawl themselves hoarse by denouncing it as "a law giving rich men a chance to get substitutes, while poor men can't do." Do what you will, you can't satisfy the everlasting fault-finders.

The New York World—a Copperhead ally of the flesh and the devil—comes out with a long article saying the Democracy must turn somewhat in favor of the War, or they are done for. That is, they must try the cheat game next. Yes, but honest people won't believe them, and they'll lose all their scamps by such an "unconstitutional" course. So they seem bound to go under, anyhow.

Now the Elections are over, let the Opposition show—from 1861 to 1863—one Regiment of Soldiers who have voted against a fair representative of President Lincoln's Administration. Until then, we shall think Col. Tate made a mistake when he said nine out of ten of the soldiers are Democrats—probably it is a misprint, one being intended instead of nine, altho' not one out of ten now vote that way.

$5 Reward.—Next January it will be Half a Century since Andrew Kennedy started, at Millifield, THE UNION—the first newspaper printed in Union county, then just organized. We will give $5 for a perfect copy of that No. 1, and a less sum for the use of one, or one near it.

Col. J. Wils. Shaffer, Freeport, Ill., has resigned his office as County Clerk, and returns to service under Gen. B.F. Butler. Freeport gives 150 and Stephenson county 550 maj. for the Union ticket.

We see it stated that the Penn's Reserve Corps, and some other Regiments of this State, have mostly re-enlisted for the War, but first some home and recruit-

A Jubilant Tennessean.
[James W. Bard, of the 100th Penn. Reg., now under Gen. Burnside, in East Tennessee, narrates the following in a letter written to a friend near Baltimore, and published in the American.]

When we were at Morristown, getting on the cars for Greenville, a countryman from back some twenty miles along the route came riding into town. As he did not know we were there, he looked at the brigade while with amazement, when the state of things began to flash upon him, and he asked if we "weren't the blue bellied Yankees?" As soon as he was satisfied, he went shouting, "Glory to God! they have come at last," then striking his heels into his horse's sides, he went galloping through the town, waving his hat and shouting away, "Glory to God, they've come at last!" It was not long before he was back, coaxing some of the boys to go home with him. He said it "weren't only twenty miles;" if they would go with him, "he know'd the old woman would go crazy." He said she had been "savin' thirteen jars of apple butter, ever since last summer, for the Yankees to eat." When our boys told him there would be a light at the salt works, and that was our destination, he wanted to borrow a gun and go along, saying the greybacks' time was over now and his was come, and he was "arter revenge like a four-year old." That is the universal cry in this country, and not a man comes to join the army that does not talk of "revenge."

If a brigade of these men go through this country, every traitor's house will be sure to get a fire brand. The majority of them, so far, have had their houses burned and themselves hunted like wild beasts, and will never be satisfied until they finish the work of driving their persecutors from their sight.

A Tolerant Government.
John Casin, son of a poor Irishman, has just been appointed to a cadetship at West Point. It has been his ambition for years to get the appointment. He acquired a very fair education at our free schools in this town; he made several efforts to secure the appointment, and enlisted as a volunteer for the purpose of earning a claim to it. He went bravely through several battles, and when at Washington went directly to the War Department, and told his story, the circumstances of his parentage, his aspirations, and services as a soldier, and Secretary Stanton informed him at once he should have the appointment. And he received it, having been appointed from one of the districts of Georgia. We ask the adopted citizens, who are too prone to be influenced into denunciation of the government, if there is any other under the sun where this would have been likely to occur?—Rutland (Vermont) Herald.

DIED—A HERO OF '76.—How fast drop away the few living men who composed the American armies in the War of the Revolution! Recently, in Wardborough, Vermont, at the good old age of 104 years, ROBERT BARBOCK closed his earthly pilgrimage. He was one of a picked crew of forty men, white and black, who, under the gallant Col. Barton, on the night of the 10th July, 1777, surprised and captured, on the island called Rhode Island, the British General Sir William Prescott. The success of that dangerous and delicate undertaking, gave us an officer of equal rank to exchange with Gen. Charles Lee, then (by his own carelessness) in the hands of the British.

J. C. Bucher, Esq., who was supposed to have written some of the most odious articles in that Copperhead sheet, the Lewisburg Argus, comes out in a card in the Chronicle, stating that he does not nor ever did write for said paper. Its own friends are ashamed of the vile sheet. The time will come, (mark the prediction,) when many who took such Tory papers will try to swear out of the fact that they ever countenanced or supported them.—Miltonian.

PUNISHED.—The Copperhead paper in Beaver county having published the petty slander that Gov. Curtin was drunk at a certain time, the friends of the Gov. gave him a legal chance to prove it. Whereupon, the brave Cop. libeller confessed it was a lie, and they let him off, as he did not originate the story, but accepted it from some of the party leaders, who made some honest people believe that the Gov. is a street drunkard.

Hon. Wm. D. Kelley, of Philad., deserves thanks for his year's labors, in half a dozen States, in behalf of the Union cause, this season. In Maryland, he announced himself a "Black Republican," and has now, with Gov. Curtin and Ex-Gov. Johnson, been helping to finish the work by speaking in Delaware.

"Lincoln's Dogs."—This was the common title given to the soldiers who defend our country, by the Copperheads in New York, before the Election. It will not be wonderful, if, in the long years to come, those "dogs" kept the "snakes" pretty close to their holes!

The next Congressmen appear to be divided thus:

Administration	96
Opposition	69
Burdor State Independents	13

The Kensington Bank, Philadelphia, has declared a semi-annual dividend of 10 per cent. The dividends of all the Philadelphia banks show a large increase over previous years.

HARVEST SONG.

We gather them in—the molten fruits,
From the shrub, the vine, the tree,
With their rind and golden and purple suits
To garble our treasury.
And such has a juicy treasure stored,
All beneath its painted rind,
To cheer our guests at the social board,
When we leave our corns behind.
We gather them in—the gaily stored—
But not with a snail's gait:
For a great fall of apples and nuts,
Hath but just begun its life,
And our work of death is but for a while,
In the wintry days to come,
Then a blessing upon the crops' strath
And a shout at the Harvest Home.

BAD, BOLD SCHEME, FOILED.—The Canadian Government gave the President notice of a plot in Canada to seize some ships, release the Rebel prisoners on the I-land in Lake Erie, bombard Buffalo city, and "wake the snakes" generally. The friendly caution was in time to check the gang, who had 600 muskets secreted, and the danger is averted. Probably Mr. Vallandigham was privy to it, as he feels "powerful bad" over his extinguishment.

The Mobile Register says: "The negro is no longer an object of small talk in the South. The people of the South have a place for them, and that is in the army. There should be no distinction in color when a man is willing to fight for his home and master."
