The American War. Allowing the present equality of men in the field, what have been the effects of the war on both North and South, and what is the present position of the two parties? The want of funds by the South is now beginning to be felt with terrible severity. Taking the accounts of Southern writers in the Southern Frese and we find that articles of prime necessity, especially all kinds of provisions, are bringing fabulous prices. That the prices have risen from twenty to forty and even a hundred times what they were before the Rebellion broke out. This proves two things. First, that the Southern money has wonderfully depreciated in value, and at the same time the scarcity of provisions has really become alarming. The fact that forced loans and forced scizures of provisions are now the only means left by which the South can raise, elothe, feed and equip its armies, show to what straits they are already reduced, This state of things can not very long continue. The people of the South are, doubtless, willing to endure all that humanity is capable of enduring to accomplish a oberished object. But there are limits to the powers of endurance. They may be brave and patriotic-they do and dare and suffer, but all this will not avail without money and without food. Their commerce entirely cut off by the blockade of every Southern port, their principal cities beleagured, their means of supply from the States west of the Mississippi cut off by the opening of that river to the North immediately after the capture of Vicksburg and Port Hudson, their power of resistance has been proportionably weakened. Add to this that they can no longer draw provisions from the fertile valleys of East Tennessee, and we need not wonder that Southern writers describe, in graphic style, the suffering and the Note: Uniontown, white the Miller (Hightown, White Der Miller (Hightown, White April 1995)

Helbenny difficulties the Southern people have to endure. Moreover, it must be apparent that these difficulties must become greater and greater every day the war is protracted. Without money, without trade or commerce, without provisions at starvation prices, and without the means of borrowing a single dollar, with an immense Third Monday in February-May-Septemb'r-D invading army on all sides, living on the very substance required for their own people and their own immense armies, the prospect must, indeed, be a dark and gloomy one to the Southern mind. They may see some glimmerings of hope to buoy them up, but we can see none. Now, turn to the condition of the North, and what a contrast presents itself. They enjoy on immense commerce with the rest of the world-a commerce scarce ly disturbed by the gigantic war in which they are engaged. Provisions are abundant and chesp, the great West pouring its agricultural wealth into the lap of the East; not a hostile foot on its free soil; money more abundant than it has been for years-prosperity through every industrial and mercantile department unexampled in their history - he war spirit growing more and more rife-the people more united, the war is scarcly felt, or seemingly only felt in increased prosperity. better it seems to be for the North. The Federal Government experiences no difficulty in raising millions upon millions of money in a single day, and hence the Northern army can be abundantly recruited, supplied with food, clothing, and all the munitions of war. We say when all these things are considered-when the condition of the South is contrasted with that of the North we can arrive at but one conclusion. and that is, the South must ultimately succumb. They may accomplish wonders but they can not achieve impossibilities. If both parties are left to fight their own battles without foreign interference, the South can have no hope of success, no matter how heroically they may fight or how much they may endure.

Buckene Reaper & Mower. THE unprecedented success of the "Buck-eye" is the strongest pro-f of its superior excellency. The BUCKEYE has caused a complete Revolution in the Manufacture of REAPING AND MOWING Machines, and its reputation is so well established that it is scarcely necessary to particularize its advan-tages. We will, however, call the attention of the farmers to a few of its merits.

The TWO DRIVING WHEELS—the Pawls and Springs, by which the machine may be thrown out of gear, or be backed without vibrating the knives—the Steel Cutter Bar—the Wrought Iron Guard, with Hardened Steel Face or Cutting Edge—the Double-Hinged Joint, by which the Cotter Bar may be Folded—the long Crank Shaft—the Steel Spring and Wheel, by which the Cutter Bar may be raised and lowered so as to cut as low to the ground as may be desired—the Steel Pitman and Brass Box—its Light Draft -(no 8ide Draft)—no weight on the horses' necks—backs as easily as a cart—all of which form a combination of advantages which no other machine possesses.

No Gearing on the Driving Wheels. A team of horses weighing 900 lbs. each, will cut an acre of grass an hour with ease. The machine is furnished with two Cutter

Bars-one for cutting grass, and the other for cutting grain (each expressly adapted to the use intended).

No effort will be wanting to maintain the Buckeye in the enviable position it now occupies, that of being the Best Machine in the World!

The subscribers return their sincere thanks to their friends for the generous support they have received in introducing the celebrated Buckeye Reaper and Mower into Central and Northern Pennsylvania, and are much indebted to them for their warm greetngs and kind offices in recommending it to heir friends and neighbors. For Certificates, &c., see Circulars, which may be had of any of their Agents.

They also manufacture Meyer's Pat-ent Piston Grain Drill, which is acknowledged to be the BEST SEED SOW-ER IN USE, and the only one which SOWS OATS PERFECTLY! Also, the Keystone Clover Huller. which cleans thoroughly, without in the least injuring the seed. Will clean more in the
